

CRASH CLAIMS 110 LIVES

This was the scene Tuesday near Kennedy Airport in New York after an Eastern Airlines 727 jet crashed while coming in for a landing. Rescue workers, left, place shrouded bodies in stretchers, while a priest, right, administers last rites for other victims. Death toll was 110, one of the highest ever in U.S.

Four arrested in fatal city park shooting

A young Montebello man was shot fatally Tuesday afternoon by one of several youths who had been harassing him and his father in Kennedy Park in Pomona's west side, police said.

The victim, 18-year-old David Anthony Gardena, died Tuesday night in Pomona Valley Community Hospital after undergoing surgery for a bullet wound in his left temple. He was the 19th person slain in Pomona this year.

Police subsequently arrested four persons in connection with the slaying. Only one, 18-year-old Terry Love, 2229 Carlton Ave., Pomona, is an adult. The others, two 17 and one 16, were not identified because of their age.

Police said that the victim, his father, Frank Gardena, 44, and a third man had stopped in the park to eat lunch. They were in the city cleaning carpets for a Montebello carpet company.

Authorities said that soon after the three arrived at the park at Ganesha Boulevard and Elwood Avenue, a group of about 10 youths began harassing them. The senior Gardena said later that he told his son and their companion not to pay any attention to the youths, but there was an exchange of words between them

Suddenly, Gardena said, one of the youths pulled a pistol and shot his son in the head. He said he was amazed because the dispute apparently had not reached serious proportions.

Gardena himself was armed with a .32-caliber pistol and he fired two shots at his son's attacker as the youths fled to a car. He said he then placed his son in their van and drove off, attempting first to get out of the neighborhood and also to obtain help.

Their speeding van was stopped at Holt and White avenues by a police officer who summoned an ambulance and a fire department resuscitator crew. The victim was given first aid at that location before being taken to the hospital.

Police soon began a roundup of suspects in the shooting. One surrendered himself at the station and the others were arrested at or near their homes. All were booked on suspicion of murder.

La Puente girl, 17, torches self as she drives; burns fatal

A 17-year-old La Puente girl who had made previous suicide threats, died early today after setting herself on fire Tuesday night, sheriff's deputies said.

The victim, Kathy De Soto, 14071 Cagliero St., died at 4 a.m. in the burn ward of County-USC Medical Center. She had third-degree burns over 90 per cent of her body, authorities said.

Deputies said Miss De Soto was driving her car in Turnbull Canyon Road in Hacienda Heights when she poured gasoline over herself and touched it off. Witnesses said there was a flash of fire inside the car before it ran off the road in the 2500 block and the victim fell out, burning.

Passersby put out the flames and administered first aid before the arrival of firemen. Miss De Soto was rushed directly to the county hospital burn ward.

Deputies said that Miss De Soto had made several previous suicide threats, but they said they did not learn why she was despondent.

Newcomer resigns as LVC president

Leland B. Newcomer, the innovative 15th president of La Verne College, has resigned to become superintendent of schools for Grossmont Unified School District, one of the largest in the state.

While the resignation of Newcomer becomes effective on Aug. 15, he will divide his time between the college and the school district both before and after that date, he said.

The resignation was accepted with regret by the executive committee of the La Verne College board of trustees at a special meeting this week.

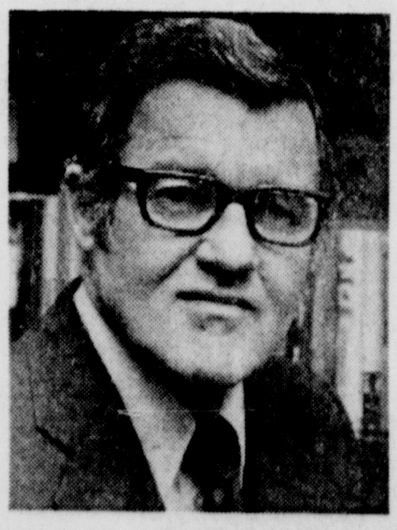

"I've done my job at La Verne," said Newcomer, "I think La Verne College is the greatest little college in the world and I'll continue to work hard for the college.

"I came here seven years ago to work on the educational development of the college. When I arrived there were only 600 students and this year we awarded 877 degrees.

"Now I feel the college is fully organized and staffed to continue its program."

Newcomer has seen La Verne College as a "broker" between the student and the world — an institution which supplies business, industry and the services with well educated, career-minded, qualified help.

Newcomer said he became interested in the Grossmont district as the result of serving on a blue ribbon citizens advisory committee appointed by state Supt. of Schools Wilson Riles to study the revitalization of California secondary schools.

LELAND NEWCOMER

He added that the Grossmont district is a growing district which encompasses the areas of La Mesa, Spring Valley, El Cajon, Lemon Grove and other communities surrounding the San Diego school district.

"It's always exciting to work with a growing area, especially today, when many areas have ceased to expand," said Newcomer.

"I stayed at La Verne College longer than I stayed at any one place," he added. "I like the challenge of change."

"But this was a very difficult decision — not black and white."

Before coming to La Verne College in 1968 Newcomer served as superintendent of schools at Clark County Unified School District, the 60,000-student district which serves Las Vegas, and at Newport-Mesa Unified School District.

Newcomer is a graduate of La Verne College and Claremont Graduate School and received his doctorate from USC. He taught in the Bonita Unified School District and was assistant superintendent for Azusa and Covina school districts.

Did lightning strike jet?

Probe possibility in crash that took 110 lives

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials are investigating the possibility that lightning struck a jetliner attempting to land during an electrical storm, causing it to crash in flames near a crowded highway. Authorities said 110 persons aboard the flight from New Orleans died.

Fourteen survivors were hospitalized.

Firemen said early today that 108 bodies had been found in the marshy area at the edge of Kennedy International Airport where the Eastern Airlines Boeing 727 plane, nonstop flight 66 from New Orleans, crashed late Tuesday afternoon. Two other persons died at a hospital.

There was still confusion today on the number of persons aboard the jet. A spokesman for the airline said there were 116 passengers and 7 crew members, a total of 123.

But the hospital where two of the victims died said a total of 16 persons had been admitted and the 14 were still alive. Added to the 108 bodies counted by the firemen at the crash scene, this would make a total of 124 aboard.

It was one of the worst airplane disasters in the history of the United States. In 1960, 134 persons were killed when a United Airlines DC8 and a Trans World Airlines Super-Constellation collided in the air over New York City. The nation's worst one-plane crash killed 111 persons when an Alaska Airlines 727 crashed near Juneau in 1971.

The survivors of Tuesday's crash included two small girls. Most of the survivors were badly burned.

The victims included an Episcopal bishop, a professional basketball player and a group of Norwegian merchant seamen.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame, who went to the crash scene by helicopter, said, "I'm numb. It's a terrible tragedy."

The National Transportation Safety Board's area supervisor, George Van Epps, said Tuesday night that there was no record of any emergency radio message from the pilot, Capt. John Kleven, of Queens.

Van Epps said flight and voice recorders had been recovered and were being sent to Washington for study. Asked about eyewitness reports that lightning had hit the plane, he said that was "something that will be considered in the investigation."

A Federal Aviation Administration investigator at the scene who asked that his name not be used said "weather was definitely a factor."

However, Isabel Burgess, a member of the NTSB investigating board, said she doubted that lightning had anything to do with the crash. She said she had only heard of two previous crashes directly attributed to lighting.

A Nassau county policeman, Paul Moran, said he was driving home when he saw a lightning bolt hit the plane.

"It tilted to the right and went about 20 more yards, then hit the ground," he said. Moran said he ran to the plane and pulled out two survivors, but he did not see any others who appeared to be alive.

Another witness, Moe Freeman, said he was about 150 yards from the crash. "It was almost like lightning hit it and blew it up in a ball of fire," he said.

Reducing penalties

State Assembly OKs marijuana bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Ignoring warnings of political disaster, Democrats in the California Assembly have passed a bill reducing penalties for marijuana possession.

The lower house voted 42-34 Tuesday to approve lowering the punishment for possession of up to one ounce of marijuana — described as enough for 20 cigarettes — to a fine of no more than $100.

The bill now returns to the Senate, which passed it once before, for concurrence in amendments. Sen George Moscone, D-San Francisco, predicted Senate passage of his bill with several votes to spare.

Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has endorsed the concept of reduced marijuana penalties.

Eleven Democrats joined 23 Republicans in voting against the bill, which required 41 aye votes. Two Republicans, Frank Murphy of Santa Cruz and Ken Maddy of Fresno, abstained. The Assembly GOP caucus had voted to bar Republicans from supporting the bill.

"It's quite possible that in 1976, your platform will be 'Grass, Gays and Godlessness,' " Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, warned Democrats, referring to an earlier bill legalizing some sexual activities.

He said Democratic leaders "are risking the political life of their colleagues."

Moscone, a candidate for mayor of San Francisco, belittled any threat to Democrats' political futures.

"I think they (Republicans) don't even believe that or they would have allowed this to come to a vote much sooner," he told reporters.

Last month the bill fell three votes short of Assembly passage.

This time it picked up four Democratic supporters: John Knox of Richmond, who was abroad at the first vote, and Fred Chel of Long Beach, Bill Lockyer of San Leandro, and Floyd Mori of Pleasanton.

The bill would repeal current authority to prosecute marijuana possession either as a felony or misdemeanor. Felony penalties against sales of marijuana would be unchanged.

First offenders currently face a maximum of 10 years in prison, although imprisonment for simple possession has become rare.

Possession of more than an ounce under the bill would be a misdemeanor punishable by up to a $500 fine and six months in jail.

The bill would also require authorities to throw out records of possession cases after two years.

Whittier trucker dies in Chino crash

A Whittier man suffered fatal injuries Tuesday when his milk truck ran off a roadway in Chino and struck an electrical tower and garage.

Louis Estrella, 38, of 10924 Leland Ave., the victim, died about 90 minutes after the accident at Chino General Hospital.

He was driving a truck-trailer west on Pine Avenue about 6 p.m. when it ran off the right side of the road, went through a fence, struck a high voltage power tower and hit a garage at 7514 Pine Ave., said highway patrolmen.

Officers said the truck traveled about 1,400 feet after it left the roadway until it struck the structure. It wasn't immediately determined if the driver fell asleep or had a heart attack. An autopsy has been requested.

The truck damaged 250 feet of barbed wire fence, 12 posts, plus a freezer and vehicle inside the garage, owned by Gary Van Vliet.

The victim's body was taken to Griffith Mortuary in Chino, pending transfer to a Los Angeles funeral home. Estralla was employed by the California Milk Producers Assn. of Artesia.

Thousands starving in Ethiopia, Upland mercy pilot reports

Several American agencies are now working together to feed 20,000 people a day in the remote Bale Province in Ethiopia where the situation is so desperate that 100,000 have starved in recent months.

The starvation of thousands of Africans was reported by C. Mervin Russell, president of World Gospel Crusades in Upland, when he returned from an emergency flight to deliver a DC-3 plane to Addis Ababa at the request of the Ethiopian government.

Russell, who has been a pilot for 33 years, and his crew departed from Ontario International Airport on May 13.

The other crew members, copilots Joe Morgan of Chino and Marvin Michael of Bellevue, Wash., and mechanic Doug Hay of Upland, are still in Africa flying the plane on additional runs.

MERVIN RUSSELL

'The emergency food is just an aspirin'

"Our trip required 65 hours of air time, taking seven days, and including stops in Labrador, Greenland, Iceland, London, Rome, Cairo and Sudan," said Russell. "Temperatures ranged from 30 degrees below zero in Greenland to 100 degrees in Sudan."

The plane was met at the Addis Ababa airport by Shemelis Adugna, minister of relief and rehabilitation of the Provisional Military Government of Ethiopia.

"He's the only cabinet member remaining from the regime of Emperor Haile Selassie," reported Russell. He also said that all private planes have been grounded by the new government except for the Ethiopian Airlines and the crusade mercy flight.

Bale Province, where the plane is delivering food and medical supplies, has been plagued by drought for a long time and has no roads into the area.

"The DC-3, loaded with 6,000 pounds of supplies, lands on a tiny runway too small to accept most cargo planes," Russell said. "In 2½ days, we flew in 27,000 pounds of grain.

"There are about 10 agencies working together in Ethiopia to help the natives. Our flights are cooperative efforts between Food for the Hungry in Glendale, which supplies the grain, King's Garden-World Concern of Seattle, providers of medical supplies, and our Upland group, who transport the goods," Russell reported.

He added that assistance also comes from the Red Cross, Christian Relief Committee, Church World Service and several missionary associations.

This particular plane was originally intended for service in Kenya, but the crisis in Ethiopia changed the plans, Russell said.

"The emergency food is just an aspirin, it helps temporarily, but the needs of the people in these African nations demand long-range planning," said the president of the Upland group.

"We are working now in several places to help the people become self-sufficient."

He described a project in Kenya where several agencies are working together to establish a fish-freezing plant on the shore of Lake Rudolph, a 100-mile long lake teeming with edible fish.

The natives have abandoned their nomad life and are settling on the lake shore. A missionary is teaching them to fish and agency planes will fly the frozen fish to Nairobi, Russell said.

"The rainy season has started now in North Africa," Russell said. "But the people have eaten the grain that should have been saved for seed."

Fortunately, Clarence Reimer of Seattle, Wash., president of King's Garden-World Concern, offered seed from growers in eastern Washington and a farmer in Nevada has just offered 10 tons of wheat, suitable for either grain of food.

Russell pointed out that all food and medical supplies are donated by individuals or corporations in amounts which vary from seed packets to tons of grain.

No governmental funds are used by the World Gospel Crusades, he said, adding funds are from the private sector such as small foundations.

The organization, founded 19 years ago, began its flights three years ago in response to the needs of people around the world. They have assisted in disasters in Honduras and Nicaragua.

The crusade owns four planes and has access to two more. The group is planning to acquire two more cargo planes in the next few months to better carry out their relief work around the world.

Pomona school board okays 8½% pay boost

The long talked of 8½ per cent pay increase for public school employes in Pomona got the official stamp of approval of the school board Tuesday, just one week before they become effective.

The raises extend to schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz who during fiscal 1975-76 will be paid $39,495.

Some $600 of this amount will be added to Wentz' car allowance, increasing it to $150 a month or $1,800 a year. The remaining $2,494.15 will be added to his salary, bringing it to $38,895.90.

Wentz has two years remaining on his contract with the district. The board did not extend it.

The raises, made public in February by the administration when the tax override election was being scheduled, bring teachers' salaries from a minimum of $9,536 (step 1, class 1) to a maximum of $19,072 (step 14, class 5).

Under the new schedule, top pay for assistant superintendents is $3-3,375; directors, $30,596; high school principals, $29,525; junior high principals, $27,453; coordinators, $26,416; and elementary principals, $26,829.

Other positions paying above $20,000 are high school assistant principals, high school deans of instruction, personnel assistant, junior high and adult school assistant principals, deans of students, elementary assistant principals, coordinators of compensatory education projects, project supervisors of bilingual and Emergency School Aid Act projects, Children's Center supervisor and reading project supervisor.

Nonteaching or classified employes will be paid on a scale extending from $452 (range 1, class A) to $1,770 (range 60, class F) a month.

Hourly employes will be paid on a salary schedule ranging from $2 to $6.51 per hour.

The total package of proposals related to working conditions submitted to the school board by the Certificated Employe Council of the Associated Pomona Teachers was not approved by the board.

Administrators said that if an agreement on the 34-item, 97-page proposal could be reached, board approval would be asked on July 8.

Californian wins case against Pope

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — An Alameda County Superior Court judge has ruled that California holds jurisdiction over the Roman Catholic Church and all of its properties involving secular business.

Judge Robert K. Kroninger made the ruling in awarding a Santa Ana attorney a $428.50 default judgment against Pope Paul VI because he never received delivery of a St. Bernard pup for which he paid a $60 deposit to a Roman Catholic monk in Switzerland.

Kroninger's ruling on Monday came after six years of litigation started by William Sheffield, 35.

Sheffield's suit, naming "the Roman Catholic Church doing business as the Bishop of Rome, the Holy See, and Pope Paul VI...," contended the Pope ultimately was responsible for the Church's business obligations.

In his suit, Sheffield said that while on a tour of Switzerland in 1968, he visited the Hospice of Grand St. Bernard in Geneva and paid the deposit for a St. Bernard pup from a litter he was told was due soon. Sheffield also said he paid advance air fare for the puppy from Geneva to Los Angeles.

Sheffield said he returned to California and was told in an exchange of letters extending over three years that all the pups in the expected litter had died.

He said he asked for a refund of his $60 deposit and air fare advance. He said the hospice monks refused, saying the deposit money had been exhausted by servicing his account.

Kroninger ordered the default judgment Monday after the Pope's attorneys failed to respond on his behalf, in an apparent strategy of denying California jurisdiction.

Barry D. Russ, Sheffield's attorney, said that moving to collect the $428.50 default judgment would again raise the issue of California jurisdiction over the Bishop of Rome for final resolution, unless the Pope's counsel decided the better strategy was to pay the judgment.

MARIJUANA VOTE

Solons want higher cost of living hike

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A measure aimed at raising the annual cost-of living increases of legislators and top state officials is gliding into the Assembly after a breezy Senate sendoff.

The senators approved the bill Tuesday with neither opposition nor a rollcall.

The measure, a proposed constitutional amendment, is sponsored by Sen. Newton Russell, R-Tujunga, who has 10 years experience as a legislator.

It would take salary, pension and living expense reimbursement away from the legislature and give them to the State Personnel Board.

Present law now places a five per cent limit on annual salary increases for legislators and state officers ranging from governor to superintendent of public instruction.

Russell's measure would remove the five per cent limit and instruct the board to consider cost-of-living figures, which were over 10 per cent this past year.

The increases for state employes, also handled by the State Personnel Board, are accounted for in the current fiscal year's budget by an increase of 8½ per cent, which is below the cost-of living index.

For passage in the 40-member house, Russell requested permission to "substitute the previous rollcall" for an actual vote on the measure. No member objected, and this was done. There was no debate. The previous rollcall happened to be 35-0.

The measure came to the floor about eight months after a special session in which legislators nullified certain pension provisions they had earlier voted for themselves. The provisions had been widely criticized as being too generous.

The 40 senators and 80 assemblymen would be covered by the measure, in addition to the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, controller, secretary of state, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction.

The measure requires a two-thirds vote in each house, and two-thirds approval of the voters at the polls.

It is SCA 33.

U.S. sues six bread makers over pricing

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Six bread makers have been indicted and sued by the federal government for alleged price fixing.

A federal grand jury indictment was handed down against the six firms Tuesday, accusing them of artifically raising bread prices in San Diego, Orange and Imperial counties. Portions of Los Angeles County and southern Arizona also were affected, the government said.

The six companies are ITT Continental Baking Co., Interstate Brands Corp., Akervik & Salmon, Snowflake Bakery Inc., Town Talk Baking Co., and American Bakeries Co.

ITT Continental makes Wonder Bread; Interstate, Weber's Bread; Snowflake, Sunbeam Bread; American, Langendorf's and Town Talk, Town Talk Bread.

Teen given life sentence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A teenager who forced a man to dig his own grave last Halloween before shooting him to death has been sentenced to life in prison.

Timothy Pitcocks, 18, was sentenced Tuesday in suburban Torrance Superior Court by Judge Bernard Lawler. Pitcocks was found guilty of murder, kidnaping, burglary and robbery in a non-jury trial ending June 3.

Police said Russell Samuel Gonzales, 23, had been kidnaped from his home by four masked men and driven to a remote canyon 40 miles northwest of Los Angeles where his grim grave-digging chore began.

After the hole reached three feet, Gonzales was shot in the head with a rifle and pushed into the grave, authorities said. His body was found last November by investigators.

Firm develops tiny solar electricity cell

PALO ALTO (AP) — An electronics firm has unveiled a new type of solar energy cell which it says can produce 10 watts of electricity by collecting sunlight.

The cell, one-third of an inch in diameter, was developed by Varian Associates, which called it a breakthrough capable of equalling the energy output of other solar energy materials requiring 1,000 times its surface area.

The firm's experimental model demonstrated Tuesday consists of a concave reflector which collects sunlight and focuses it on the cell, concentrating the light by a factor of 1,000.

The cell is made of a semiconductor material called gallium arsenide, unlike most previous solar-electric energy research which has used silicon-based systems.

Ronald L. Bell, director of Varian's solid state laboratory, said the cell now is "20 per cent efficient" and predicted it could prove "financially attractive" as a supplemental system for public utilities.

Bell said cells could be connected in series so that 10 cells would produce one kilowatt and larger series could develop megawatt-rated systems.

"Such large generating arrays of solar cells could be installed compatibly in agricultural or desert lands with negligible environmental side effects," Bell said.

"Our solar cell system could be used in any sunny climate," he said. "It will function efficiently on any day when the sky is clear enough to see a well-defined shadow."

He said Varian planned to build a 100-unit experimental series of cells and reflectors on the roof of its plant here on a rotating frame that turns slowly to follow the sun.

Judge halts civil cases —too many

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Citing a huge backlog, the presiding Superior Court judge has ordered a two-month moratorium on civil court cases.

Judge Eli H. Levenson said Tuesday that the San Diego County Superior Court would not schedule civil trials for the months of November and December except on an emergency basis.

Levenson said the court has 50 civil cases backed up for trial as of Tuesday, with another 14 expected Wednesday.

"When we go into December, we should have a fairly clean slate," he said.

Sailors heading home

Eager to go, and now they're dead

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — After months at sea, 19 Norwegian sailors were heading home for a vacation with their families when their airplane crashed and burst into flames near New York's Kennedy International Airport.

More than 100 persons died in the crash of the Eastern Airlines Boeing 727 Tuesday; 14 survived.

"It seems very strange that they should work for eight months or a year on a ship, then die in an air crash," mused Capt. Rolf M. Nesse of the Nopal Tallus. Four of the seamen had served on his ship.

Nesse identified the four as Chief Engineer Sigurd Olsen, 57, of Fredrikstadt; First Engineer Bjorn Lehn, 39, of Horten; Third Engineer Idar Skjelsvik, 29, of Bindalseidet; and Seaman Karl Engenes, 19, of Meloy. Engenes was listed among the survivors.

The other seamen were from the Fernueiw, docked at the Dow Chemical Co. plant upriver near Baton Rouge.

Seamen work for at least six months aboard the ships, which run cargo between New Orleans and West Africa, then they are flown home at company expense for a two-month vacation.

They were eager to go.

"I was together with Skjelsvik last night," said Willie Lorentzen of Bergen, an engineer on the Nopal Tallus. "We had a walk together and a drink on Bourbon Street — our last.

"He was excited about going home and talked all about his family."

Of the four, only Olsen was married. He had a wife and 14-year-old daughter.

"He was looking forward to seeing his family, but he was especially excited about getting into his little boat and going out fishing," said Capt. Nesse of Bergen.

Nesse said the crew of the Nopal Tallus, owned by Oivind Lorentzen of Oslo, seemed stunned by news of the air crash and spent most of the afternoon and night huddled around a television set watching news bulletins.

"We are a very close-knit community," he said. "We have to be, working so hard together."

Nesse said he will be eligible for a vacation by the time the ship reaches West Africa, and he plans to fly back to Bergen.

"I'll have some thoughts about it, but I'm sure I'll go," he said. "Air crashes are, after all, very rare. But when you lose such close friends, you feel it in your stomach."

INJURED IN JETLINER CRASH

Carl Engenes, 19-year-old Norwegian seaman, lies in critical condition in New York hospital today. He was one of the survivors of the Eastern Airlines jet that crashed at Kennedy Airport on Tuesday. Engenes suffered a fractured leg, burns and back lacerations.

Five attempts by CIA to kill Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Underworld figure John Rosselli's account of CIA attempts to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro in the early 1960s involves "cash payments, poison pellets, high-powered rifles and power boat dashes to Cuba," columnist Jakc Anderson said today.

The columnist said Rosselli knows of five attempts to kill the Cuban premier.

He said Rosselli has told him there were reports that Castro was desperately ill following one attempt to poison him — but that Rosselli is not sure the illness was due to the poison or a virus.

Appearing on the ABC-TV program "AM America," Anderson said Rosselli supplied him with the details after three hours of closed-door testimony before the Senate intelligence committee Tuesday.

Today, the committee scheduled a session with William K. Harvey, a former Central Intelligence Agency official mentioned in Rosselli's talk with Anderson.

The columnist reported that Rosselli said he was recruited in Los Angeles in 1960 by Robert Maheu, then an aide to billionaire Howard Hughes who had previously done work for the Central Intelligence Agency.

"Maheu put Rosselli in contact with O'Connell in New York City on Sept. 14, 1960," Anderson said. He continued:

"Thereafter Rosselli flew to Miami and recruited the assassination squad. At first they plotted to poison Castro. Poison pellets were supplied by the CIA. They were delivered to the plotters in their Miami hotel room, according to Rosselli, by Maheu.

"Maheu dramatically opened a briefcase revealing $10,000 in cash and the fatal pellets. The money was distributed to the Cuban plotters. Rosselli swore he never took any money from the CIA except for some incidental expenses. He paid the big expenses, he said, out of his own pocket.

"The poison pills were supposed to take three days to work. Supposedly this would give the poison time to work its way out of Castro's system before he died and his death would be attributed to natural causes.

"Rosselli never found out what happened to the plotters or the pellets. But they tried again later with a stronger dose of poison. Not long afterward, reports reached them that Castro was desperately ill. Rosselli doesn't know whether the illness was caused by the poison or a virus," Anderson said.

After the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba, Anderson quoted Rosselli as saying, Maheu was cut out of the plot. Thereafter, Rosselli reported to CIA agent Harvey, Anderson said.

"There were four more assassination attempts," Anderson continued. "The plotters were smuggled into Cuba with high-powered rifles. The last assassination squad, Rosselli heard, made it to a Havana rooftop before they were caught. This was around March 1, 1963. Then the project was abandoned."

In testimony to a House subcommittee, CIA Director William E. Colby asked Congress today to declare the agency's intelligence sources and methods specifically exempt from public disclosure requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974.

Sources and methods are often included in the CIA's national defense and foreign policy information which already is exempt from public disclosure, Colby said. But he said sources and methods can be disclosed independently.

"To protect them, therefore, CIA needs more than the authority to withhold information "in the interest of national defense or foreign policy," Colby said.

"If American intelligence is to continue to be effective," he said, "there must be limits to the public exposure of its activities."

After Rosselli's testimony Tuesday, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said the alleged plotting to kill Castro was the only instance in which the Senate committee has found evidence of collusion between the CIA and the underworld.

Abducted judge, two girls freed

MCPHERSON, Kan. (AP) — A man sought in the abduction of two young girls and a probate judge in McPherson was arrested near Okmulgee, Okla., early today, authorities said. The two girls were released unharmed Tuesday night, and the judge was driving back home this morning, the highway patrol said.

Kenneth Huff, 37, a former mental patient from McPherson, was found about 7 a.m. sleeping in a wooded area near Okmulgee, about 250 miles south of McPherson. Officials said he offered no resistance although he was armed with a shotgun and .22-caliber pistol.

Judge H. Dean Cotton, who had signed the papers committing Huff to a mental institution in 1972, called authorities before 3 a.m. and said he had been released in Oklahoma. He was not heard from again until 8 a.m., when he was stopped by the highway patrol at Wichita, about 50 miles from McPherson.

"We talked with him and he just wants to go home," a highway patrol dispatcher said adding that Cotton apparently called his wife from Wichita.

Relatives told authorities Huff had been vowing to seek vengence on several persons whom he held responsible for problems he had suffered the past three years.

In late 1972, Huff was injured while working for a concrete business. Details of Huff's injury and subsequent psychiatric treatment were not immediately known.

Britain's economy is in peril as pound plunges

LONDON (AP) — The pound sterling plunged to a record low on the world's money markets today after a government warning that the entire British economy is in peril.

After shedding two cents against the dollar Tuesday, the pound slipped still further to $2.2500 from its opening $2.2525. The pound has fallen 26.8 per cent against the currencies of 10 major trading partners since December 1971.

Today's slide followed a warning from Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey that Britons must make "real sacrifices all round for a short period" to survive their nation's worst economic crisis since World War II.

In a nationwide television address Tuesday night, Healey slammed labor unions, which are demanding pay hikes up to 30 per cent, and urged them to abandon "this mad paper chase for idiots." Unless they moderate their demands, he said, "we are all sunk."

But Healey did not say what the government will do if the unions do not agree to voluntary wage restraints.

The pound's decline reflects the belief abroad that Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government won't be able to curb the nation's inflation rate of 25 per cent, the highest in Europe.

Britain also has a record trade deficit running at $1 billion a month, unemployment heading toward the 1 million mark and a sagging industrial output due to strikes.

"We can't wait until new investment is paying off to get inflation under control," Healey said. "The foreigners who are now backing Britain with their money won't wait ...

"If we let things go on like this, unemployment will go shooting up and the government will be powerless to do anything about it. We could be forced to go cap in hand for help to foreigners who might refuse to help us unless we took savage action to raise unemployment higher still."

Wilson meanwhile announced that he would present a wage-and-price plan to Parliament by mid-July. But he still hopes to get the unions to adhere to a ceiling of 10 per cent on demands for wage increases.

Spotlight on crime

Four adults, juvenile held in narcotics bust

Four adults and a juvenile were arrested Tuesday night after more than $2,000 in suspected stolen property, marijuana seeds and narcotics paraphernalia were found in a home at 13165 14th St. in Chino.

Two smaller children were also taken into protective custody by police searching the home and placed in juvenile hall.

Two persons, Vincenta Ester Ford, 24, and William Jewel Jr., 26, were booked in the Chino Jail this morning on suspicion of possession of stolen property, possession of marijuana, possession of narcotics paraphernalia, and child neglect.

Also arrested in the home were Steven Allan Hilliard, 23, of Montclair for being under the influence of a narcotic, and Victor Emmanual Borroel, 21 of Corona for being in a place where narcotics were used. Also arrested was a 17-year-old youth for being in place where narcotics were being used.

Police said they responded to the home on a report that a man had just been beaten and dragged inside. When officers arrived they saw several adults run inside. Officers entered the home searching for the beaten man, but found instead an array of suspected stolen coins, furniture, numerous television sets, a rifle, and other items along with heroin residue, narcotics paraphernalia and marijuana seeds.

Officers at the scene said the house was littered with debris and trash making it nearly unliveable for the two small children found inside of the home.

A 17-year-old youth and a man seen lowering a television set from the kitchen window of a second story apartment with a bedsheet were arrested on suspicion of burglary Tuesday night, Ontario police reported.

Raul Hernandez Ramirez, 22, of Ontario, and the youth, according to police, were arrested at the south end of the apartment complex a short time after an apartment tenant reported a burglary in apartment No. 7. Police said they found a television and bedsheet below the apartment in a clump of bushes.

Witnesses told officers they observed two men force open a kitchen window in the apartment rented by Friedal Krimmer, 59, and attempt to lower the television with the bedsheet. The apartment residents scared the suspects off and called police.

Ramirez and the youth were booked in the West End Jail this morning on suspicion of burglary.

Mortgage firm fails to pass on tax money

Homeowners are delinquent

LOS ANGELES (AP) — State officials say they will examine the books of a loan company that failed to pass along property tax payments from 458 home owners, leaving the customers delinquent on their taxes.

And county supervisors sought to help the home owners who made their monthly loan payments to the Bradley Mortgage Co., relying on the company to pay their second-half 1974-75 taxes.

No one at Bradley was available Tuesday to explain why the firm stopped payment on a $364,351 check that would have covered the tax payments.

"This is a tragedy," said Supervisor Baxter Ward.

"I have never seen an instance like this in my career," said County Tax Collector H.B. Alvord.

A spokesman for the state real estate commissioner said a subpoena had been issued to Bradley President Albert Yarbrow to appear Thursday with his books and records in hand.

Ward said that about 1,500 property buyers make monthly payments to Bradley, and that it was difficult to tell whether some of them might be delinquet on fire insurance or mortgage-life insurance premiums for the same reason.

County Counsel John H. Larson was directed to sort out the legal confusion and report back Thursday with advice on how to contact the affected home buyers and set up another method of payment.

The supervisors said they had been unable to get any useful information out of the firm.

19 indictments in recording payola

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — After two years of investigation by grand juries across the country, three record company presidents and 16 other industry executives have been indicted on charges of payola and tax evasion.

The indictments were retuned Tuesday by federal grand juries in Newark, New York City, Los Angeles and Philadelphia.

Patty's jilted fiance pays to stop book

BERKELEY (AP) — Steven Weed, jilted fiance of kidnaped newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, reportedly has paid a free-lance writer $15,000 to drop plans to publish a book about the couple's private life.

Writer Roger Rapoport said Tuesday he had received the payment as out-of-court settlement of a lawsuit he had filed charging Weed with failure to pay him for work on the book.

Rapoport said Weed was upset and fired him because the partially completed manuscript mentioned the couple's sex and drug habits. Weed sued Rapoport earlier this year for $450,000, charging he had sensationalized the material. Rapoport then filed his countersuit.

Under the settlement, Weed agreed to pay Rapoport an additional $7,000 if any future book by Weed about the Hearst case made a profit.

Miss Hearst, daughter of San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, was engaged to and living here with Weed, a graduate student, when she was kidnaped on Feb. 4, 1974, by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

In taped messages, she subsequently joined her captor and renounced her family and Weed. She now is sought by authorities on a variety of criminal charges.

Usury bill given OK by Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A usury measure said to be an aid to small businessmen is on its way to the California Assembly after Senate approval.

A proponent, Sen. David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, said before the 28-2 vote Tuesday that "current law puts borrowers at the mercy of the larger lender."

Present law, he said, puts a 10 per cent lid on interest rates charged by certain private lenders. Under the measure, the limit would be either 10 per cent or the U.S. Federal Reserve's discount rate plus seven per cent, whichever is higher.

The measure is a proposed amendment to the state constitution which would require approval of the voters. It was introduced by Sen. Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles.

It is SCA 19.

Bilingual program approved

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A $1 million helping hand for schools required to set up bilingual programs is past the California Senate — but just barely.

The bill by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, advanced to the Assembly a 27-6 vote Tuesday. Any bill appropriating money needs 27 votes in the 40-seat upper house.

Marks said the $1 million would be administered by state schools chief Wilson Riles.

He said a U.S. Supreme Court decision requires school districts to establish adequate bilingual programs for non-English speaking students.

It is SB 53.

$426,745 tax bill for barge

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — Owners of the Howard Hughes barge that salvaged part of a sunken received a bill for $426,-744.72 in back taxes.
4.72 in back taxes.

San Mateo County Assessor Jack Estes said Tuesday that officers of Hughes' Lockheed Corp. have been billed a 25 per cent rate instead of the earlier 1 per cent for oceanography exploration.

"It must be paid in a lump sum" by Aug. 30, he said.

The barge is berthed at Redwood City and was reported to have engaged in the recovery operation in the North Pacific with the salvage ship Glomar Explorer.

On the basis of the earlier tax rating, owners of the barge were assessed $8,487 in taxes for 1973-74 and $7,961.63 for 1974-75. The assessor said the 25 per cent rating is based on a full value of $7.5 million with the taxable value $1.8 million.

The barge, roughly the size of a football field, reportedly will leave California shortly for a rendezvous with the Glomar Explorer in an attempt to recover the rest of the Russian submarine.

Helicopters tested for use by Army

CARLSBAD (AP) — Hughes Helicopters has begun ground testing of a proposed attack helicopter for the Army.

The twin-engined chopper, designated YAH-64, is being tested by Hughes engineers at nearby Palomar Airport.

Hughes Helicopter vice president Carl Dean Perry said the YAH-64 will make its first test flight in September.

It'll then be turned over to the Army for a "fly-off" against the Bell company's design.

Colonial rule comes to end in Mozambique

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — African dancers in bright feathers gyrated wildly to throbbing drums and tens of thousands of other Mozambicans cheered tumultuously as Samora Machel flew into Lourenco Marques on Monday. Machel will become Mozambique's first African president after nearly five centuries of Portuguese colonial rule.

Red, green, black, white and yellow flags of Machel's militantly Marxist Front for the Liberation of Mozambique (Frelimo) draped the streets of the capital and portraits of the short, bearded, 41-year-old revolutionary were in virtually every store window.

It was the first time Machel, clad in battle fatigues, had set foot in the capital since 1963 when he left to join guerrilla operations in neighboring Tanzania. He arrived from the interior of Mozambique where he has spent the past month touring towns and villages explaining revolutionary philosophy.

As he stepped off the plane, Machel was cheered by thousands lining the tarmac and welcomed by the sounds and sights of tribal drums and dancers. Tens of thousands of other Mozambicans cheered him along the crowded five-mile trip from the airport to the center of this seaport capital.

Children danced and sang in the streets, mothers rocked babies on their backs to the rhythm of clapping and others shouted "Viva Machel!" and "Viva Frelimo!"

Frelimo took control of the East African nation of 8.5 million at midnight Tuesday. Machel was inaugurated as president this morning.

Machel neither smokes nor drinks, at one time ordered wives of his colleagues to lower the hems of their skirts, and is currently behind a concerted effort to eliminate prostitution in Lourenco Marques. But despite his solemn socialist rhetoric, Machel has a keen sense of humor.

For the past 10 years, he has shunned publicity and press interviews and concentrated on the logistics of armed revolution.

He has always been regarded as the pragmatist in Frelimo, a strategist well versed in the military concepts of Che Guevara and Mao Tse-tung.

He formed the first unit of 250 Frelimo troops that crossed into Mozambique from bases in neighboring Tanzania to launch the "war of liberation" on Sept. 25, 1964.

Machel, awarded a Lenin medal in 1971, denies that Frelimo, heavily supplied with sophisticated Soviet and Chinese arms during the war against some 60,000 Portuguese troops, is overly beholden to Moscow or Peking.

But it is clear Frelimo owes much to those who supplied its 10,000-man army with the guns and training to oust the Portuguese.

The party's philosophy expresses a strong Marxist ideology closer to Maoist thought than most forms of African socialism. Machel is known to be an ardent admirer of Tanzania's President Julius Nyerere and is likely to be guided by his policies of rural agricultural communes and state control.

High court ruling on FAA

Can keep lid on records

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the Federal Aviation Administration has a legal right to keep many of its records secret if the airline industry objects to public disclosure.

The 7-2 decision also may give other government agencies stronger grounds for refusing to disclose documents sought under the Freedom of Information Act.

The court ruled that the FOI act does not supersede earlier legislation. It gave the FAA authority to withhold many records if anyone files a written objection and if the FAA administrator decides that disclosure would "adversely affect the interests" of the objector and that the public interest does not require disclosure.

The justices overturned a U.S. Circuit Court decision requiring the FAA to turn over certain reports sought by the Center for the Study of Responsive Law, a Ralph Nader organization.

The documents are called Systems Worthiness Analysis Reports and they consist of FAA officials' appraisals of the operation and maintenance of commercial airlines. The reports deal extensively with airline safety.

The FAA argued that disclosure of the reports might cause the airlines to stop providing information essential for the safety analysis.

The Supreme Court agreed with the FAA that the statute qualifies as an exemption to the Freedom of Information law.

The lower court had ruled that the language was far too vague to be considered as specific as the FOI act requires.

Tougher penalties urged for youthful criminals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional panel investigating violence in schools is being urged to stiffen penalties so that youthful criminals suffer the full consequences of the law as felons.

Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y., a former city policeman, criticized what he called a reluctance on the part of educators to report school violence and a go-easy policy by the courts toward prosecuting youngsters.

Educators joined Biaggi in telling the House Education and Labor subcommittee recently of instances of school violence, such as one case in which a youth gang in California shot up a school classroom. In another part of the state a teacher was raped in front of her elementary school class, the committee was told.

"Many teachers must work behind locked classroom doors for fear of intruders," said William L. Lucas, assistant superintendent of government relations for the Los Angeles Unified School District.

"They are intimidated by students in and out of the classrooms. They risk molestation in buildings and in going to and from the parking lot," he said.

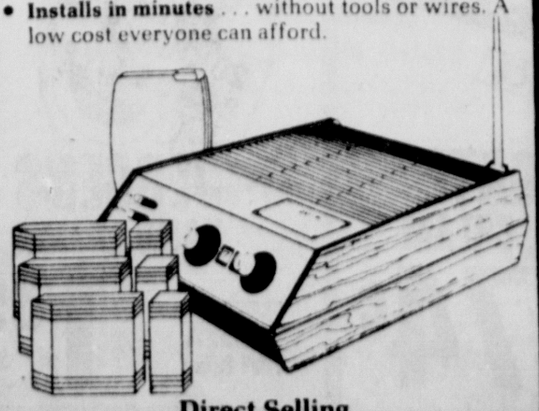

Lucas said that without some type of intervention, "the violence and vandalism taking place in our urban schools will continue to expand at a rate which can only be described as catastrophic."

He described himself as an "uptight administrator" who is trying to hold "the dikes built to stem the tide of rising youth delinquency" in the schools. "But I'm running out of fingers," he said.

Roundup of San Clemente isle goats

SAN CLEMENTE ISLAND (AP) — Wild goats by the thousands are being rounded up and taken off this island to be sold in nearby Long Beach.

The roundup by Tom Beene, a livestock dealer from Kerman under contract to the Navy, was ordered in an effort to save unique native plants.

But many plants such as the Catalina cherry and Catalina ironwood trees are believed destroyed.

To date, at least 6,500 goats have been shipped to the U.S. mainland with most of the 3,000 still left being driven into deep ravines at the southern end of the island.

The goats have been caught with water traps from which they refuse to jump and are driven into a fence line leading to a corral.

The goats are blamed for destroying eight other plant species as well.

The goats were introduced to the island by early whalers or Spanish explorers. When the Navy took possession in 1934, an estimated 30,000 goats were roaming free.

Art dealer buys amputated hand to put on display

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The Sydney Opera House has refused to let a severed hand be shown at a national art show at the house, but an art dealer says he has bought the hand and will display it for two weeks.

"In normal situations, the Opera House exercises no censorship over exhibits," a spokesman said. "But in this particular instance, the bounds of good taste have been exceeded."

An artist named Ivan Durrant said he paid a 24-year-old, left-handed medical student $133 last Sunday for the student's right hand. Art dealer Clive Evatt said he paid Durrant $600 to obtain the hand on behalf of an art collector.

Las month Durrant dumped the carcass of a slaughtered cow on the steps of the National Gallery in Melbourne to protest the eating of meat.

"The student came to me and said he wanted to amputate his hand as a protest in favor of his right to do as he wishes, even if it harms him," Durrant said. "He claimed it was hypocritical of me to kill the cow if I wouldn't condone his cutting off his hand. So I told him: "If you are going to do it, I'd like to use the hand for my own things if you don't mind.'"

The artist said he was present for the amputation, which he said was performed by someone who was not a qualified medical practitioner.

Durrant, an exponent of the New Realism movement in art, said exhibit of the hand — in a hand-size version of a glass-topped supermarket freezer would be "shock therapy" for the public.

"Once people see an amputated hand, they'll know what a real amputated hand is," he explained. "Then when they see Vietnamese on television with their hands blown off, the real horror will come home to them."

"It is not a hoax," said Evatt. "Anyone who knows Ivan Durrant and who is concerned with the New Realism in Australia will know that.

MOSCOW EXPERIMENT — Dr. James Muller and his wife, Kathleen, examine electrocardiogram tapes in Moscow. Dr. Muller has been testing an experimental drug for heart sufferers in the Soviet Union.

MOSCOW (AP) — At the end of three months of testing an experimental drug in the Soviet Union, a Boston doctor is grateful for East-West detente.

Dr. James Muller said his work in Moscow has significantly advanced the pace of research on an experimental drug for heart sufferers. "Because of the speed and centralization here, we have been able to move our research ahead six times faster than in the United States," he added.

Packed to take back to Boston were 1,500 vials of blood samples from 35 Soviet heart patients treated with the experimental drug hyaluronidase, developed to minimize the severity of heart attacks.

Muller, a cardiologist from Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, hopes that analysis of the blood, here and in Boston, will confirm his electrocardiagram data, which, he says, indicates that the drug reduces the extent of damage to the heart after a coronary attack.

By minimizing injury to the heart muscle, the risks of a second attack or total heart failure are reduced, he explained.

Hyaluronidase, a protein substance derived from the testicles of bulls, acts as a "spreading factor" to distribute oxygen to those parts of the heart muscle not yet killed by the initial attack, Muller explained in an interview.

The drug has been tested on humans since 1972, Muller said, but heart specialists in Boston were only able to treat about one dozen coronary victims with hyaluronidase per year under proper control conditions. Here, he said, the U.S.-Soviet team was able to administer the drug to 35 patients in one-fourth of that time.

One reason was that the Soviets were able to use their centralized, state-controlled system to mobilize the manpower and facilities of five Moscow hospitals for the experiment, Muller said. U.S. researchers, working in individual and often competing research labs, lack such coordination, he added.

Also, Muller contended that Soviet ambulance and emergency rescue services can get heart attack victims to the hospital quicker than U.S. services do. "Speed is essential for these tests," he said.

While acknowledging that several U.S. experts have rated Soviet emergency services lower than those in some American cities, Muller insisted from his observations that Moscow's ambulances were quicker and more efficient than Boston's. "And they have doctors on every ambulance. Every patient treated had been given intravenous medication for relief of pain before arriving at the hospital. You don't see that very often in the United States," he added.

Muller, who speaks fluent Russian and helped draw up the U.S.-Soviet health research agreement, sees the coronary project as a classic example of how two divergent systems can utilize each others strengths for a common goal neither could likely achieve alone.

In this case, the Americans provided the product and knowhow while the Soviets put them to use.

In Muller's view, comparing quality of care between the countries is secondary to probing areas in which both sides can find common ground.

"Of primary importance is that medicine is a vast area in which we can work together," he said.

BEWARE!
CITIZENS of POMONA
ARE YOU AWARE?

1. THAT THE FIVE YEAR PERIOD 1970-1974 CRIMES AGAINST PERSONS (MURDER, FORCIBLE RAPE, ROBBERY, AGGRAVATED ASSAULT) INCREASED FROM 447 IN 1970 TO 1035 IN 1974 – A 131% INCREASE?
2. THAT THE CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY HAVE INCREASED FROM 5079 IN 1973 TO 7402 IN 1974, A 45% INCREASE?
3. BY 1979 IT IS PROJECTED THAT MAJOR CRIME WILL HAVE INCREASED FROM 50 TO 64% OVER 1975 IN POMONA BASED ON STATISTICS SUPPLIED BY THE STATE?
4. CRIMES OF PERSONAL VIOLENCE WILL CONTINUE TO INCREASE FROM 12% TO 14% EACH YEAR FOR THE NEXT FIVE YEARS. BY 1979 CRIMES OF PERSONAL VIOLENCE WILL HAVE INCREASED FROM 51% TO 72%?
5. BURGLARIES WILL CONTINUE TO INCREASE 17% FOR THE NEXT FIVE YEARS. BY 1979 BURGLARIES WILL HAVE INCREASED FROM 90% TO 100% OVER 1975?

WHAT HAS YOUR CITY ADMINISTRATION DONE FOR YOU?

1. DURING THIS FIVE YEAR PERIOD, THE SWORN PERSONNEL STRENGTH OF THE POMONA POLICE DEPARTMENT HAS INCREASED ONLY 24 MEMBERS AND 14.5 OF THESE ARE TEMPORARY FEDERAL AND STATE GRANT POSITIONS – ALLOWING FOR A PERMANENT INCREASE OF ONLY 9.5 POSITIONS FOR AN INCREASE IN CRIMES AGAINST PERSONS OF 131% AND CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY SHOWED A 45% INCREASE FROM 1973 TO 1974?? APPARENTLY THEY DON'T CARE!! DO YOU??
2. THE CHIEF OF POLICE REQUESTED 12 ADDITIONAL SWORN PERSONNEL FOR THE COMING FISCAL YEAR AND THE CITY ADMINISTRATION IN THEIR INFINITE WISDOM, FEELING APPARENTLY THAT THERE IS NO PROBLEM, ALLOTED ONLY 2 NEW POSITIONS AND REMOVED THE 2 MOTOR OFFICER POSITIONS FROM THE PARKING ENFORCEMENT DETAIL AND RE-ASSIGNED THEM TO THE PATROL DIVISION, REMOVING PARKING ENFORCEMENT AND SECURITY FROM THE DOWNTOWN BUSINESSES AND SHOPPERS (THIS CAN BE EXPLAINED BY THE CITY ADMINISTRATIONS LACK OF CONCERN FOR THE DOWNTOWN AREA!) CAN YOU EXPECT ADEQUATE, IF NOT MINIMAL, POLICE SERVICE WITH AN INCREASE OF 2 POLICEMEN? DO THEY CARE?? APPARENTLY NOT!! DO YOU??
3. THE CITY ADMINISTRATOR HAS REQUESTED THAT AFTER JULY 1, 1975 VACANCIES NOT BE FILLED AS THEY OCCUR EVEN THOUGH BUDGETED FOR!! DOES THAT MAKE SENSE?? DO YOU CARE??
4. YOU WAIT AN AVERAGE OF 28 MINUTES BEFORE YOU SEE A COP WHEN YOU CALL FOR HELP! WITH THE CALLS FOR SERVICE INCREASING AT APPROXIMATELY 10% EACH YEAR, EXPECT TO WAIT EVEN LONGER!! DOES YOUR CITY ADMINISTRATION CARE? APPARENTLY NOT!! DO YOU CARE?

WITH THESE FACTS IN MIND, THE CITY ADMINISTRATION HAS FAILED TO RESPOND TO THE PROBLEM AND APPARENTLY DOES NOT CARE! WHY HAVEN'T THEY RESPONDED WHEN THEY HAVE BEEN MADE AWARE? WE CARE AND HOPE THAT YOU DO!

PLACE THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE SITUATION WHERE IT BELONGS – WITH YOUR CITY COUNCIL AND CITY ADMINISTRATOR – ASK YOUR COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE IF THEY ARE AWARE AND IF THEY CARE?

THE CITY HAS OFFERED THE POMONA POLICE ASSOCIATION A PACKAGE OF 2 ADDITIONAL HOLIDAYS PER YEAR – THE PAYMENT OF $11.00 PER MONTH FOR A DISABILITY PLAN WHICH WE PRESENTLY PAY FOR, $120.00 PER YEAR CLOTHING ALLOWANCE (PRESENTLY WE ARE SUPPLIED ONE UNIFORM PER YEAR AT A COST OF APPROXIMATELY $70.00 – IN REALITY ONLY A $50.00 INCREASE PER YEAR) AND A 7½% PAYCUT – WHILE OFFERING THE POMONA FIREMEN A 10% PAY RAISE EFFECTIVE APRIL 1, 1976 (MOST CURRENT INFORMATION). IS THAT REASONABLE OR THE ABSURD OFFER OF PERSONS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE GOVERNING OF YOUR CITY? TO QUOTE CITY ADMINISTRATION, DURING THE FIRST NEGOTIATION SESSION ON JUNE 17, 1975 AFTER THE ABOVE OFFER WAS PROPOSED "SHOOT YOUR BEST SHOT!" – YOU, THE CITIZEN, BETTER SHOOT YOUR BEST SHOT!! – LET CITY ADMINISTRATION KNOW WHERE YOU STAND AND HOW YOU FEEL!!

THIS INFORMATION IS NOT MEANT TO FRIGHTEN YOU – ONLY TO MAKE YOU AWARE!

THE POMONA POLICE OFFICER'S ASSOCIATION NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT AND WE FEEL YOU NEED YOUR HELP!! LET YOUR COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVE KNOW HOW YOU FEEL!!

NOT JUST AN OLD WIND BAG — Thomas W. Livingstone, a native of Scotland, has been playing bagpipes for 77 years. He plays with a Chicago pipe band and teaches the instrument.

SOUTH PEKIN, Ill. (AP) — Thomas W. Livingstone has been playing the bagpipes for 77 years and says his fingers and wind aren't what they used to be. But he says he'll never stop.

"My son says, 'What's going to happen to you, Dad. You're going to drop over dead in a parade,'" said Livingstone, 85. "You couldn't go a better way I know of."

Livingstone, a native of Dunblane, Scotland, said he began learning to play the pipes from his father at 8. He bought his first set a decade later and still has them. They cost $80 then, but he says the same set now would run about $900.

"Pipes will last a lifetime, hundreds and hundreds of years if they're taken care of," he said.

Livingstone came to the United States in 1913. He worked first as a coal miner, then became a railraod engineer. On runs to Chicago he sometimes brought his pipes along with him so he could practice with a pipe band.

His son, 57, plays the pipes, but Livingstone says his three grandsons don't play "and that's what makes me mad."

Livingstone has been with a Chicago pipe band since 1928, has traveled as far as Canada and St. Louis to play, now teaches students from Monmouth College and other parts of Illinois.

He says anyone can play the pipes if they work at it, and nationality or sex have nothing to do with it. There are good lady bagpipe players but not as many as men, he said.

"Here it's a novelty, see. The gals, they like to get out with the kilts on," said Livingstone. "But when the girls get out of college, they have a boy in their eye and they get married and drop the pipes. But a man usually keeps on."

He said pipes are growing in popularity in America and traces this to the two world wars when Americans heard them played by the Scotch Highland regiments. There's also been plenty of comedy about bagpipes, he said.

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, June 25, the 176th day of 1975. There are 189 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1950, North Korea invaded the Republic of Korea. It was the beginning of the Korean war.

In 1788, Virginia ratified the U.S. Constitution.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte made a farewell address before being exiled to Saint Helena.

In 1876, General George Custer's force was massacred in the Battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana.

In 1918, American forces drove the Germans out of Belleau Wood, France after a two-week battle in World War I.

In 1934, it was announced that 16,000,000 Americans were on relief.

In 1967, President Lyndon Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin concluded talks at Glassboro State College in New Jersey and pledged that the U.S. and U.S.S.R. would not let any crisis push them into nuclear war.

Ten years ago: Hanoi Radio reported that an American sergeant, Harold Bennett, had been executed in Vietnam, apparently in retaliation for South Vietnam's firing-squad execution of a Vietcong terrorist.

Five years ago: U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers unveiled a new Mideast peace initiative calling on the Arabs and Israelis to agree to a 90-day cease-fire.

LVC president, wife are chosen Alumni of Year

La Verne College President Leland B. Newcomer of the class of 1942, and his wife, Barbara, class of 1943, are the college's Alumni of the Year.

They were chosen at the 26th Annual Alumni Dinner Dance reunion at Griswold's Pavillion recently, attended by more than 500 alumni, graduates of 1975, college employes and their guests.

Bill Neill, Class of 62, master of ceremonies, presented a slide show which reviewed the changes that had taken place at the college in the past 60 years. Included in the narrative was a message from L.R.Y. Hoover of the Class of 1915, one of the oldest living alumni of the college.

Honorary life memberships in the alumni association were presented to members of the class of 1925. They were Mrs. Howard Beckner, Bertram Betts, Mrs. Betts, Mrs. David Brubaker, Mrs. Byrl Harper, Chase Harper, B.F. Jamison, Mrs. Stanley Keim, Mrs. Paul Kurtz, Ernest A. Landis, Mrs. Alvin R. Marshburn, Ada Moothart, Olive Pabst, Mrs. Wilbur Pabst, Mrs. Ernest Root, Mrs. Lloyd Studebaker, Dwight O. Welch and Mrs. Welch.

VAC to get report on 'redlining' issue

A report on the practice of "redlining" of neighborhood by the major lending institutions — under which even qualified buyers cannot get home loans in certain high risk areas — will be presented Thursday at the Valley Association of Cities (VAC board of directors meeting at Pomona City Hall.

The report will be presented by VAC's resale facilitation committee, which has been studying problem areas in the resale of abandoned homes.

The practice of redlining by major banks and savings and loans is reported to be widespread in certain areas of Southern California, including portions of Pomona, Covina and West Covina.

Other agenda items for the 4 p.m. meeting include action on VAC's proposed $290,000 budget. The VAC budget is financed by federal grant funds without any tax support from any of the nine member cities.

If your car smells musty after a rain, find the leaks and repair them. A good way to find the leaks is to drive the automobile through an automatic car wash because the high-powered spray is almost guaranteed to seep through any leaks.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE NO. EAP-9400 SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES

Estate of DORA G. STONE, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after July 9, 1975, the undersigned, WALTER THOMAS STONE, as Executor of the Will of Dora G. Stone, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest bidder, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Superior Court thereafter, all right, title, interest and estate of the decedent at the time of her death and all right, title and interest the estate has, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of her death, in and to that real property located in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, described as follows:

"That portion of Lot 11 of rearrangement of Lots 11 to 23 of the J. E. Packards Orange Grove Tract, in the City of Pomona, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 42, Page 2 of Miscellaneous Records, described as follows:

BEGINNING at the Southwest corner of said Lot 11; thence along the West line of said Lot North 14 degrees 10' West 310 feet; thence North 75 degrees 51' East 187 feet to the true point of beginning of this description; thence continuing North 75 degrees 51' East 62 feet; thence South 14 degrees 10' East parallel with the West line of said Lot 11, 301.74 feet to the South line of said lot; thence along said South line South 73 degrees 57' West 62.03 feet to a point in the line parallel with the West line of said Lot 11 and passing through the point of beginning; thence North 14 degrees 10' West along said last mentioned parallel line 303.80 feet to the true point of beginning."

Bids or offers are invited for the property and must be in writing and may be delivered to the Executor or to the office of his attorneys, Nichols, Stead, Boileau & Lamb, 400 United California Bank, No. 315 Pomona Mall West, Pomona, California, or may be filed in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: CASH in lawful money of the United States of America; 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer and the balance to be paid upon confirmation of sale by the Superior Court and completion of escrow thereafter. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of recording of conveyance.

The estate will furnish to the successful purchaser a policy of title insurance and the estate will pay the usual seller's expenses of an escrow as is the practice in Pomona, California.

The property herein described is commonly referred to as No. 1362 Elwood, Pomona, California. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Ky: we only need little spot in sun

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "All we need is a little place in the sun," says Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam's war refugees.

The former premier and vice president of South Vietnam, speaking to Air Force reserve officers, said his displaced countrymen need about two acres of land each on which to grow rice and vegetables and pigs and chickens.

"I believe in this big country we can find this," Ky said Thursday. "We don't want to live on welfare."

When a New Yorker asked if the refugees would prefer the south to the colder climates of northeastern United States, Ky replied: "Yes, we will have problems with the weather."

Ky said he would prefer leased public lands to private.

"Mine is a lost generation," the ex-general said.

Later Ky, on a speaking tour, flew to Los Angeles.

Counties get tax payments

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Six Nevada counties were awarded nearly $1 million in property tax payments Thursday by the Los Angeles Water and Power Commission.

A spokesman for the city said the taxes principally cover power transmission facilities. Officials cited a $1.5 million increase in assessed valuation of the Navajo Western Transmission Line in Southern Nevada for an increase of $59,779 over the 1973-74 tax bill.

The 1974-75 levy of $9-96,959 was in payments of $681,467 to Clark County; $154,691 to Washoe County; $67,658 to Lyon County; $42,557 to Mineral County; $26,925 to Churchill County and $23,661 to Pershing County.

San Dimas okays budget showing tax hike

The San Dimas City Council has adopted a final 1975-76 budget of $2,209,747 calling for a tax rate increase of 15 cents per $100 assessed valuation — the first increase in property taxes in four years.

The property tax rate will not be absolute until the second meeting in August. The final tax rate, by law, must be set prior to Sept. 1.

If property tax rate is set at the proposed 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation, the owner of a $24,000 home in San Dimas would pay about $9 more in taxes. A resident owning a $30,000 home would pay an estimated $11 more annually.

City Manager Bob Poff also recommended a five-cent increase in the San Dimas Lighting District tax. The rate in the lighted zone A would go from 45 cents to 50 cents, and in the unlighted zone .B from a five to 10 cents.

The council approved a 5 per cent cost of living increase to all city staff members in the budget.

The budget represents $1,201,857 in general fund expenses and $1,007,890 in special projects.

In other action Monday, the council approved rate increases for International Cable Television Corp.

The costs on the new schedule are installation, primary outlet, $15; installation, additional outlet, $10; relocation, $10; reconnection, $10; monthly service charge, primary outlet, $6.95; monthly service charge, additional outlet, $2.

The new schedule is effective July 1. About 180 persons living east of San Dimas Canyon Park are affected by the change.

The council also instructed City Atty. Norm Oliver to prepare a resolution establishing the speed limit on San Dimas Canyon Road at 25 miles per hour between Sycamore Canyon Road and Romola Avenue and at 35 miles per hour on either side of these north and south streets along San Dimas Canyon Road.

The resolution is to be designed to deal with safety problems for youngsters at the park and the area immediately in front of the park, and to move traffic to the San Dimas Golf Course quickly on weekends.

The new speed limits will be enforced with additional patrol by sheriff's deputies.

The council adjourned to 8 a.m. July 1 to adopt a resolution for a tax anticipation note to allocate approximately $90,000 for the purchase and demolition of the old San Dimas High School. It also scheduled a meeting for July 10 at 8 a.m. to consider the annexation of two corners at Allen Avenue and San Dimas Canyon Road.

Session on managing

The special problems of managing arts institutions will be studied at a workshop Thursday through Sunday at the Claremont Graduate School.

Peter F. Drucker, CGS faculty member and management consultant, will have a major role in the workshop. Other members of the staff are Paul Albrecht dean of the graduate school Giora G. Bernstein, director of the Claremont Summer Music Festival; Gilman Kraft, president of Performing Arts News; Eleanor Pinkham, former general director of the Los Angeles and San Francisco light operas; Roland M. Reiss, chairman of the graduate school art department; David W. Steadman, director of galleries of the Claremont Colleges; and Melinda T. Wortz, Southern California editor of Arts News.

Information about the session may be obtained from the summer session office, 626-8511, extension 3690.

Mayor reveals income, taxes

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Mayor Pete Wilson says he and his wife earned $20,083 last year and paid income taxes of $1,494 and state income taxes of $166.

The salary included $5,984 in commissions paid to Mrs. Wilson, who sells real estate. Wilson was paid $12,000 in salary but his pay went up to $20,000 annually about midyear.

Wilson is seeking reelection to a second four-year term as mayor of California's second biggest city.

Records show the wettest place in the United States is the Olympic Peninsula in Washington where the mountains receive up to 250 inches of rain and snow each year.

Gals go where the guys are—car safety run

Twenty-seven valley young persons, including five girls are among those competing in the 22nd annual, 870-mile Youth Safety Run from Torrance to Yosemite National Park and back.

Economy and safety are the key elements in scoring in the event. Forty-four 1975 model cars, driven by car club and Law Enforcement Explorer Scout post members from Southern California and Nevada, are taking part.

The event is sponsored by the Police Advisory Council for Car Clubs, an organization of policemen from 15 Southern California cities who work with young drivers from those clubs.

The Arcadia Civitan Club, Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Union Oil Co. cosponsor the event. Technical inspection is by the Automobile Club of Southern California. No modifications of carburetors or emission controls are allowed.

The drivers range from 16 to 21 and must have safe driving records. This year's event marks the first in which girls have competed.

The run began early Monday with competitors arriving late that afternoon at Yosemite. They had a day of sightseeing Tuesday with their return scheduled today.

The winners of the seven classes will be announced at an award dinner in Torrance Friday night.

Three of the girls competing are Linda Ballou, Laurie Posnack and Ellen Tims, all of the La Verne Law Enforcement Explorer Scout Post 418. Other members of that post in the event are Craig Walters, Harold Norheim, Steven Spurlock, Henry Carpenter, Joe Amico and Ed Garrison.

Cars being driven by the La Verne participants were supplied by Liberty Ford of La Verne and Bryant Pontiac of Covina.

The Ontario Police Department's Explorer Post has a distaff tandem in the competition, Glenda Thomley and Dana Gilchrist, along with four young men, Mike Dossey, Manuel Beltram, Jim Knowles and Tom Carrillo.

Cars for the Ontario teams are furnished by Bob Hicks Chevrolet and Graydon-Murphy Oldsmobile. Advisers are Officers Jim Gettings, Bill Snyder and Katie Zbinden.

Six members are participating from Explorer Scout Post 160 of the Pomona Police Department. They are Michael Garcia, Norbert Duran, Tim Glover, Kevin Bennett, Tim Romero and James Campbell.

Two Pomona police officers, Lt. Vernon Weigand and Officer Ronald J. McDonald, are driving an official car, monitoring the run.

Pomona participants were supplied cars by Fair City Ford, University Lincoln-Mercury and Pomona Dodge, all of Pomona.

The six young men sponsored by the Chino D.E.S., the Chino Champion, the Chino Police Explorer Post, and other Chino organizations, are Bill McCombs, Mark Foster, Mike Zavala, Ray Rodriquez, Mark Lopez and Carlos Preciado.

Cars for the Chino team were sponsored by M.K. Smith Chevrolet of Chino; Pomona Chrysler-Plymouth; and Patterson Ford of La Mirada. Advisers to the Chino teams in a car furnished by Mel Bunnell of Pomona, include Chino Police Officers Ed Acosta, Pete Chavez and Ron Zerr.

YOUTH SAFETY RUN

Pomona Police Department entrants in the annual Youth Safety Run study map with Lt. Vernon M. Weigand before leaving on the 870-mile drive to Yosemite National Park. The entrants are, from left, Michael Garcia, Norburt Duran, Tim Glover, Kevin Bennett, Tim Romero and James Campbell. The tour is a test of safety and gasoline economy.

2nd Pomona school budget proposed—with another tax hike

By PHYLLIS CANNON
PB Staff Writer

Pomona school board has scheduled a special meeting July 14 at 7:30 p.m. to study a second tentative 1975-76 budget which calls for a $1.20 per $100 of assessed valuation increase in the tax rate.

This tax increase is larger than the 94 cents voters approved May 27, but would be allowed by the state, school administrators explained, because of the steady increase in loss of district income through delinquency tax rolls.

The new document, which still will undergo changes, shows income and expenditures totaling $29,148,798 and varies considerably from the $28.4 million tentative budget presented two weeks ago.

It shows a beginning balance for July 1 of $2,026,713. This is money left over from this year, explained Garrett C. Nichols, assistant superintendent of business services," and should not be considered as income."

It shows $1,083,933 in the appropriation for contingencies fund, which is reserves and can be banked, and $25,000 in general reserves.

It is figured on an estimated 2½ per cent increase in the assessed valuation of district property, and reflects a district tax rate of $5.7556 per $100 of assessed valuation, compared to $4.5598 this year.

Nichols, who has resigned and attended his last board meeting Tuesday, told board members he would like to see them keep $1 million in reserves as a "cushion for next year." He said that Senate Bill 90 had a 6 per cent, built-in inflationary factor for next year, "but you need one million in reserve to give you leeway. My recommendation is that you keep as much in reserves as you can," Nichols said.

Most of the money left over from this year and listed as the beginning balance for 1975-76 comes from state monies paid the district through the Adult Education program to cover residents at Pacific State Hospital who were enrolled in adult ed programs.

This program is in jeopardy for next year and may be discontinued unless enabling legislation, approved by the Assembly and the Senate except for an emergency clause, is signed into law by Gov. Jerry Brown.

Murder case against man is dropped

Murder charges against William Steven Schiotis, 23, of Pomona have been dropped in connection with the death early Monday in his apartment of Arthur John Ulfers, 22, of Chino.

Schiotis, of the Auto-Lodge Motel at 963 N. Garey Ave., was arrested after Ulfer's death and held pending preliminary autopsy reports by the Coroner's Office. The preliminary tests revealed only that Ulfers had one recent puncture wound, similar to that of a hypodermic needle, police said. They ordered further toxicological tests.

Schiotis told police that morning that Ulfers died of an apparent overdose after injecting himself with heroin Sunday afternoon. Police said that Schiotis himself will be charged with having puncture marks on his body. The District Attorney's Office declined to issue a murder complaint against him in Ulfer's death, however.

Dodger official is Rotary guest

Joe Moeller, public relations director with the Los Angeles Dodgers, will speak on the topic "Would You Believe a Million at Dodger Stadium?" Thursday during the La Verne Rotary Club luncheon.

The luncheon will be held at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Moeller was a pitcher for the Dodgers in 1962 and pitched for them for eight seasons, retiring as an active player in 1973. He is presently with the Dodgers' Speakers Bureau and fills in his spare time as a batting practice pitcher.

Chino school cutbacks ordered by trustees

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Chino school trustees approved a $14.9 million tentative budget Tuesday night, but they were far from pleased with it.

Claiming there was "fat" in the spending package, they ordered Supt. Royce Lapp to make up a list of cutbacks totaling as much as $150,000.

The budget predicts a one-cent drop in the tax rate, to $5.1762 per $100 assessed valuation, but officials said this could change before a final budget is approved in August.

Board members said cutbacks are necessary to build up the ending balance of $404,670 estimated for July, 1976.

Trustee Pete VanderPoel said preliminary figures presented in February listed the ending balance at $578,000. "We lost more than $150,000 since then."

Al Searfoss, assistant superintendent for business, pointed out that $101,000 in auditorium and recreation restricted funds formerly listed as reserves last February, are included under general expenditures now.

VanderPoel said a possible area to be sliced from the tentative budget is $172,000 in instructional materials. "We approved $85,000 for materials in April, so now we are dumping $250,000 for a 15-month period."

Board member Al McCombs was concerned over special programs. "We feel a little helpless," he said, "when we don't receive program budgets." Trustees ordered Lapp to provide specific program budgets for some areas, such as early childhood education. McCombs indicated some special programs could be cut.

Roy Ward, another trustee, said travel and conference monies may be areas that could be sliced from the spending plan.

Lapp warned board members not to cut budgets for specific schools, or teacher salaries. The plan contains an 8.5 per cent increase for all employes and 3 per cent boost for educational advancement and experience. Employe salaries and benefits make up 85 per cent of the $14,936,867 budget.

A key concern, as trustees reviewed the budget, was over the fact El Rancho and Los Serranos schools were each losing one Miller-Unruh reading specialist for next year. In other schools, such as Walnut, more money was being allocated for the specialists.

El Rancho's expenditure for the specialists was down $4,000 compared to last year, and Los Serranos was down by nearly $1,000.

4 win grants at Pomona College

Fellowships for independent study and research from the National Endowment for the Humanities have been awarded to four Pomona College faculty members.

Howard Young, professor of Romance languages, and Martha Andresen, assistant professor of English, have both received awards for six months of study.

Richard McKirahan, assistant professor of classics and philosophy, and Jerome Rinkus, assistant professor of modern European languages, were grantd stipends for summer study.

Mex-Am group plans benefit

United Mexican Parents of Pomona are sponsoring a fund-raising dinner-dance Saturday from 2 p.m. to midnight at the Palomares Community Center.

Proceeds will be used to fund recreational programs and trips for Pomona youths.

Tickets are $4 for the dinner and dance, or $2 for just the dinner or just the dance.

Nancy Lopez, chairman of the United Mexican Parents organization, said a taco-combination plate dinner will be served.

Father Julio Roman of the Sacred Heart Church and the Sacred Heart youth band will entertain from 3 to 5 p.m.

Joe Mi-Raza and his band will play for dancing from 8 p.m. to midnight.

Mrs. Lopez and the board of directors of the organization are planning the event. Additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Lopez at 628-8151.

Video tape confession

Forced to kill man, suspect testifies

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

"I've never been so scared in my life," said defendant Robert Thomas B. Telford Sr. on a video tape recording being shown in a West Valley Superior Court room depicting how an Ontario man was shot to death in September 1974.

Accused of taking part in the slaying of Joseph Allen Gomez, 27, of Ontario, Telford on the video tape recording told Ontario officers he fired two shots at Gomez, one of them hitting the victim in the head. Telford on the tape said that Sam Guardalibene, also accused of taking a part in the Gomez slaying, gave him the .22 caliber rifle with one round in it. He said Guardalibene was standing behind him and had a .45 caliber pistol.

Telford said he pointed the rifle at Gomez in a wash near the Ontario city dump and fired a shot. Telford said "Sam" then handed him a second bullet which he loaded into the rifle and fired again at Gomez.

Telford said that he was afraid of Guardalibene standing behind him, and claimed he thought he heard the bolt of the .45 click as he was aiming at Gomez.

Telford said he was afraid of Guardalibene after the fatal shooting and helped him move Gomez's body to another location some time later.

The murder trial, continuing before Judge Clifton L. Allen, began last week. Police and sheriff's deputies on the stand have testified that Telford told them were Gomz's body could be found, touching off the murder investigation.

In the murder investigation, Ontario police, assisted by Riverside and San Bernardino County sheriff's deputies, finally arrested Telford, Guardalibene and Ronald Lawrence Marshall on suspicion of first degree murder.

Telford's trial was separated from the others on the request of his court appointed attorney Frank Batchelor.

Batchelor, thus far in the trial, has not contested testimony and evidence presented by officers that his client fired the fatal shot, but has elicited testimony from the witnesses that Telford had been drinking almost constantly the night of the slaying and that he was a follower and not a leader. Testimony given in the trial by a Riverside detective who worked on the case, held that Telford expressed great fear of Guardalibene on more than one occasion.

The prosecution Tuesday called a surprise witness, Dennis Willyums, a county jail inmate who told the jury that Telford had talked to him about the murder Monday afternoon after the trial recessed.

Willyums said that Telford described in some detail how he had killed Gomez and said that they (Telford, Guardalibene, and Marshall) thought "how funny it was to see Gomez wrapped up in plastic, like a ball with wire wrapped all around it."

Woman chokes while eating dinner, dies

An elderly woman died Tuesday evening at Pomona Valley Community Hospital after apparently choking on a piece of meat while eating dinner at Griswold's Indian Hill Restaurant in Claremont, police reported.

The victim, Madeline Born, 72, lived at Mt. San Antonio Gardens, 900 E. Harrison Ave. Witnesses said she was stricken while eating and was aided by a fire department resuscitator crew en route to the hospital. She died shortly after arrival there. Authorities ordered an autopsy.

Claremont approves budget, tax increase

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

Claremont taxpayers may face a tax hike of 23 cents per $100 assessed valuation this coming fiscal year as a result of adoption of a tentative city budget of approximately $3,800,000 Tuesday night by the City Council.

City Manager Norman King said that the tax hike could drop to 19 cents per $100 if the county fire protection district tax rate were 80 cents instead of an 84 cent rate as earlier predicted.

The council adopted the budget by a 4-1 vote with Mayor Bertye Smith against joining the county fire protection district this year, "because it would not be in the best interests of the city."

Mrs. Smith said she wants to retain a city-owned Fire Department for another year, and added that the city has not received a proposed agreement from the county.

Deputy City Manager Paul Brotzman stressed that about $200,000 of the tentative budget is federal funding for jobs.

He said that the city will not have a firm figure on assessed valuation until August. If the 23-cent projected tax rate increase stands, the city's levy will be $2.50.

Brotzman said that the budget allows for salary increases for employes, including the second year of a two-year contract with the police officers association. The increase for other employes haven't been determined.

The council approved recommended increases in sewer fees, weed and nuisance abatement fees, santiation fees, and recreation program registration fees during the last half of the 1975-76 year which would raise an additional $28,000 in revenues, and about $60,000 annually thereafter.

The council referred back to the staff for two weeks a proposal that higher fees be charged to nonresidents in both recreation classes and leagues.

The tentative budget is about $200,000 less than the originally proposed budget handed to the council a month ago, when the council asked that all department heads reduce their budget requests by 10 per cent.

The council decided to keep its dial-a-ride program going another year, and to keep in the budget $800 for implementation of the city's smog alert program.

Also to increasing admissions for the annual Fourth of July fireworks show, Mayor Smith said it would be too late to implement this year, but the city Parks and Recreation Commission could study the matter and report back in time for the Fourth of July in 1976.

To a question of whether the city and the YMCA are offering duplicate services in summer day camps, recreation Supt. Ron Hagan said he doesn't think the two agencies are competing.

Hagan said that in the light of vandalism in city parks during the summer, the city saved $5,000 a year by adopting the day camp programs at the seven parks.

But Hagan said that day camps fees must be increased next summer to offset higher bus transportation costs, and more expensive craft materials.

As for doing away with the day camp at Vista School, Hagan said that the city should promote day camps. He explained that although there was under-enrollment at Vista, there was over-enrollment at Oakmont School, and the two groups would be evened off.

Still needed: Inspiration

The U.S. presidency is a curious institution. A president, in one sense, has tremendous power. He can trip the nation into war, prolong a recession, or tear a country apart in dissension.

But he cannot of himself, by this act or that, pull a country out of a depression, either of the economy or of the spirit. These things the people must do themselves of their own will. The president can only be a symbol, someone who somehow gives hope — so that men will be moved to invest, factories will put the unemployed to work and consumers will spend in the confidence there will be a tomorrow.

To provide that inspiration a president must prove himself, difficult for one who has been appointed and not elected. And particularly difficult for a president known chiefly as a nice, decent, friendly man.

To date, President Ford has been at work on this first step — of proving himself.

Commentators talk of the Mayaguez showdown off Communist Cambodia as the moment of truth, when Mr. Ford showed his decisiveness, guts and leadership.

Not so. Whether you approve or disapprove his stand on spending, it is Mr. Ford's month-in, month-out record of hot potato vetoes that demonstrates what he's made of.

For Mr. Ford, the Democratic congressional leaders and presidential hopefuls all know these vetoes of popular spending bills which would mean money in the pockets of the unemployed and in the purses of millions of others whose bills exceed incomes in this time of recession-inflation, are pure gold for the Democratic opposition in 1976.

Further, in clamping down on spending to curb the worsening inflation he fears for 1976 and 1977, Mr. Ford could prolong the recession unduly, make his election for another term exceedingly difficult. He knows this.

Under the American system, no Congress can have its way against a president, if the president is determined. Senate and House can win one round or another, or a dozen rounds for that matter, but will be defeated in the end.

Mr. Ford did not come to this knowledge by accident. Franklin Roosevelt vetoed 635 bills, Harry Truman 250, Dwight Eisenhower 181. In the end, despite some notable defeats, these men had their way.

In the 10 months he has been in office, Gerald Ford has vetoed 32 bills, no mean monthly average.

Mr. Ford, in the tradition set by these three predecessors, has come a considerable distance in establishing his leadership. But he seems to be stumbling on the second requisite — building our confidence sufficiently to get the country going.

Here we run into mush. Quick fixes. Hopeful statements. Plans in the making. A resistance to way-out solutions, But little that would give us the inner belief we are on our way. Light at the end of the tunnel euphorisms breed cynicism, not hope.

One president or another has captured the imagination with dramatic gestures, however empty. Or with the force of his personality, or with programs which, whatever their practical merits or demerits, inspired the citizenry to act. These are not the ways of Mr. Ford.

What then can, or will he do? As yet there is no sign.

The evening war whoop

As the shades of night are falling, these long summer evenings, the neighborhood quiet is shattered by the cries of mothers.

"Freddeee!" they scream, and "Aaalissss!"

It is time for the young to come home from wherever they are and whatever they're up to.

In some cases the recall signal is a tinkling bell or a whistle, but as a rule it's a screech which can be heard at a quarter of a mile. Sometimes it can be heard farther than that, and once in a while an answering cry, "Coming!" is audible.

More often the child returns quietly, appearing at about the moment when Mother is about to send for bloodhounds.

These maternal shrieks rend the air for only a few moments a day, "between the dark and the daylight," as Longfellow put it, and they mark the modern children's hour. They signify that it's bedtime for the young, so that their parents may watch the television reruns in peace for what's left of the evening.

Like other phases of child rearing, this noisy ritual becomes unnecessary after a few years. When the kid is old enough to get a driver's license, he goes so far after dark that only an "all-points" bulletin can locate him. — The Boston Globe

Teenagers' good deed

One reads daily of teen-age theft, teen-age murder and teen-age riots. In an effort to offset the plethora of mayhem, I hope you will print a correction of your account of the Security Pacific National Bank robbery, which occurred in Diamond Bar.

The "passerby" who found Maria Guzman was actually four teenagers, Linda Martin, Sue and Shealagh Wiencek and Jim Tuck. They took her immediately to the home of Karen Anderson at the address you mentioned, sat her down, gave her water and tried to calm her. Then the phone call to the bank was made.

Maria Guzman told my son that people don't believe her when she tells them that teen-agers "got involved" and helped her. I do, and I think these kids deserve acknowledgment for a good deed.

Sex booms in capitol

WASHINGTON — Sex has become a booming backdoor business in Washington.

A silkstocking call girl service, for example, provides shapely "masseuses" for diplomats, dignitaries and visiting business men seeking $75 thrills.

The girls can be ordered to specification by telephone from dial-a-date outfits, which advertise in the yellow pages. "Let your fingers do the street-walking" might be their motto.

They offer room service at some of Washington's finest hotels. The girls will accept payment in cash, travelers checks or, if the customer prefers credit, sometimes by BankAmericard.

One of our reporters, posing as a potential client, was quoted rates from $20 for a simple massage to $75 for a more titillating experience. The massage promoters were careful not to offer outright intercourse. But the inuendo was clear that sex was the real service for sale.

The mode of sex, said a man at Grecian Dial-A-Massage, was "pretty much up to the masseuse." AT Diversified Outside Calls, a woman answering suggested "if you talk to the masseuse," she "might" agree to intercourse. The responses were similar from Dial-A-Date Club, Playmate Internationale and Swingers International.

The most candid of the operators was Hal O'Brien, who runs Selectra Mate and other "outcall" services from a suite high over Washington's famous Dupont Circle. He gives clients a summary of Washington law on the subject, with a specific warning that intercourse with the "masseuse" is a criminal offense.

But he adds meaningfully that his girls "are over 21, and we don't control their acts." He has never known one of them to bring charges against a client.

One tactic used by the masseuses, acknowledged O'Brien, was to strip for action at the same time they refused to submit. Technically, this protects them from prosecution for soliciting. The ensuing sexual act then becomes rape, but the "victims" never file complaints.

Other Washington prostitutes operate out of luxury apartments. They also cater to the city's dignitaries, with price scales running as high as $200 a night.

Washington police are too busy patrolling the streets to keep a watch on philandering in hotels and apartments. Even if the girls are arrested, the police found it difficult to get convictions.

So the call girl operations in Washington aren't troubled with recession.

SOVET SNOOPING: For the sake of detente, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is helping the Soviets establish their embassy on high ground, which will give them a better vantage point for electronic espionage.

At the same time, the Soviets have offered the United States an embassy site in a low area along the Moscow River near the present U.S. chancery. "It's just a little further down the slope," said a source.

The two nations agreed to exchange new chanceries over six years ago, but they have been bickering ever since over sites and plans.

The Russians, with American concurrence, have settled on a 12.5-acre wooded site on Mount Alto, one of the highest points in Washington. They plan to erect a five-building complex, which would resemble a walled fortress.

From this prominent perch, according to our sources, the Soviets will get better results with their sophisticated electronic monitoring equipment. This is used to eavesdrop on long-distance telephone calls which, for the most part, are transmitted by microwave.

Kissinger has strongly urged approval of the new Soviet embassy, although he has full knowledge that it will give the USSR a superior listening post to one that the Soviets are permitting the United States to build in Moscow.

Reportedly under State Department prodding, the General Services Administration has filed an environmental impact statement calling for ratification "in the spirit of detente." Failure to approve the proposal, says the GSA, could "create an international situation."

Not only have the Soviets provided the U.S. embassy with a low-level location, but they have objected to every construction plan the United States has submitted. The latest set of plans, according to sources with direct knowledge of the situation, were sent back with a list of 27 objections.

Rep. Wayne Hays, D.-Ohio, who oversees the State Department budget, has held up approval of the new Soviet embassy until the United States is permitted to go ahead with its construction.

As a result, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin recently called at the State Department and notified Assistant Secretary Arthur Hartman that the Kremlin had dropped all objections to the U. S. construction plans.

The United States could even use "black bricks," said the frustrated Dobrynin.

Footnote: A State Department spokesman said the Soviets had not raised "objections" but had merely offered "recommendations." Another spokesman in Hartman's office said our account of the conversation with Dobrynin was "inaccurate and incomplete." But he refused to explain the alleged inaccuracies,claiming it "was a private conversation and we don't want to go into it." Our sources, in fact, are wholly familiar with the incident and we have confidence they gave us an accurate report.

How Scruples convinced Beame

"You gotta listen to me, Abe," his old friend Lucy Scruples was saying. "I can tell you how to save New York."

"I don't know, Lucy," Mayor Beame said somberly, shaking his head. "I'm set to sell the whole shtick back to the Indians. Do you think we could get $48 for it?"

"Forget that, Abe. Now, what did you the yankees do when they were in trouble? They went out and got Catfish Hunter, right? What did the Knicks do when they needed help? They went out and shanghaied George McGinnis, right? And what did that soccer team do when they were desperate? They went all the way to Brazil and got that guy Pele who said he was going to retire and promised his whole country he wouldn't play again."

"What's that got to do with my troubles," Lucy?" Beame implored.

"Everything," Lucy answered. "You just got to be like them teams and go out and take what you need, never mind the rules and regulations or what anybody else wants."

"You mean I should go out and order Lindsay to come back and be mayor again?"

"No, Abe, nothing quite that drastic. All you have to do is take the treasury of Kuwait and order that it be brought here. You can use it to pay all the city's bills and all your troubles will be over."

"It's a great idea, Lucy, but don't you think Kuwait is going to have something to say about this? It's true, as I've been telling Governor Carey and President Ford and everyone else who would listen, the world owes New York a living. If we are nice enough to be on the same planet with them, the least they can do is help us out once in a while."

"Right, Mayor. You can always use the old line about how everybody else really needs New York to be happy or they suffer. Have you ever noticed how people in Cedar Rapids, for instance, feel more secure when things are running well here? Why shouldn't it be the same for Kuwait?"

"I'm beginning to think you may have something there," Beame said. "We just go in there and grab the treasury, then let them ask the questions later."

"Exactly. Naturally there will be a few spoilsports who say we don't deserve it or that we broke the law or some ridiculous thing like that. We will counter that with technicalities. First, of course, we will point out how we deserved that money since we are a lot more chic and sophisticated than they are. Then we will show — quite honestly, by the way — that there is no provision in the United Nations charter, and not even any Kuwaiti law, that says that the City of New York shall not come in and take all of the money out of their treasury. By that time, it will be a what's-done-is-done situation."

"Lucy, you're a genius. This may be the high point of your career — since you left the Rockettes, of course."

"This is nothing, Abe. Once we've pulled this off, I have another idea: we go out and grab the Rocky Mountains and move them to Central Park."

Just in jest

Today, for every man over 65, there are 7 women of equal age. Which would seem to prove conclusively the poet Browning was right when he wrote: "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be." But, unfortunately, that fellow Browning was simply putting a lot of wishful thinking into nice sounding words. Actually, he was as ignorant about the subject he was discussing as was the fellow who said: "All things come to him who waits." That sentence should have been completed with the warning: "If he doesn't wait too long." The sad truth is, these are days when nasty, lecherous old men never had it so good—for all the good it does them.

Double-edged blade of abortion

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The word from the National Right to Life Committee is that 1.2 million abortions will be performed in America this year — 300,000 more than the last annual count and perhaps a million more than in any of the 197 years prior to the 1973 Supreme Court decision liberalizing applicable laws.

The sum presumably accurate, calls for pause.

I have been, for all my adult life, in favor of abortion on demand — my reason being pragmatic. Women not wanting babies will do almost anything to rid themselves of the burdens, and putting laws in their way is mean logic. I once visited the results of a teenager who tried to terminate her pregnancy with a douse of household chemicals. Her funeral was awful, her mother loudly admitting in sobs that she had refused the girl the money to seek an illegal abortion for fear of the immorality involved.

I remain firm on pragmatism. But I confess as well that the magnitude of the estimated number of abortions this year, in the name of anything, is disquieting. Abortion has become a major branch of the medical industry and at the same time is sliding into the recesses of our collective conscience. Instead of tolerating it necessarily while we search for moral and practical alternatives, we seem to be deciding it as the ultimate solution.

We are making this decision, furthermore, not by common sense but by uncommon intellectualism, the easier way to do it since the process involves percipient argument which while impossible to prove cannot be dismissed either. There is, after all, aphilosophical fundamental in the idea, say, that a woman has a right to do with her body as she pleases. Women do not have this right, of course, nor do men, as witness the laws against suicide or the use of some drugs or the dodging of wartime draft. But even if sovereignty over the body is a myth the argument has humanistic elements — the rights of being over an unbeing—that are more comfortably considered than is the emotional spectrum of morality.

What is wrong with the super-sophistication approach to the abortion question is that it tends to go beyond the capacity of many involved to understand. When does Life begin? Logarithmic answers, of whatever exhaustion, means nothing. Perhaps it was one thing to agree when legal abortion meant scraping out embryonic tissue; it is quite another now that fully formed festuses can be removed under the law, and if not left to expire in silver trays may at times be used as live subjects in experimentations. In either case, the complexities are useless to the common person.

Beyond this, the idea of excusing abortion with academic data gives worry of another sort. As Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo warned: "The tendency of a principle is to expand itself to the limits of its logic." If one can explain away abortion with fancy philosophical footwork, and then experiment on the living fetus, what next? Already it is possible in some areas to abort with the bill paid by health insurance; and it has been suggested that the state too help out, i.e., make it all easier still.

One recalls the utilitarian view of the Germans during Hitler's regime when science was used to expedite the removal of unwanteds from the Reich. An American medical expert at the Nuremberg trials, Dr. Leo Alexander, wrote this of the Nazis' casual concept of responsiblity: "Whatever proportions their crimes finally assumed, it is evident to all who investigated them that they had started from small beginnings . . . a subtle shift in emphasis in the basic attitude of physicians. It started with the acceptance of the attitude that there is such a thing as life not worthy to be lived."

For any who care to see, "the subtle shift in emphasis" may have occured in America as it did in Germany. But less than many seem to worry. Before it's too late, perhaps we should at least own up to the truth. Keep abortion reasonably attainable, if that is our consensus, but call it for what it is: slaughter. To continue to do otherwise, for the purpose of making the issue palatable, puts us in a sense on the road back to the caves.

Russian patient would like visitors

I am a volunteer at Julene Convalescent Center in Pomona where a one to one volunteer program is established.

My reason for this letter is a Russian lady at the convalescent center.. She spends many lonely hours simply because she does not speak English well enough to communicate with the other patients, even though there is another patient who at times translates for her.

Can you imagine spending the majority of your day in silence? She does have relatives who come to see her but if someone would just come out of love and concern during the day, I am sure this would do her a world of good.

I am just wondering if there isn't someone among your readers who speaks Russian and has time to volunteer. — Mrs. M.P., Pomona.

You told us potential volunteers may call Marjorie Jacobsen, director of activities at the center, at 623-0791.

I went to a valley furniture store because I saw an ad about a dresser for $17.

Then I started talkingto a salesman about a living room set. I made it very clear to himthat I wasn't working and that I didn't think that I could afford it.

He insisted that I could be losing nothing because if I could not pay for it, I could get my money back.

I put $10 down and made sure the papers didn't say anything about not being able to get my money back.

In a few days I went back and paid $100 more. I believe that was when the stamp was placed on the contract saying no refunds were granted. I thought that the stamp was the date that the payment was received.

I found that I couldn't afford the furniture after all.

Today when I went back, the man who waited on me asked if I had made a second payment. I told him that I had. He said that on the contract it stated no refunds were given.

The manager told me the salesman who had said I could get my money back wasn't working there any longer.

I hope there is something you can do for me. — E. C., Montclair.

We couldn't help you. Although salesmen often are over zealous, wordson the contract are what matter. On yours, in addition to the words whi/h appeared to be stamped, there was small print stating twice that all sales were final and stating once that your deposit would be forefeited if you canceled or refused to go through with the order.

You told us the store has offered you merchandise in exchange for your $110. We advise you to accept.

Pop tops pop up in our correspondence frequently.

Last year collections of empty cigarette packages, presumably for such worthy causes as seeing eye dogs kidney machine time and iron lungs, were exposed as a hoax.

Then readers wrote in that they thought aluminum pop top collections were also deceitful.

One reader defended them as resulting in exercise and less litter if nothing else.

Mrs. Jean Thatcher of Pomona let us know that they can be extremely valuable.

The woen's auxiliary of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pomona, she told us, collects them and takes them to a recycling center.

Money received for the tabs are sent to the Seeing Eye Foundation.

Now someone has handed us a newspaper clipping showing the same thing is being done by Jolly Sam Clubs in Nebraska and Indiana.

Students and children belonging to Indiana clubs collected 21 pounds of aluminum pop tops for the purchase of guide dogs. Nebraska clubs topped that with 62 pounds.

'Playboy' in India banned, available

Sir, how much would you pay for the privilege of reading "Playboy" magazine? It's banned in India. Ann Landers

Way to handle obscene calls

Dear Ann Landers: My roommate and I have received five obscene phone calls this past week. We're scared to death the person calling knows who we are and where we live.

Please tell us what to say. We've tried being nice, reading the riot act, threatening to notify the police. Nothing works. We need advice. — Sleepless Nights

Dear S.N.: The person who makes obscene phone calls is a sickie who gets his jollies from evoking responses of fear, anxiety or disgust. In short, he enjoys upsetting people.

The moment you realize it's that kind of a call, hang up without saying one word. If he calls a second time, hang up again. A third and fourth — do the same.

Always answer — don't just let the phone ring. Say "Hello," and wait to make sure you know for certain it's the nut. Then hang up. Those creeps usually call from a phone booth. When you answer and hang up, they lose their dimes. Your silence, coupled with the loss of dimes, will almost always discourage the caller before long.

If any threats are made, notify the police at once. If calls persist, call the phone company. In some circumstances the calls can be traced.

Dear Ann Landers: I am the mother of a sick child who is under 5 years of age. The first symptom of his illness is a high fever. He has been hospitalized for convulsions three times.

The problem is the doctor. Because I am high-strung and nervous I become very unsure of myself whenever I think my son is getting sick, so I phone the doctor. He has very little patience. The last time I called he said, "I'm putting this bluntly. Please don't phone every time you think your child is getting sick."

Ann, I hate to be a pest but I get panicky. I realize most doctors are overworked, but we trust them with the lives of our children. I don't want to be afraid to phone the doctor. My child might become dangerously ill before I call him. Then it may be too late. Please tell me what to do. — Frightened Mother

Dear Mother: I might be able to help if I knew how often you have called the doctor in the last month — or week. Four times? Twenty-five times? And what time do you make these calls? Noon? Three in the morning? Also, what did he suggest you do for the child?

Since fever seems to be the symptom, why don't you have an understanding that you won't call unless the child has a temperature of 101 degrees or more? This seems reasonable to me. If it doesn't seem reasonable to HIM — get another doctor.

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do with two teen-agers and an 11-year-old who love to go barefooted? I don't mean just around the house. They leave their shoes at home and go everywhere — visiting friends, to the park, the movies, etc.

My oldest (16) says it's good for the arches and builds up immunity to disease. Please check you experts and tell me if there is any truth to his theories. — Outa My Mind

Dear Outa: My experts said NO. They also said something else. Barefoot kids can pick up stubborn fungus infections, not to mention pieces of glass, rusty nails, and other assorted sources of trouble.

Replace that macaroni in your spine with a little steel, Mother, and tell them, "Nobody leaves this house without sandals, sneakers or some foot protection."

Erma Bombeck

Last glimpse of civilization

I had a dream the other night that every volunteer in this country, disillusioned with the lack of compassion, had set sail for another country.

As I stood smiling on the pier, I shouted, "Good-bye, creamed chicken. Good-bye, phone committees. So long, Disease-of-the Month. No more saving old egg cartons. No more getting out the vote. Au revoir, playground duty, bake sales and three-hour meetings."

As the boat got smaller and they could no longer hear my shouts, I reflected, "Serves them right. A bunch of yes people. All they had to do was to put their tongue firmly against the roof of their mouth and make an O sound. Nnnnnnoooooooo. Nnnnnnnnnnnooooooooo. Nnoo No! No! It would certainly have spared them a lot of grief. Oh well, who needs them!"

The hospital was quiet as I passed it. Rooms were void of books, flowers and voices. The children's wing held no clowns . . . no laughter. The reception desk was vacant.

The Home for the Aged was like a tomb. The blind listened for a voice that never came. The infirm were imprisoned by wheels on a chair that never moved. Food grew cold on trays that would never reach the mouths of the hungry.

All the social agencies had closed their doors, unable to implement their programs of scouting, recreation, drug control, Big Sisters, Big Brothers, YW, YM, the retarded, the crippled, the lonely, and the abandoned.

The health agencies had a sign in the window, "CURES FOR CANCER, MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY, BIRTH DEFECTS, MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS, EMPHYSEMA, SICKLE CELL ANEMIA, KIDNEY DISORDERS, HEART DISEASES, ETC. HAVE BEEN CANCELLED DUE TO LACK OF INTEREST."

The schools were strangely quiet with no field trips, no volunteer aids on the playground or in the classrooms . . . as were the colleges where scholarships and financial support were no more.

The flowers on church altars withered and died. Children in day nurseries lifted their arms but there was no one to hold them in love. Alcoholics cried out in despair, but no one answered and the poor had no recourse for health care or legal aid.

But the saddest part of the journey was the symphony hall, which was dark and would remain that way. So were the museums that had been built and stocked by volunteers with the art treasures of our times.

I fought in my sleep to regain a glimpse of the ship of volunteers just one more time. It was to be my last gli pse of civilization . . . as we eere meant to be.

Dr. Lamb

Heart attack medicines

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it dangerous to take Coumadin, 5 milligrams daily over a long period of time? Also Lanoxin 0.25 mg. daily? Why is it that women are never mentioned when speaking of heart attacks? Women have them too, even some women who don't smoke. I had a myocardial infarction three years ago.

DEAR READER — Many people have taken Coumadin or other anti-clotting medicines for years without ill effents. The decision must be made on an individual basis. Obviously, you have been on it because of your heart attack and as long as you are doing well and your blood clotting mechanism is safe, you should have no problems with it.

The Lanoxin is a purified form of digitalis and is used to strengthen the heart muscle. Your doctor apparently thought you needed it to prevent heart failure from the damage to your heart after your infarction. Some people need it after a heart attack and many others do not. If you need it, and your doctor has prescribed it, you should never, never, never stop it without your doctor's advice. That can lead to serious problems and sudden heart failure.

Women in the childbearing years usually do not have heart attacks, unless they have diabetes, kidney disease or high blood pressure. After the menopaus this changes, and by age 65 the number of women who have heart attacks is about equal to the men. More women are now having heart attacks at earlier ages than in the past, perhaps because more women smoke cigarettes. Commonly, though, before age 60 it is the man who is at greater risk of having a heart attack.

For more information on heart attacks write to me in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station,New York, NY 10019 and ask for The Health Letter Number 2-10, Heart Attack, Myocardial Infarction, Angina Pectoris. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents for mailing and costs.

DEAR DR. LAMB — If a B.U.N. test is on the high side of normal for a woman 59, what foods, etc. should or should not be eaten to bring the count down to normal? Would a cup of hot chocolate made with water every night aggravate the condition? What is the meaning of B.U.N.?

DEAR READER — The blood urea nitrogen is abbreviated as BUN. When we eat more protein than our body needs, the nitrogen-containing part is stripped off and converted to urea. The urea is then eliminated in the urine. Most people in Western societies eat far more protein as adults than they need.

When the kidneys are functioning well, the excess urea is eliminated easily. We measure the amount of urea formed by measuring its nitrogen content. If the kidneys are not functioning well, they will not filter out all the urea formed from excess protein, and the amount in the blood will rise.

Doctors are cautious about overestimating the importance of a high BUN. A person may have a high reading because he or she has not been drinking enough water or because he or she eats high protein diet. A mild elevation by itself, unless there is other evidence of kidney dysfunction from other tests, is not too important. However, it might suggest that if you are eating large amounts of protein, you might want to cut down a little. The hot chocolate at night won't cause a rise in your BUN.

Game force makes grand bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby

On the opposite end of the bidding spectrum from the sign-off is the game force. When a player makes a game-forcing bid, the partnership is committed to keep bidding until game is reached.

North's two-spade response to the opening heart bid was a game force. South's three-heart reply merely revealed that he held a rebiddable heart suit. It said nothing about how good his hand was.

In the language of bids of that particular partnership, North's jump to four spades conveyed the message that his game-forcing bid was based largely on a solid spade suit and not on too many high cards.

It also said: "Partner, if you have a poorish opening bid I am perfectly satisfied to stop at game."

The bid also solved all South's problems for him. He simply bid a Blackwood four notrump. When North showed the two missing aces, South counted to at least 13 top tricks. He bid the slam in notrump because no one could trump any opening lead.

The decision turned out to be a very wise one. East's five hearts would beat a heart grand slam. A heart lead by East would beat a spade grand slam.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN

Ozark hillbillies becoming prosperous on trade with tourists

BRANSON, Mo. — (NEA) — Meet the rich hillbillies of the Ozarks.

For once there is no such animal as a grim recession along the piney ridges of southwest Missouri and northwest Arkansas, once classified as one of the most depressed areas in the U.S.

Now that modern highways have opened up the hill country to tourist travel, the Ozarks are reaping a new kind of harvest — tourist dollars.

Hill families have subsisted forgenerations by "making do" with the sparse crops of their rocky land, the fish and game from their native streams and forests and the herbs, nuts and berries growing wild in the woods. They now are discovering that their pioneer crafts are worth their weight in gold to the "furriners" who tour the mountain roads in steadily increasing numbers.

Handmade quilts which Ozark women used to piece from calico scraps to keep their families warm now sell for $50 to $150 and up at craft centers in the hills. Baskets which farmers used to weave from split oak and hickory bark to sell for a dime apiece a generation ago now bring from $3.50 to $15 or $20, depending on size and workmanship. Collectors comb the backwoods in search of primitive furniture and utensils to use as objects of art in costly modern homes or fashionable antique shops.

The national craft boom has provided a bonanza for the ruggedly independent folks who glory in the name of hillbilly.

Two of the biggest centers for pioneer crafts are Silver Dollar City, near Brnson, and the new Ozark Folk Center at Mountain View, Ark. Both anticipate more than a million visitors during the tourist season, which starts in April and runs through October. Don Richardson, manager of the Silver Dollar City Chamber of Commerce, says:

"Attendance has increased each year except one, 1969, since our opening in 1963. This year we are adding a new event, the Festival of Mountain Folks' Music in June and are extending the annual fall National Festival of Craftsmen to three weeks — Saturday, Sept. 20 through Sunday, Oct. 12."

Bill Daum, recreation director of the Ozark Folk Center, says:

'We're stretching Social Security checks for the senior citizens around here. In almost every home in Stone County you can find someone who is skilled in pioneer crafts passed down through the generations and who is willing to demonstrate them at the Folk Center."

The Folk Center, opened in 1973, is an imposing compound built on a mountain top overlooking the little town of Mountain View, Ark. It was built-with a federal grant of $3.4 million and is owned by the twon of Mountain View. It is operated by the State of Arkansas as a state park and includes a huge auditorium devoted to folk music concerts every evening plus a compound where craftsmen of the region demonstrate 17 pioneer crafts. These range from spinning, weaving and quilting to the making of applehead and cornshuck dolls, pottery, blackumithing and basket making. Music is provided by Jimmy Driftwood and his Rackensack Society, all residents of the area.

Typical of the newly prosperous craft families who have found an unlimited market at the craft festivals is the Sanders family of Centralia, Mo. Their newly remodeled farmhouse stands in the center of a square mile of cornfields. Neville Sanders farms his ancestral acres as he always has done, but his wife Jewel has found a national demand for the cornshuck dolls and flower arrangements she makes from the one-discarded cornshucks. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders and their three children — Scott, 20, Susie, 18, and Sherry, 17 work the year round making cornshuck tiems they demonstrate and sell during fall festivals at Silver Dollar City and elsewhere. Scott and his father make miniature barns and furniture from old timbers found on their farm while Mrs. Sanders and the two girls fashion the cornshucks into hillbilly dolls, angels, wreaths and flowers. Their sales are limited only by their production capacity and they ship their cornshuck creations to gift shops throughout the country.

Another couple who found a new way of life through the Silver Dollar City festival is Wilford and Irene Haymes of Conway, Mo. When Wilford had a heart attack a few years ago and was unable to work his farm, things looked black for the Haymes family. But Irene persuaded her husband to learn chair caning at a local craft class. Not to be outdone, Mrs. Haymes experimented with making cornshuck seats for chairs, footstools and benches and now joins her husband each fall at the National Festival of Craftsmen. Both have all the work they can do the year round.

Wilford makes all the tools he needs, including an electric lathe, from discarded implements and junk around the farm. He remarks: "I always heard a man was no good if he couldn't make his own tools."

The nostalgia boom has benefited the craftsmen of the hills and the businessmen of the whole Ozark area. It is reflected in the hundreds of new luxury motels around the Table Rock, Taneecomo and Bull Shoals lake areas of Missouri and Arkansas as well as the scenic mountain regions around Mountain View, Mountainburg and Eureka Springs, Ark.

Outlanders are charmed by the pioneer dress of shopkeepers, waitresses and craftsmen in the hill country, where folks still are friendly, and always have time to stop and give directions such as these to a tourist:

"Wall, ye jest keep goin' past Mutton Hollow an' the Wilderness settlement, past the old hog waller and across the crick, then take the first turn after the hangin' tree."

CORNSHUCKERY — The Sanders family of Centralia, Mo., pitches in to make cornshuck dolls, flower arrangements and miniature wood items — all from farm discards. Working to meet orders are Mrs. Jewel Sanders, daughters Susie and Sherry, front left to right, and son Scott and Jewel's husband, Neville in back.

But some have moments

Life of a private eye anything but glitter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Private detectives, as we know from fiction and films, rescue beautiful blondes in distress, brawl at the drop of a retainer fee and solve cases that are too tough for the police.

As we also know, that's all myth. Most private detective work is mundane, dreary and about as exciting and dangerous as balancing your checkbook.

But John O'Grady, who was known as the "Big O" when he was a drug-busting narcotics cop, comes close to the myth.

Unlike most private eyes, who do only accident investigations, security and surveillance, O'Grady, 49, takes on everything from robbery to blackmail to murder.

He helped prove the innocence of the first person arrested in the Sharon Tate murders. He snatched kids in Frankfurt, Germany, and whisked them back to the United States in a parental custody battle.

He tracked one executive who allegedly absconded with $156,000 all across Europe, to a Caribbean island, then to New Zealand and Singapore. He never caught him, and the closest he got was in a chase to the Lisbon airport. But he lost him when Portugese police threw him into jail for 16 hours for an improperly validated passport.

O'Grady, who likes to hobnob with Hollywood celebrities and handle their cases, carefully cultivates his image. He calls himself "Hollywood's No. 1 private eye." His exploits are recounted in a new book, "O'Grady." The book borders on hornblowing, but it is leavened by a tongue-in-cheek approach.

As head of the Hollywood narcotics division of the Los Angeles police, O'Grady ran a flamboyant and well-publicized operation. Finally, his free-wheeling tactics got him busted to a quiet precinct in the San Fernando Valley. In retrospect, O'Grady said he had come to believe his own publicity.

On television, the private eyes solve murders that baffle the police. In real life, private detectives usually steer clear of murder. The police like it that way.

"Solving murders is strictly for the police," said O'Grady.

"I've worked on 25 murder cases in seven years, but I've never solved one. You may do a background investigation of a witness."

In the summer of 1969, however, he got involved in the bizarre murders of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons in Bel Air. The estate caretaker, Bill Garrison, was arrested, and his attorney called O'Grady.

The case against Garrison was weak and on his release from jail O'Grady gave him a lie detector test which O'Grady said established his innocence. Garrison was soon exonerated by the police and Charles Manson and some members of his clan were later convicted of the murders.

O'Grady operates out of a small suite on the Sunset Strip, where he has a polygraph-lie detector-built into a desk. When he goes out of town, he takes a portable machine. After he retired from the police, O'Grady took special courses in the operation of the polygraph, and at $150 a test it now provides about half of his income.

O'Grady rarely carries a gun and avoids physical encounters. If he's guarding a celebrity such as Elvis Presley he relies on bravado to ward off violence.

He's never been shot at, and if he is, he said, "I'll quit." He said he's shot only one man as a private detective. That happened one night when he was doing security work at a store and stopped an employe who was acting suspiciously. The employe grabbed a baseball bat and laid it across O'Grady's back. O'Grady said he shot the man, who survived.

He has eight trained detectives on his staff and accepts cases only from attorneys. That rules out any beautiful heiresses who might drop in for help.

"There are a lot of scroungers in this business," he said.

"They're damned lucky to make a living. Most private detectives are involved only in security and surveillence. I don't do surveillence unless the client authorizes a helicopter at $115 an hour. You can't follow a car on the freeway without a helicopter."

He said the private detective business is expensive and he now works only on a fee-plus-expenses basis. That round-the-world missing persons case cost $9,200 for air fares alone.

The reason he charges expenses separately goes back to his first missing persons case. He was hired to find a wealthy man who had apparently died on a hunting trip in wild, mountainous country.

"An estate of over $1.5 million was involved and they couldn't wait seven years to have him declared legally dead," he said.

"I bid $5,000 for the case and made exactly $14. I had to hire a tracker, snow cats and a helicopter." But he found the body.

O'Grady, who dresses in modish tailor-made clothes, said, "Police are so stereotyped in dress that they're highly identifiable. The conservative dress is a turnoff for anytne you deal with. If you dress the way I do you can move among hookers and con artists."

O'Grady said, "The most difficult thing for me to do was change my basic police attitude. I had to become a businessman. It's a way of dressing, not being so cynical and not standing there figuring out how I can arrest someone."

He said he watches all the TV detective shows and reads all the books he can.

"I like "Mannix" as a personality, but the stories are weak and unbelievable," he said. He likes "Kojak," although he says it's theatrical, and believes that Jack Lord in "Hawaii Five—0" is the most believable.

He doesn't like "The Rockford Files" and he doesn't like "Cannon" because he thinks the 250-pound, tough-talking detective played by William Conrad doesn't fit the image of the private eye.

"I believe leanness is part of the myth," he said. "That's why I play handball every day. Women expect you to be suave and as attractive as God allows you to be."

Sometimes he mixes business with pleasure. He likes to be around Hollywood celebrities and finds that it brings him work. After a case for Elvis Presley, he said, they became close friends and he was initiated into the "Memphis Mafia." He wears a gold bracelet which he said certifies him as a member of the clan. Presley calls him "The Reverend."

"I like having an ego," he said. "I associate it with pride and confidence. I can't tell a person I can't solve a case because I'll lose the client.

"You've got to give your client confidence. Sometimes just by listening to their problems you give them relief and confidence."

O'Grady said much of his business comes to him because he is one of the few private detectives trained in the use of the polygraph.

Too many wood chips

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An oversupply of wood chips has caused the giant Weyerhaeuser Lumber Co. to stop buying them.

It has been estimated 90 to 100 mills in the Pacific Northwest will be affected by this decision. Some mills have predicted they will have to shut down.

Area students earn degrees

Graduates in the Class of 1975 are JOAN MOECKEL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Moeckel of Pomona; FRANCIS DE JOSEPH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter De Joseph of Cucamonga; and ANNA CROWELL, daughter of Una Fittock of Chino.

PAMELA JANE BRESSLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Bressler of Pomona, and DEBORAH ANN YOUNG, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young of Mt. Baldy, were among the 397 students awarded degrees from Anderson (Indiana) College in June commencement exercises.

The liberal arts college in Indiana is affiliated with the Church of God.

OTIS QUATTLEBAUM of Pomona and ROBERT V. OWENS of Ala Loma, both fully employed, were awarded master of science degrees at West Coast University commencement exercises recently.

Both men completed their academic programs entirely through evening classes.

WILFRED W. H. SOELTER of Upland and ROBERT KURT WALLOR of Diamond Bar were among the 234 graduates awarded law degrees from Western State University College of Law of Orange County during commencement ceremonies this month.

Leon Jaworski, former special prosecutor for the Watergate inquiry, was commencement speaker. Ceremonies were at the Anaheim Convention Center.

CHARLES C. WALKER, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Walker of Chino, was graduated with highest honors at UC Davis. He received a B.A. degree in bacteriology and was awarded the bacteriology department citation of excellence.

Upland focus on crafts

Arts and crafts, dramatic and Indian lore programs are among the special interest projects being conducted this summer by the Upland Recreation Department.

Among the recreation arts and crafts programs offered at the various school playgrounds are bottle people, batiking, raffia work, copper enameling, collage, tie-dye, macrame and string art.

The arts and crafts classes extend through July 15 at elementary schools in Upland.

A class in creative play and dramatics for boys and girls from 9 to 12 is being conducted in cooperation with the Upland Public Library.

Drama classes will be held on Mondays from 10 to 11 a.m. at the library with Emily Lee as instructor. The program will progress from simplest of coordination games to pantomime acting.

A program of Indian olympics has been developed by Cal Poly recreation student Bill Dies for summer activities at Memorial Park.

The olympics are organized groups of relays with youngsters painted like Indians and competing in tribal activities.

Persons interested in additional information on any of the programs may call the Upland Recreation Department, 982-1352, extension 55 or 56.

MSAC has diverse summer recreation

An intensive summer recreation program, designed to accommodate participants from 2 to 70, is being offered this year by Mt. San Antonio College.

The program will range from swim classes and recreation to tennis, track, basketball and a variety of dance forms, in more than 100 events.

Swim activities start Sunday and include junior and senior lifesaving, "Mommy & Me," swimnastics, synchronized swimming, diving, and beginning, intermediate, advanced swim ing.

Open recreational swimming for all community residents will run to Aug. 23. Children 12 and under will be admitted for 25 cents, older than 12 for 50 cents. Season passes are available for children 12 and under at $10; adults $15, and family, $25.

Residents may swim from 1 to 3:45 p.m. Mondays through Fridays; noon to 4:45 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays; and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays.

Boys and girls 8 to 14 are invited to take part in European Sports Camp. Registration is by mail only. A fee of $20 must accompany each registration. Sessions will begin for 8 to 12 years olds on July 14 and July 21 and for 12 to 14 year olds on July 28. A special Olympic session for all boys and girls who have had sports experience will meet beginning Aug. 11.

All comers track meets are scheduled for June 26, July 10, 24, Aug. 2, 7 and 21 from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Memorial Stadium. Evening track and field events are set for July 21 from 5 to 9 p.m. at the MSAC Stadium and on Aug. 14 from 5 to 9 p.m. at Suzanne Park, West Covina.

Tennis classes will begin today and run to Aug. 13. Lessons will be held each Wednesday from 5 to 6 p.m. Registration fee is $5. Recreational open tennis will run to Aug. 22 Mondays through Fridays from 2 to 6 p.m.

Women's fitness will again have a full program from open individual workouts to jogging, group exercise and teen figure control.

Yoga and dance classes start this week. Classes offered include ballroom, belly, tap, modern, beginning and intermediate Tahitian, ballet and jazz, as well as yoga.

Boozy dies from job

THE HELPFUL HAND

THE SUPPLEMENTAL ACCIDENT POLICY OFFERED AS A SERVICE TO READERS

Progress Bulletin

HOW THIS POLICY CAN HELP YOU

$17 a day when confined to the hospital by a covered accident.

$10 for x-ray examination expense.

$6 for doctor visit, up to 5 visits.

Accidental death benefits—from $500 to as much as $8,000.

WHAT THIS POLICY PROVIDES

WHEN YOU ARE HOSPITALIZED BY A COVERED ACCIDENT:
$17.00 a day in hospital benefit up to 90 days (increasing in 5 years to 150 days). Hospitalization must occur within 5 days of accident.

AMBULANCE BENEFIT:
To and from the hospital, up to $30.00.

X-RAY EXPENSE BENEFIT:
In doctor's office or hospital: $10.00.

SURGICAL OPERATION BENEFIT:
There is a schedule of amounts listed in the policy ranging from $5 for a broken toe or finger to $100 for a broken thigh in unspecified accidents for fractures, dislocations, skin grafts, etc., and other amounts depending on the nature of the accident.

MEDICAL EXPENSE BENEFIT:
Up to $6.00 a visit for 5 visits, payable if you do not receive benefit for death and dismemberment, or hospital or surgical.

SPECIFIED DISEASE BENEFIT:
75% of medical and hospital expense incurred in 3 years, but not more than $1,000.00, for leukemia, spinal meningitis, encephalitis, rabies, tetanus, polio, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, tularemia, typhoid, which manifests itself not earlier than 15 days after the effective date of the policy. Specified diseases manifesting themselves prior to the policy effective date will not be covered until the policy has been in force for two years.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH BENEFITS:
For death, dismemberment and loss of sight occurring within 90 days of accident. If this benefit is paid, no other benefit will be payable under the policy. Double dismemberment pays the same as death, single dismemberment pays one-half. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits reduce one-half at age 65. Increases shown reflect 1% a month in benefit each month policy is in force up to 60 months.

Covered freeway, tollroad, airplane and steamship accidents: $5,000.00 increasing to $8,000.00. Bus, taxi, streetcar, subway, elevated: $3,000.00 increasing to $4,800.00. Automobile, pedestrian, farm, etc., accidents: $1,500.00 increasing to $2,400.00. Other accidents, at home, work, play or school: $500.00 increasing to $800.00. Railroad passenger car accident: $10,000.00. All as defined in the policy.

Accidental death and dismemberment benefits limited to $15,000.00 in all policies you may have with the Company.

EXCEPTIONS: Does not cover in a mine; warfare; auto races; airplanes, except as a fare-paying passenger on scheduled flight; suicide or attempt thereat; intentionally self-inflicted injury; hernia however incurred; carbon monoxide poisoning; sickness, except those specified, and confinement in rest homes, nursing homes, etc., or in a U. S. Veterans Administration hospital. Or while under the influence of intoxicants or narcotics or while engaged in a crime.

RENEWABLE at the option of the Company. Premium rate subject to change.

ROTARY VISIT — Gerald R. Case of 1272 Los Robles Place, Pomona, visited the headquarters of Rotary International in Evanston, Ill., recently.

A retired business counselor, Case is a member and past president of the Pomona Rotary Club. During his tour, he viewed a 120-stone display, with each stone representing a different Rotary country.

ACCEPTED BY COUNTY — Los Angeles County supervisors have accepted for operation and maintenance one storm drain in La Verne and two others in Walnut.

The La Verne drain is 268 feet long and involves Carmen Court and Edison Street outlets into San Dimas Wash.

The Walnut drains include one that is 535 feet long at Vejar and Pierra roads and a second that is 1,134 feet long and located at Pierre and La Puente roads, Divone and DeLoraine drives and Aborla lane.

WINE DIRECTORIES — Four winemen from the West End of San Bernardino County have been elected to the Wine Institute's board of directors at the 41st annual membership meeting in San Francisco.

They are Michael Biane and Pierre Biane, Brookside Vineyard Co., Joseph A. Filippi Jr., J. Filippi Vintage Co., and Michael Levitt, Cucamonga Vineyard Co.

NEW APPOINTMENT — William Penn Mott Jr., former director of the California Department of Parks and Recreation, has been named president and chief executive officer of the California State Parks Foundation.

The foundation was formed to encourage private interest and contributions to the state parks system.

Openings in co-op teacher project

The Cal Poly teacher preparation center is seeking qualified candidates to participate in its cooperative teacher preparation program with neighboring school districts for the 1975-76 academic year.

Cooperative teachers serve as professional members of educational staff teams that are supported by district and university resources at the school site. These teachers work on specific projects in early childhood education, bilingual education and general education.

Candidates for the program should have at least a senior in college, be able to perform well under pressure and have documented work experience with child, youth or people-oriented occupations.

According to Alvin H. Thompson, director of the teacher preparation center, cooperative teacher participants receive approximately $1,600 for the September through June academic year.

Interested persons are asked to contact Thompson at Cal Poly, room 228 of the School of Arts Building or call 598-4762.

Streater named to Walnut water post

Jerry Streater has been named president of the Walnut Valley Water District board, filling the vacancy caused by the death of board President Dr. Andrew J. Rodzinak in March.

Harold W. Maupin of Diamond Bar was appointed as a new board member.

Streater, who has served with the district for eight years, gained his directorship for Division 5, which contains the central portion of the district's service area, by election in November 1967.

In 1971, Streater was elected first vice president and has served on various board committees.

Dr. Rodzinak's death left a vacancy for director in Division 2, which serves the northern portion of Diamond Bar and the western end of Pomona.

Maupin was selected from several aspirants to fill the post. A Diamond Bar resident for 10 years, he is active in Boy Scouts and the Diamond Bar Home Owners Association.

Second vice president and long-time board member Pete Bourdet was appointed first vice president and John Fisher, who joined the board in June of 1974, was voted second vice president, completing the reorganization.

Grant director says mistakes will be made

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — The director of the National Science Foundation, which has given federal grants to study the social behavior of bears and why aborigines perspire, says mistakes have been made.

But, said Dr. H. Guyford Stever, there are about 14,000 scientific research grants annually and must deal with new subjects.

Joyce Brothers

Promiscuous life

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: We live in a sophisticated community where sex, drugs and alcohol are used and abused by adults and teenagers. Everyone is aware of the adults' extramarital action. I suppose even the children. My wife and I have stayed clear of the swinging set. However, we're concerned about our 14- and 16-year-old daughters who are part of the fast-paced high school set. Both girls are exceptionally attractive and we'd like to avoid their being swept up into what we feel is a sexually promiscuous life. On the other hand, I don't want them to be prudes.

How does one find an in-between? I'm afraid half the girls in their school use birth control or have had abortions. I doubt that there are more than a handful of virgins. I see no point in moving to another community, even if I could, because I doubt that it would be all that different somewhere else. — V.J.

Dear V.J.: Obviously, there is no easy solution to your problem, for when young people are surrounded by a climate of promiscuity and permissiveness, they're bound to reflect it. However, studies have indicated that sexual promiscuity among teenagers is not the result of too much information about sex, but is more often the result of insufficient guidance, support and affection at home.

Youngsters sometimes turn to others their own age for the physical affection and reassurance that they really hope to get from their parents. In their search for love and approval, they may become promiscuous. On the other hand, if there is too close an intimacy and attraction with the parent of the opposite sex, the youngster may try to sever that disturbing emotional tie by trying to become sexually involved with his or her peers. In other words, sexual promiscuity among teenagers can sometimes result from a fear of an incestuous attraction to a parent, or from a fear of homosexuality.

There is a fragile line between giving a teenager too much affection and too little. Perhaps the most important point in guiding adolescents through their sexual world is to help them respect and be responsible to their own bodies. It's important to teach children to value themselves and others, and to do this, the parents must have and live by an ethical, moral value system of their own.

Many Facets to Love

I also think it's important, because children today are so surrounded by sex, to teach them that sex is not the only way in which we give and express love. They need to know that there are other forms of love and devotion that are equally important and often more enduring.

Whether or not teenaged girls should be given the pill is a matter for the parents to determine. Adolescents differ; some reach maturity at a much earlier age than others. Some may feel that by suggesting birth control measures, their parents are pushing them into experiences they don't feel ready for, or they may feel that the parent is giving tacit approval for sexual promiscuity.

Sometimes it's helpful for the parent of teenagers to discuss questions and problems with the family doctor who may know more about the sex life of their child than the parent himself.

I believe it's more helpful to the adolescent if intimate talks occur between parent and child of the same sex, rather than opposite sex. It is usually less embarrassing and less emptionally disturbing for both parent and child. The most important thing is for lines of communication to be kept open so that the teenager feels he has some adult with whom he or she can discuss problems and get advice.

Beta Sigma Phi installs leaders

Mrs. Betty Hopkins of Xi Theta Gamma was recently installed as president of the Foothill Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi.

Juniors schedule activity

The Junior Women's Club of Chino Valley has planned an open house from 4 to 8 p.m., Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Janet McCalla, Chino. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Proceeds from the plant sale which will be a part of the open house will go for community improvement.

Interested persons may call 628-2832 for more information about the open house.

The Junior club is open to any young woman between the ages of 18 and 35 who resides in the Chino area. In September the Juniors will meet every second Tuesday at the Chino Library at 7:30 p.m.

DAR names new leaders

Newly elected officers for Pomona Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are: Mmes. W. T. Cox, regent; B. F. Hendricks, vice regent; H. W. Covington, chaplain; Franklin Scudder, treasurer; D. L. McMahan, historian; and Joseph Easterday, librarian.

Lamaze classes beginning

For pre-registration information interested parties may call Carole A. Pagliughi, 985-6911 or 985-0080.

December wedding planned

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtney of Diamond Bar announce the engagement of their daughter, Terry Ann, to Raymond Walls of Pomona.

TERRY COURTNEY

The bride-to-be is an accounting major at Cal Poly, Pomona. She is a 1973 graduate of Ganesha High School in Pomona.

Mr. Walls, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walls of Corona, is also an accounting major at Cal Poly. The future bridegroom served in the U.S. Army and was stationed in Vietnam and Germany.

The couple will be married Dec. 14 at Christ The King Lutheran Church in Walnut.

MR. AND MRS. EDMUND F. AIREY

Edmund Aireys mark 50th year

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Airey celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently with a special Mass at St. Martha's Catholic Church, La Puente. The principal concelebrant was Most Rev. Msgr. Francis X. Singleton. P.A., Fresno, former classmate of the couple.

Also participating in the ceremony were three grandsons and eight other priests, all longtime friends. Music was provided by the Sisters of St. Anastasia's Convent, Los Angeles.

The couple had nine children. The seven remaining children and their spouses were all present. They included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Engh, Westchester; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund F. Airey Jr., Walnut; Mr. and Mrs. Jean B. Airey, BlueJay; Miss Mary Louise Airey, Altadena; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ballew, Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Airey, Lompoc; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Larson, Fountain Valley. All of their 16 grandchildren were present.

A reception and dinner dance for 400 guests was held at Pomona National Golf Club. Music was provided by a mariachi trio and a dance band.

Mr. and Mrs. Airey have resided for 48 years in Walnut. Mr. Airey served as first general manager and treasurer of the Walnut Valley Water District, which was formed in 1952.

In 1936, with income coming largely from the Ford Motor Co., the Ford Foundation was set up to support education, culture and community welfare in the U.S. and abroad.

Surfer sandwich: aloha nui oha

Tortilla-like homemade onion bread done in a dry skillet combined with fresh vegetables, leftover meat or cold cuts and fresh Hawaiian pineapple combine to produce the surfer sandwich.

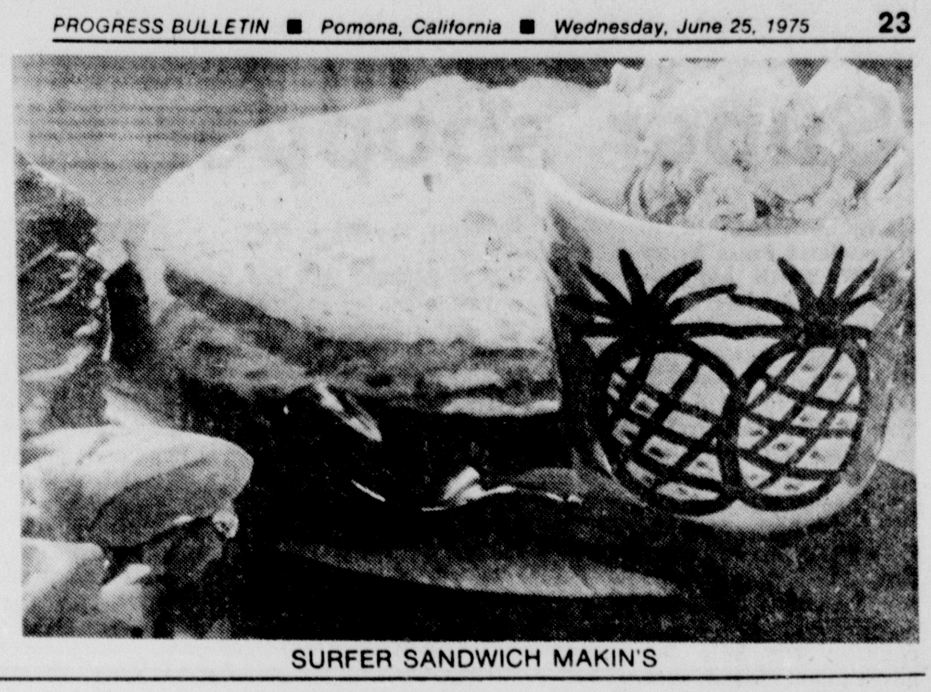

Standout attraction of this crisp and cool summer dish is the onion pan bread used as a bottom layer and eventually folded over layered meat, vegetables, cheese and fruit and eaten taco-style. Surfer sandwiches also can be eaten with knife and fork.

SURFER SANDWICH

2 (3) ounce) packages cream cheese
1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
¾ teaspoon dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped celery
¾ cup sliced radishes (about 12)
¾ cup diced Muenster cheese (¼ pound)
¼ cup finely chopped parsley
Onion Flat Bread
1 (1 pound 4 ounce) can pineapple chunks
Thinly sliced ham, roast beef or turkey
Crisp romaine leaves

Beat cream cheese, horseradish, dill weed and salt together. Stir in celery, radishes, Muenster cheese and parsley. Chill while preparing Onion Flat Bread. When ready to serve, drain pineapple well. Fold into cheese-vegetable mixture. Place an Onion Flat Bread round on each serving plate. Top with thin slices ham, beef or turkey. Place romaine leaf on top and spoon ½ cup pineapple mixture in each. Serve openface with knife and fork, or fold over and eat taco-style. Makes 8 servings.

Onion Flat Bread: Saute ¾ cup finely chopped onion in 1 tablespoon butter until soft but not brown. Remove from heat. Add 2 tablespoons soft butter, ½ cup warm water and ¾ teaspoon salt. Beat in 1¾ cups sifted flour, ½ cup at a time. Divide and shape dough into 8 balls. On well floured board, roll each ball very thin to a 7-inch circle. Heat heavy skillet or griddle until drops of water sizzle. Bake doughrounds about 3 minutes each side on ungreased skillet. Keep warm in lightly dampened towel on slow oven (or let cool on wire racks, if crisp bread is preferred). Makes 8.

Don't forget citrus fruit for camping

The National Park Service is anticipating a record year at the nation's 288 federal parks, according to Edwin Winge of the National Park Service's Western region.

Winge says that southern parks in the national system had the biggest winter season in history, some up as much as 40 per cent. The camping boom is expected to continue through summer in federal, as well as state and local parks, as consumers look for economical ways to vacation this summer.

Campers are finding they can save more money than ever with reasonable planning. Food costs should be watched as carefully on the road or in camp as they are at home. It is usually best to stock up on staples in reasonable quantities before you leave home. Costs at the local supermarket are almost always lower than prices in resort areas.

Good camp food is nutritious, versatile, popular with the family and easy to prepare. Take, for example, fresh oranges. They're loaded with vitamin C and good nutrition. They can be eaten as is, turned into juice, or used in salads, main dishes, or camp-style desserts. Young and old alike are fond of fresh oranges for their sweet, thirst-quenching goodness in hot summer weather. Camp cooks appreciate fresh oranges because they travel well and do not bruise as easily as many other fresh produce items. Preparation is so easy. Peel or quarter an oragne for eating out-of-hand.

You also can use fresh western-grown oranges for quick food ideas. For example, make an easy and economical main dish with canned luncheon meat. Slice the meat, brown in a skillet and add a can of drained sweet potatoes. Squeeze in the juice of an orange, add some brown sugar, and simmer until glazed and heated through. Stretch a dwindling supply of fresh salad vegetables by tossing in some bite-size pieces of fresh orange, or make a f uit plate with fresh or canned fruit and cartwheels of fresh peeled oranges.

Fresh lemons are another good take-along food. You can use them for making lemonade, for sparking up the flavor of canned vegetables or for making marinades and basting sauces. Lemon adds a refreshing tang to iced tea, can be used in making salad dressings, or can be squeezed on fish.

Summer grapefruit from California is another popular citrus fruit which can be used in camp for breakfast, lunch, dinner, or snacks.

Ecology-minded campers appreciate the fact that fresh citrus fruits come in their own packages. This eliminates the problems of disposal, weight, and breakability of cans or glass bottles or jars. Budge watcher will find fresh western-grown fruits especially economical as bumper crops continue to arrive in local markets.

Fishermen love to be surprised with a juicy orange or lemon in their knapsack. Oranges and lemons travel and eat well, whether it's stream or boat fishing. There's campsite relaxation in slowly peeling andeating an orange between casting and catching. Oranges can serve like K rations to stave off hunger if your fishermen wants to catch "just one more." Lemons add zest to the fish entree.

CAMPFIRE FISH
(2 servings)

1 pound fresh caught fish, whole or filleted
1 teaspoon fresh grated lemon peel (optional)
¼ cup fresh squeezed lemon juice
1 tablespoon snipped fresh parsley OR
⅛ teaspoon dried parsley flakes
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon salad oil
Fresh lemon wedges

Place fish in shallow dish or plastic bag. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over fish. Turn fish over several times making sure it is completely coated with marinade inside and out. Marinate for 15 minutes. Grill over medium coals or pan fry until brown and fish flakes easily with fork. Serve immediately with fresh lemon wedges. This is also great with store-bought fish, cooked on the grill.

Super shopper stumps for safety

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Adrienne Zeidner is a supershopper. Armed with a list and a letter of introduction from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, she searches the aisles of retail stores for dangerous toys and other banned products.

Mrs. Zeidner's official title is "volunteer consumer deputy." She is one of several thousand such volunteers across the country who help the government make sure that stores are complying with safety regulations.

The program started two years ago when the Product Safety Commission enlisted the volunteers to check during the Christmas season for toys that were on the agency's banned list. Since then, according to the commission, volunteers have checked more than one million stores.

About 1,000 deputies were sent into the field this spring to survey sleepwear displays in connection with new commission standards on flammability and another group of volunteers will be making sure that containers for potentially dangerous items like oven cleaner are "childproof."

The 14 regional commission offices recruit volunteers through community and charitable groups. The commission provides training, letters of introduction that volunteers present to store managers and information on what to look for.

Mrs. Zeidner, director of the Up County Consumer Informtion Center in suburban Mount Kisco, N.Y., became a volunteer deputy last fall. She and other participants who signed up for the two-hour training session were given an alphabetical list of banned products and their manufacturers. They were told what they could — and could not — do.

"You're a consumer educator," said Mrs. Zeidner, lho added that managers of the dozen or so stores she has visited have been generally cooperative.

The deputies have no legal authority. They must get the okay of the store manager to inspect an outlet. If they find a product displayed in violation of commission regulations, they explain the situation to the manager, show him the rule involved and ask him to remove the item from the shelves. If he refuses, the deputies report the store to the commission.

Some of the things Mrs. Zeidner finds are covered by common sense rather than formal rules. "We were checking stock in one store when we found tacks for golf shoes near party favors right in reach of a child," she recalled. "We asked the manager to move the sporting equipment and he did."

Mrs. Zeidner said she sticks fairly closely to the prepared introduction given her by the commission. "I am a consumer deputy and I wish to conduct consumer survey ..."

In her introduction, Mrs. Zeidner explains she is not an employe of the commission, but is simply a volunteer — and a consumer.

Mrs. Zeidner, who has two children, a 7-year-old boy and a 5-year-old girl, brings her safety work home with her.

Her children, she said, tell her what toys are safe. "They are almost brainwashed ... I have tuned them out of TV commercials and into safety."

She said the work of the volunteer deputies is necessary. "If laws are passed you have to have a group such as ours to make sure they're enforced. Otherwise, what good are they?"

Mrs. Zeidner now is looking at sleepwear displays. A new federal flammability standard for children's sleepwear, sizes 7 to 14, took effect May 1. An earlier regulation covered children's sleepwear sizes 0 to 6x.

Under the rules, all children's sleepwear, up to size 14, manufactured or imported after May 1 must be flame-resistant. Sleepwear in sizes 7 to 14 also must carry a label readi : "Flame resistant — U.S. Standard FF 5-74."

Garments manufactured or imported before May 1 not complying with the standard must be displayed separately and both kinds of sleepwear must be identified with signs in letters at least one inch high.

One-room school revived

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Second graders from the Lucas Valley School near here spent a day at the old one-room Dixie Schoolhouse to discover the difference in their modern education and that of the 1869 era.

The children dressed in clothes of the period, long dresses, bonnets, caps and hats. They sat and did their lessons at the old wooden desks. Missing was the old pot-bellied wood stove so typical of the small country schools of that day.

The Dixie School was made a historical landmark several years ago.

Empress Sabra Chicken: 2 world fare

Long regarded as possibly the world's best example of the culinary art, Chinese cooking already had reached a high stage of development before most other ancient civilizations had been established.

Since the age of the Five Emperors, 2674-2183 B.C., Chinese chefs created interesting dishes to please imperial palates.

CHEF LUI FOON

Among favorite foods prepared in a fascinating variety of ways by these master chefs of yor was chicken. A common belief at the time stated that chicken possessed the five virtues — elegance, spirit, bravery, benevolence and trustworthiness. By eating it, one supposedly would gain these virtues. Also, since chicken was a tasty morsel that could be prepared in many different ways, it often was on the daily court menu.

Today, master chef Lui Foon follows traditions established by his ancient predecessors at San Francisco's famed Empress of China roof-garden restaurant. He presides over a corps of chefs, each an expert of his native regional fare, and a 71-foot Chinese wok-oven-range, largest in the U.S. Master chef Foon was born and grew up in Kwan-tung Province, where he followed in the footsteps of his family, many of whom served over the generations as chefs at the royal court in Peking.

Included in his many hundreds of rare recipes are more than 200 ways to cook chicken! Recently, he added one more, inspired by Sabra, the native orange-chocolate liqueur of another ancient land, Isreal. His new creation was named Empress Sabra Chicken, combining a touch of the Mideast in an Oriental dish.

You can create this gourmet delight in your own kitchen by following master chef Foon's simple recipe.

EMPRESS SABRA CHICKEN

Cut up chicken breasts into 12 ¾ to 1-inch square pieces and marinate with 2 tablespoons of light soy sauce for ½ hour. Add 1 tablespoon of Sabra liqueur during last five minutes of marination.

Mix white of one egg with 1 tablespoon of corn starch and ¼ teaspoon of salt. Coat chicken pieces in this mixture.

Heat four cups of cooking oil to a boil in large skillet. Then, place chicken pieces in boiling oil. Cook until golden brown. Remove with strainer or slotted spoon and drain dry on paper towel. Remove most of hot oil from skillet, retaining 3 tablespoons for later use.

Make a mixture "A" of 8 whole (canned) lichee fruit, 6 ¾ to 1-inch squares of green pepper, 12 (canned) pineapple clubes and 4 (canned) loquat fruit. Slice lichee and loquat fruits in half. If lichee and loquat fruits are not available, they can be omitted.

Make a mixture "B" of 1 tablespoon vinegar, ½ cup tomato sauce, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 cup water and a pinch of salt. Stir these ingredients thoroughly.

Bring skillet with 3 tablespoons of oil to a high heat. Add mixtures "A" and "B". Stir to a boil. Add 2 tablespoons "thickening" (corn starch mixed thoroughly with ½ cup water). Then place cooked chicken in skillet. Bring to a boil again. Pour 1 tablespoon of Sabra liqueur into skillet stirring rapidly, for a few seconds and serve. Meal serves two people. Serve with boiled rice.

New book on Italian cooking

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Books on Italian cooking are not exactly new, but one has crossed my desk that intrigues me because of the space devoted, not only to recipes, but to the origins and evolution of this cuisine.

The book, "Italian Cooking Home Style" (published by H.P. Books of Tucson, Ariz.), by Pauline N. Barrese, who normally writes poetry and short stories, waxes lyrical over the basics of the Italian cuisine: olives and olive oil, wine, herbs and cheese.

The use of olives and their oil, she says, dates back to 600 B.C. when the Romans were planting olive groves and pickling the fruit.

The author shoots down the popular theory that most olive oils are the same. An olive picked too early, she says, makes for a bitter, unpalatable oil, whereas one picked too late gives forth a greasy, pungent oil that quickly turns rancid.

Turning to wine, the author notes that it is essential to Italian culinary repertoires, whether it be veal cutlets cooked in Bardolino from the eastern shores of Lake Garda or chicken simmered in Marsala, the fortified wine from western Sicily.

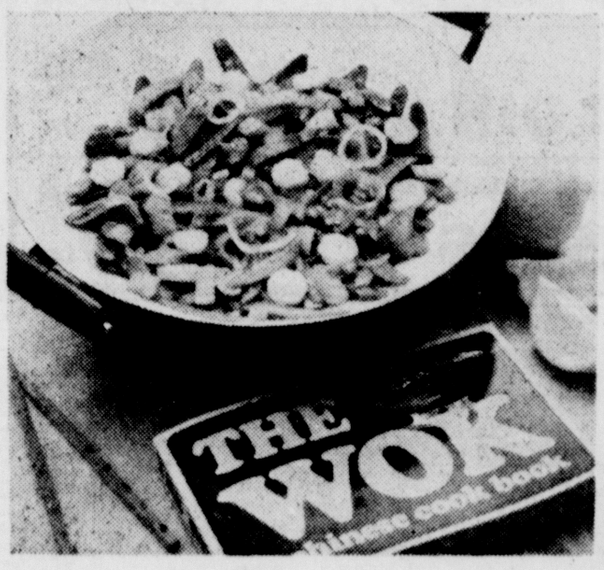

The Italian cook's kitchen garden, says Miss Barrese, leans heavily to herbs. It usually includes basil, parsley, garlic, fennel, rosemary, sage and thyme, to name a few. At the top of the list she places fresh garlic because of what she describes as its warm and wholesome addition to food.

The author's fondness for cheese is apparent in her passages on this phase of Italian cookery. Italy's involvement in this sphere, she says, has been notable both because its dazzling variety of cheeses has entranced food buffs all over the world and because of the high quality of its output.

The proper Italian cook, says Miss Barrese, usually keeps six or seven cheeses handy — for example, Romano to enhance a tomato omelet, mozarella for lasagna and gorgonzola for stuffing celery sticks.

How to cook with a wok

We are indebted to the Chinese for teaching us the wonders of wok cookery.

Any devotee of Oriental cuisine will find that a wok is a must for Chinese dishes because it is ideal for their most popular method of food preparation, stir-frying. One wok cookbook author goes so far as to explain that stir-frying is synonymous with Chinese frying.

Table-top food preparation with a wok makes it possible for a party host or hostess to continue conversation with the guests and heightens mealtime interest. Everyone observes the food being prepared, and the wafting aromas pique party appetites. Moreover, Chinese-frying is low calorie . . . little, if any, cooking oil is used and it is speedy, because the food is briskly stirred and tossed while being heated. The sloped sides of the wok keep the first cooked foods from the direct cooking heat in the center of the wok.

Next time you would like to cook Chinese for a party, treat your guests to Lemony Shrimp Cantonese. It is a superb seafood dish to be served with rice verdi; rice with bell peppers and parsley which comes frozen in a cooking pouch. While the rice is cooking, you can saute sliced mushrooms and other vegetables until crisp tender, then add shrimp.

Refreshing flavor of lemon spikes the elegant dish.

LEMONY SHRIMP CANTONESE

- 2 12-oz packages rice verdi (rice with bell peppers and parsley)
- 1 2½-oz. jar sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1/3 cup chopped green pepper
- ½ cup diagonally sliced celery
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1 6-oz. package frozen pea pods
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
- 1 4½-oz. can medium deveined shrimp, rinsed and drained
- 1 2-oz. jar pimiento, drained and diced
- 2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice

Cook rice according to package directions. Meanwhile, saute mushrooms, green pepper, celery, onion and pea pods in butter until celery is crisp-tender and pea pod are thawed. Combine cornstarch, water and soy sauce until smooth; stir in salt, pepper and bouillon. Add to vegetable mixture. Het, stirring frequently, until thickened and smooth. Add shrimp and pimiento; heat through. Stir in lemon juice and serve. Turn rice into serving dish and fluff with a fork.

Healthy homemade browned bran bread

Like seasonal fashions, theories about health an diet come and go.

A current one however deserves the consideration of most consumers. It relates to the need for more fiber in the American diet. The reason why it makes sense is that with the advent of food technology, uch of the fiber has been removed from basic foods such as breads and cereals.

There appears to be some correlation between the increase in diseases of the intestines (such as cancer of the colon and rectum, diverticulosis, constipation, appendicitis, etc.), and refined processed foods we consume.

What is fiber? what role does it play in body nutrition?

Often called roughage, fiber is present in plants such as cereal grains, vegetables and fruits. Its role in nutrition is in adding bulk to the diet which in turn decreases the transit time of food through the body. Most reliable sources of this nutrient are unrefined or lightly refined cereal grains, dried uncooked fruits and nuts. Cooking changes the character of fiber in fruits and vegetables. That's why we're advised to include some of these foods daily in the raw state. Cereals, whole ground or stone ground, contain bran which is tough and absorbent and is not affected by cooking or baking.

In addition to fiber, whole grains contain important amounts of thiamine, vitamin B6, vitamin E, iron and other nutrients including trace elements recently found essential. The nutrients however are concentrated in the outer portion of the grains. When these layers are removed in milling and processing, much of their mineral and vitamin content is reduced. That's why all-purpose flour and many cereals have nutrients added to them.

Whole grain flour may be difficult to find in supermarkets. Because it contains wheat germ oil it becomes rancid more quickly than its refined counterparts. But it is available in health food stores, usually in small packages. At home it should be transferred to a tightly covered container and stored in a cool dry place. During hot weather the refrigerator or freezer should be considered if you can find the space.

The recipe below for Bran Bread uses two cups of whole bran cereal which is found in the cereal section at supermarkets. This is the rapidmix method for making yeast bread.. Liquid ingredients, milk, water, honey and margarine are heated until very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.) — this is considerably warmer than body temperature.

Bran bread is more compact than white bread. During toasting it browns quickly and provides a welcome cruncy texture. It also makes a delicious accompaniment for cheeses of all types and luncheon meats. The bread freezes well and when properly wrapped will keep up to 4 weeks in the food freezer.

BRAN BREAD
Makes 2 loaves

4½ to 5½ cups unsifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
2 cups whole bran cereal
1 cup milk
½ cup water
2 tablespoons honey
1/3rd cup Fleischmann's Margarine
2 eggs (at room temperature)

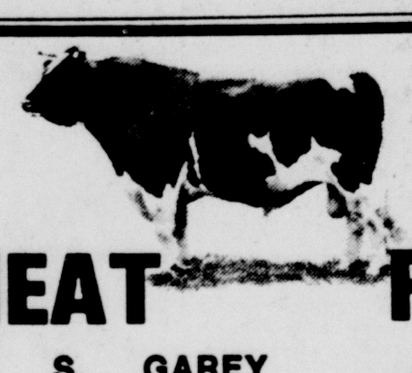

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, sugar, salt and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Add Cereal.

Combine milk, water, honey and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.) Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ¾ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide in half and shape into loaves. Place in 2 greased 8½ x 4½ x 2½-inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake on lowest rack position at 375 degrees F. 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

The heaviest of all invertebrate animals is the Atlantic giant squid, "Architeuthis Princeps." The largest specimen ever recorded measured 55 feet overall (head and body 20 feet, tentacles 35 feet) captured on Nov. 2, 1878 after it had run aground in Tickle Bay, Newfoundland.

KNOX BLOX™

New finger-size gelatine snacks.

Knox has a nifty new snack idea that's a knock-out with kids. It's firmed up, finger-sized, fruity gelatine squares. They're firm enough to never melt or get mushy even at room temperature. But still have enough wiggle to tempt any tot. And a snap to make. Just add Knox® Unflavored Gelatine to any flavored gelatine and your Knox Blox will stay firm until the last block is all gobbled up. Now, isn't that a better idea than candy?

4 envelopes Knox Unflavored Gelatine
3 packages (3 oz. ea.) flavored gelatine
4 cups boiling water

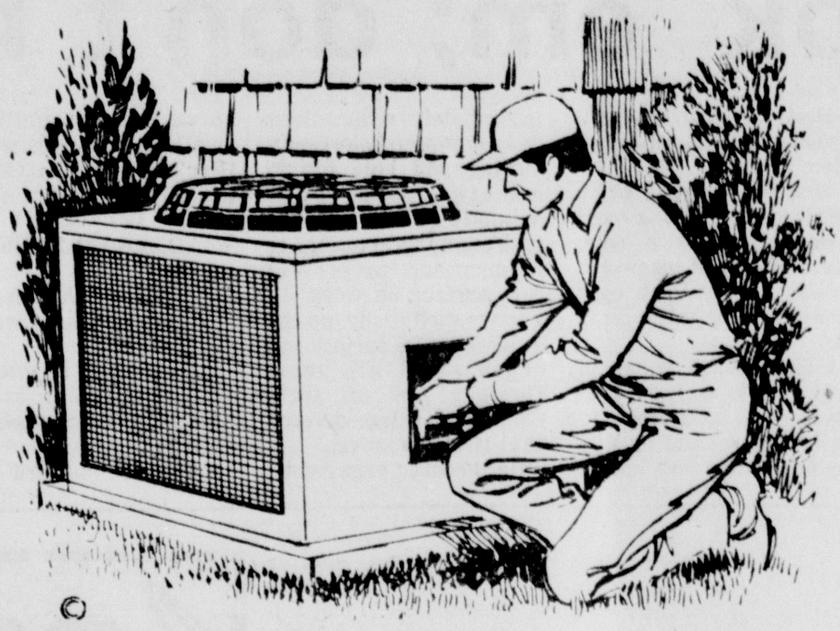

In large bowl, combine Knox Unflavored Gelatine and flavored gelatine; add boiling water and stir until gelatine dissolves. Pour into large shallow baking pan (for example, 13" x 9") and chill until firm. Cut into squares to serve. Makes about 100 one inch squares.

1975 air conditioning bills will be staggering

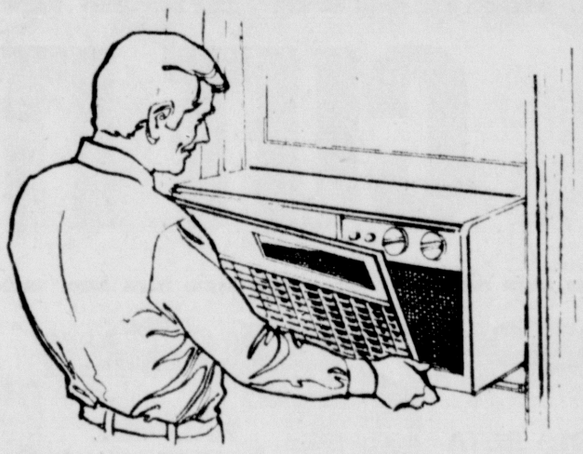

turn up thermostat, insulate

If you thought heating bills this winter were ridiculous even after turning back the thermostat to 60 degrees, wait until you receive the first electric bill which reflects use of home air conditioning.

Chances are, you'll decide to turn off the central air conditioning and window units and leave them off unless the weather is excruciatingly hot.

Sharon Kay Ritchie, director of the Certain-teed Home Institute.

"True, newer air conditioning systems and units are more energy-efficient, but not many of us can be frivilous enough to go out and purchase totally new equipment. So, we have to devise ways to live with old air conditioners and present central air systems, and cope with the energy consumption problem in different ways."

"One way to beat heat is to leave storm windows and doors on during summer," Miss Ritchie reports. "And, since the greatest amount of heat comes from the attic into the house, at least 6 inches of insulation on attic floors definitely will help to ease load on air conditioners. Having an insulated attic helps keep homes much cooler during the summer anyway, so many people turn off air conditioners altogether."

Other energy-saving tips from the Home Institute include:

—set the air conditioning thermostat to 78 degrees . . . you'll be just as comfortable and the load on air conditioners will be reduced. (For each additional degree of cooling you add 5 per cent to your energy bill.)

—plan cool meals or cook during cooler hours of the day. When possible, close kitchen doors to reduce heat dissipation throughout the house.

—close draperies on the sunny side of the house.

For more information on energy-saving this summer, write to Sharon Kay Ritchie, Certain-teed Home Institute, P.O. Box 860, Valley Forge, PA 19482.

Inflation fighter

If heat ducts, or blowers from your air conditioner, direct air under a window's draperies you're probably losing a lot of the potential heating or cooling. Deflect the air current into the room by taping a piece of foil or similar material above the ducts and shaping it to your needs. — J. L., Rockwell, N.C.

You can shut off the water heating when you go on vacation to save a few dollars a month. And if you turn up your refrigerator a few degrees for the time you'll be gone, you can save from $2 to $4. — J. S., Eau Claire, Wisc.

Don't forget the car when you're cleaning out a winter's accumulation of junk. By removing unnecessary weight, your car will weigh less and you'll get better gas mileage. — M. D., St. Paul, Neb.

Make certain your toilet isn't leaking as this can cost you up to $15 dollars a month. When the toilet ball is set too high, water will continuously overflow into the runoff. You may never notice it except on your monthly bill. — D. H., Garnerville, N.Y.

Remove excess heavy paper wrappings from food before storing them in the refrigerator or freezer, but make certain they are sealed properly in a protective layer. There's no reason to waste energy cooling throwaway papers. — K. R., Framingham, Mass.

Soap will last longer if you keep it dry when not in use. Don't set a bar of soap down in a pool of water. Also, make certain that your showr soap dish doesn't lie in the shower's stream of water.

—O.D., Arcadia, Ind.

Save sluminum foil pans and TV dinner plates throughout the year, and when you go on vacation take them along instead of paper plates. This way you not only save energy and fight inflation, but also save dishwashing at a time when you want to completely relax.

—W.B. McC., Paducah, Tex.

Won't crack while cooking

Eggs: hard cook 'em; don't hard boil

Hard cooked deviled eggs

Best way to cook hard-boiled eggs — is not to boil them at all!

Best way to hard cook an egg is to have eggs at room temperature (or if cold, place in dish of lukewarm water), to prevent eggs from cracking while cooking.

Using enough water in saucepan to come 1 inch above eggs, bring water to rapid boiling. Add eggs to boiling water with spoon. Immediately reduce heat to keep water below simmering and hold for 20 minutes. Cool eggs promptly in cold water to make shells easier to remove and to prevent dark surface on yolks. To remove shell easily tap egg gently on work surface and crack shell all over. Carefully peel off shell. Chill shelled eggs covered until ready to serve.

Hard cooked eggs can be served in an endless number of delicious ways. Here is a recipe that is particularly good.

DIABOLO DEVILED EGGS

6 eggs
½ cup finely shredded sharp cheddar cheese (2 ounces)
2 tablespoons minced pitted black olives
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon mustard
Mayonnaise
Salt
Garnish — strips of pimiento, slices of pitted black olives

Hard cook eggs as directed above. Shell eggs and slice into halves lengthwise. Remove yolks, reserve egg whites. Press egg yolks through sieve into a bowl. Stir in cheese, olives, onion and mustard. Stir in desired amount of mayonnaise. Salt to taste. Stuff mixture into reserved egg whites. Garnish with pimiento and black olives. Chill until ready to serve. Serves 6.

Movement

That old saw about running between the raindrops applies to the sun. It seems that fewer ultraviolet rays hit a moving, vertical target. You can stay in the sun longer if you keep moving.

Milk chocolate celebrates its centennial

Milk chocolate bars are eaten primarily for enjoyment but also for consolation and comfort on a day when everything goes wrong and you wish you had stayed in bed.

It's surprising to learn from the Chocolate Manufacturers Association of the U.S.A. that this blissful chocoalte is a relative newcomer among chocolate shecialties. 1975 marks the 100th anniversary of the invention of milk chocolate with the creamy, special flavor.

The invention of milk chocolate was the outcome of a perfect symbiosis, or matching of talents and resources. In the village of Vevey in Switzerland lived Daniel Peter, born in 1836. He was an ingenious fellow with an interest in manufacturing useful things. He began as a candle maker but the invention of the paraffin lamp put him out of business.

Peter's romantic interest was captured by Fanny Cailler, the eldest daughter of Francois-Louis Cailler who founded the first Swiss chocolate factory near Vevey in 1819, after an apprenticeship in Italy. Thus, Daniel Peter became acquainted with chocolate manufacture and began to wonder and ponder about it. He felt that anything made with milk would be better than without it, and he conceived the bold and delicious idea of combining chocolate with milk. But it was no ordinary milk that Peter used.

His friend Henri Nestle had already began to manufacture sweetened condensed milk in Switzerland. Sweetened condensed milk was needed to guarantee a steady supply of milk in a form that could be safely stored. In that day, the milk of every cow in every canton in Switzerland was likely to be spoken for by family, retail or manufacturing interests, so it was very important to Peter to insure himself of a steady supply.

Put the two together and the rest is history — luscious history for chocolate lovers. Milk chocolate became a favorite all over the world. At first, the chocolate made by Peter's initial crude process was rather rough on the tongue. But with constant research and improved equipment, the chocolate became the delectably smooth product that we know today.

While the technology improved, the formula for milk chocolate today is very similar to that used in 1875. Milk chocolate is made by combining chocolate liquid, extra cocoa butter, milk or cream, sweetening and flavorings.

Chocolate with a sugar content of more than 60 per cent is very sweet; with less than 40 per cent it is bitter. Even with the same sugar content, chocolate can vary in sweetness of taste depending on the amount of cocoa butter that has been added. If milk is added to the cocoa paste, the resultant product is referred to as milk chocolate. Since this has the effect of reducing the percentage content of pure cocoa, the influence of the bitter-tasting ingredients is less marked. The milk content of a 4-ounce bar of chocolate is roughly the equivalent of a large glass of fresh milk.

There is something endearing in imagining those sober-faced Swiss gentlemen, Peter and Nestle, with their dignified beards and their keen interest in business, bent over a chocolate pot to test out a most ingriguing new idea that is celebrating its 100th anniversary.

Peasant gourmet meals

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Let us define a peasant as a person imbued with the tradition of living off the land, of centuries of experimentation with the fruits of the earth as and when they become available, of determining which combinations work and which do not, of developing an entire spectrum of traditional dishes that are flexible, especially in their adaptability to seasonal and budgetary requirements.

That definition comes from Jonathan Bartlett, author of a practical new book called "The Peasant Gourmet."

He thinks true gourmets are disappearing for many reasons. Peasant foods are becoming more and more sought after, with the good-humored peasant becoming the gourmet of today.

With that thought in mind, let's run through "The Peasant Gourmet" and point out that many of the so-called gourmet dishes are actually peasant in origin.

New England Clam Chowder enthusiasts always look with contempt on Manhattan Clam Chowder as tomato soup with a clam in it. But during Colonial days in Rhode Island they added a little tomato to otherwise New England Clam Chowder, which, of course, consisted of clams, salt pork, onions and potatoes plus milk.

Garbure is a hearty vegetable soup from southern France. It must be so thick that a ladle will stand upright in it and it must be cooked in an earthenware dish. During all the time it is cooking the water must never stop boiling.

Boston Baked Beans in New England not so long ago became almost as compelling as a Revealed Truth: baked beans were what you had for Saturday dinner. There simply was no alternative. Boston brown bread and cole slaw were the usual side dishes.

Chicken Cacciatora is chicken done "hunter style." "Since I never met anyone who hunted chicken, or at least admitted it, I suppose originally it was applied to game birds of various sorts. Soave white wine being one of Italy's best, might be just the thing to add to this dish and wash it down with afterwards," says Jonathan Bartlett.

Chicken Paprika is Hungarian, of course, but without true Hungarian paprika pepper it cannot be as it should. Into the cutup chicken, onions and sour cream must go genuine, imported sweet Hungarian paprika, available from Hungarian neighborhood stores or at specialty food shops.

Pot au Feu is a long-time French family favorite. It is all cooked in an enormous pot — turnips, potatoes, salt pork, a veal knuckle or soup bone, a large piece of beef which is tied and placed in the water. There are leeks and carrots, bay leaves, peppercorn, thyme and parsley. Chicken can be used in place of beef.

There are many other peasant dishes in this book, called rightly "The Peasant Gourmet" (Macmillan, $6.95). It is fun to read, fun also to enjoy the recipes with a different and often authentic flavor.

Three ways to fast freeze fresh strawberries

There are three methods of freezing strawberries according to Dr. George York food science and technology specialist with the University of California, Davis.

Choose the way that is most convenient for you and suits your "sweet-tooth."

Strawberries are one of the few fruits that can be frozen whole without sugar. They can be frozen with a dry sugar pack or in a pectin syrup pack. They may also be frozen whole, in slices or crushed, Dr. York gives the following instructions for freezing strawberries:

PREPARATION

Select strawberries with these characteristics: full, red color, fully ripe, but not over-ripe, and no center cavity.

Handle strawberries gently to avoid bruising. Do not hull before washing. Wash a few at a time in cold water or ice water. Drain thoroughly. Hull.

FREEZING WHOLE BERRIES

Use only small or medium berries. Whole berries retain best quality when frozen with syrup. If frozen without sweetening, use within 3 to 4 months.

DRY SUGAR PACK

Strawberries mixed with sugar maintain firmness, flavor and color better than unsweetened frozen berries.

Cut the berries into a shallow bowl. Measure them. Add ¾ to 1 cup sugar per quart of crushed or sliced berries. Mix the fruit and sugar gently with a large spoon until the juice is drawn out and the sugar is dissolved. Let stand for a few minutes. Pack into a freezer container, leaving ½" headpace. Freeze.

LIGHTLY SWEETENED PACK

Less sugar is needed with this method and the flavor and color of the strawberries is retained.

Prepare syrup using 1 box powdered pectin plus 1 cup water and ½ cup sugar.

Combine pectin and water in saucepan and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Add sugar to hot pectin, stirring until dissolved. Add enough cold water to make 2 cups syrup. Chill.

Place fruit in freezer cartons, allowing ¾-inch headspace. Cover with pectin syrup, gently separating fruit to coat each piece with the syrup.

UNSWEETENED PACK

Spread washed and thoroughly drained berries on shallow pans or trays. Place in freezer until frozen solid. Pack in plastic bags, or in containers, leaving ¾-inch headspace. Seal and freeze. (These berries will be best in cooked dishes).

Champagne: the gourmet chef's best tool

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some people believe that champagne should be reserved for gala occasions like launching ships or priming wedding receptions. And there is something festive about listening to the pop of the cork and watching the smoke-like whiff that spirals into the air just before you pour the sparkling golden liquid.

But there is no reason why champagne should not be served before or during an especially good meal, if you have the funds to buy a bottle. It is also a worthy aid to cookery, if you really want to splurge. And that does not mean the many wines masquerading as champagne. As most of us now know, the only wine with the right to be called champagne is made from certain legally specified grapes grown in certain parts of the French province called Champagne.

Less well known is the fact that there are also some nonsparkling wines produced in Champagne province. But these still wines do not travel well and are usually drunk domestically.

The development of sparkling wines in the Champagne region did not occur until the 17th century when a Benedictine monk, Dom Perignon, changed the methods of wine making to exploit its natural effervescence. Such wines were often referred to by the superstitious country folk of the day as vin diable or devil wine.

Realizing that the pressure built up was due to carbon dioxide, Dom Perignon recommended that stronger bottles be used. He also proposed doing away with the old stoppers made of cotton wadding soaked in oil and substituting corks fastened down with string.

In France, wine in the kitchen is as essential as salt; to give flavor to dishes and sometimes to tenderize meat. The cost of true champagne prevents one from using it too freely in the stew pot, but it does so much for game, fowl, fish sauces and cheese dishes, that you may find it worthwhile to try it. Like this formula for fillet of sole simmered in champagne:

12 thick fillets of sole
½ bottle brut champagne
1 small onion chopped fine
7 ounces butter
6 tablespoons fresh cream
4 egg yolks
Salt and fresh ground pepper

Lay fillets flat in pan and cover with champagne. Add salt, pepper, onion and 1 tablespoon butter. Bring slowly to boil, reduce heat and simmer gently 7 minutes. When cooked, remove fillets with perforated fish server, place on serving dish and put in slow oven. Put remaining butter in preheated thick saucepan and allow to melt off the fire. Add cream and egg yolks. Beat mixture 7 minutes with wire whisk. Add enough of the simmering liquid to obtain a fairly liquid cream sauce. Heat sauce but don't boil. Pour over fish and serve with champagne. Serves 6.

Japan opens computerized supermarket

By NAOAKI USEI

TOKYO (AP) — A housewife approaches a giant machine with colorful panels that looks like something from a space ship, inserts a small plastic card and pushes some buttons. Lights flash, buzzers beep and out come her groceries.

Officials at the new "OK Supermarket" in Tokyo say the computer-controlled system virtually eliminates shoplifting, long lines at checkout counters and cashier mistakes.

But some housewives complain that with the 2,469 kinds of food held behind display windows in the 67 machines, they can't — for example — give the cabbage a squeeze. And they say the machines take some time getting used to.

At the checkout counter, one of the two cashiers feeds the card into another computer-connected machine. The 440-million-yen ($1.5 million) computer instantly ticks out the bill, and the cashier does the only human job seen by the shoppers — receiving money.

"All we need here is two untrained girls to receive money. They can handle about 4,000 customers a day. We used to need 10 cash registers and 20 punching girls, and each of them punched the keys 15,000 times a day," said Osamu Enoki, spokesman for the supermarket chain.

"Shoplifting is impossible here because only the central computer can open the showcases," he continued. He said the chain's 35 stores have been losing at least 250 million yen ($830,000) a year, or one per cent of total sales, to shoplifters.

The idea of the computer-run supermarket came about two years ago when the chain found it was wasting too much time and manpower in laborious stock control. Three major electronics manufacturers jointly developed the automatic shopping system, the spokesman said.

"We believe we can produce it much more cheaply only if we go into mass production. We hope this system will replace all conventional stores in the near future," Enoki said.

In a nation where small neighborhood food stores are most common, the supermarket business has been growing rapidly in the last decade. Its sales totaled about 2,524 billion yen ($8.4 billion) in 1974, up 100 per cent from 1972, the Ministry of International Trade and Industry reported.

But Enoki said the computerized system sometimes frustrates shoppers who usually pick up merchandise and examine it carefully before deciding to buy. "So we had to leave some merchandise, like fresh vegetables and fish, out of the new store," he said.

"It's a modern, clean supermarket. But I can't buy quickly in this place because I can't inspect the items," said one young mother with her baby in her arms. "I have to look at the merchandise carefully through the thick glass, and it takes time."

A middle-aged housewife said it's hard for her to learn to operate the unmanned vendors. "I pushed a wrong number and I got a salad oil instead of the frying oil that I wanted to buy."

To help customers get used to the flashing and beeping signals and buttons, the company assigned about 15 engineers to the store during the first weeks. Each gave polite explanations while curious housewives and more curious kids flocked around them.

"It's not difficult at all. These customers are just not used to these machines. Since the average housewife shops at supermarkets once every two or three days, they will learn quickly," said an engineer of the Mitsubishi Industries, one of the builders of the system.

A husband strolling with his wife said he welcomes such innovations. "Now, the management does not need to pay outrageous wages to dozens of cashier girls, and I hope they can peg prices at reasonable levels," he said.

"But you can't put merchandise back into the showcases here like in other stores," his wife complained. "Once you get something, the computer says you bought it."

Mushrooms extolled

By TOM HOGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you like gourmet fare and at the same time have to hold down your weight, many dishes pose a problem.

But that doesn't mean you have to go on a regimen of black coffee and grapefruit, cottage cheese and peaches or some other dreary diet, while the rest of the family stokes up.

There are a number of delightful foods that are not fattening. That fascinating fungus known as the mushroom which the French devour at breakfast, lunch and dinner is your answer.

A pound of fresh mushrooms runs 100 calories or less and has virtually no cholesterol, in case you have to worry about your heart as well as your waistline.

Nature broke the mold when it made the mushroom. It inhabits a dark, secret world of its own and is classified as neither flower, fruit, grain nor vegetable. In fact, the mushroom has nothing in common with the conventional foods we eat but is a superb addition to soups, salads and stews.

The meatiness of mushrooms gives a lift to low calorie meats, seafood and vegetables. Not only do they enhance the aroma and flavor of a fish, they contain such valuable nutrients as phosphorus, iron and niacin.

Wild mushrooms have been eaten in many lands for many centuries, but cultivation of the fungus was first undertaken successfully only about 200 years ago. It began in France where they use mushrooms in omelets, poach them in cream and flame them with cognac.

Around the start of the 20th century the United States launched its own mushroom industry, and today you can find cultivated fresh mushrooms at any time of the year in the supermarkets.

Record lettuce rail shipments

In two days last month more than 27 million heads of iceberg lettuce were packed and shipped by rail out of the Salinas Valley, to markets across the country, breaking all records for movement of lettuce anywhere at any time.

Growers and packers attribute the spectacular shipments of high quality lettuce to the sudden arrival of warm weather after an unusually long, wet winter.

"We had such a cold, wet spring, right up to our Salinas season," said John Derdivanis of Admiral Packing Co., "that it delayed maturity. Now, as warmer days are hitting the valley, we are seeing good movement.

In late spring, the consumption of lettuce always rises. May always is a good month, and each May, there is a sales increase over the preceding year, thus records are always being broken, but the weather pattern on both the east and west coasts this year has brought the popular crisp salad heads to top quality about two weeks later than usual.

Shippers note, however, that the increase in shipments, and the lack of availability of trucks puts a greater demand on rail transportation. A shortage of rail cars could occur with all available cars moving in one direction, away from the fields.

Truck rates, already climbing, could also place a far greater cost load on the producers and cause additional problems, but at the present time, shippers are at about the break-even point which means, on the retail level, some excellent bargains for shoppers during these salad days.

Strip steak sandwiches

Here we are in a count down to our nation's 200th birthday celebration and you've got plenty of Fourth of July spirit . . . but your budget is rebelling.

Don't let higher food costs keep you from the pursuit of happiness this Fourth . . . march the family out into the backyard and . . . let 'em eat steak!

Marie Antoinette was the last lady who made a remark like that . . . and she lost her head. Well we're not losing ours. Thanks to two new recipes you can substitute economical round steak for a more expensive cut and celebrate in style.

Strips O'Steak Sandwiches help salute the red, white and blue without spending a lot of green since they're made with round steak cut in strips.

Steak strips are brushed with a barbecue sauce which your stir up yourself with zesty prepared yellow mustard, catchup and Worcestershire sauce. There's freedom from grill-watching with this recipe since steak strips are done to a turn in just five minutes. Served in crusty rolls these Strips O'Steak will be the hit of your backyard barbecue!

Celebration Macaroni Salad is as special as its name implies but easier to make than you'd guess. Green peas added to the macaroni as it cooks lend festive color. The extra special touch is in the sour cream dressing which you quickly stir together with an envelope of sour cream sauce mix.

Pickles and carrot sticks, iced tea or lemonade and fresh cantaloupe complete your holiday menu with flying colors.

STRIPS O'STEAK SANDWICHES

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup French's Prepared Yellow Mustard
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon catchup
1 tablespoon French's Worcestershire Sauce
1 to 1½ pounds round steak
Crusty rolls, split and buttered

Melt butter in small saucepan. Stir in mustard, sugar, catchup, and Worcestershire sauce. Cut steak into strips about ½-inch thick; brush with sauce. Grill over hot coals or broil 4 to 5 minutes, turning once, until done. Serve on rolls m 6 servings.

CELEBRATION MACARONI SALAD

2 cups uncooked elbow or shell macaroni
1 package (10-oz.) frozen peas
1 envelope (1¼-oz.) French's Sour Cream Sauce Mix
½ cup milk
½ cup mayonnaise
1 cup chopped celery

Cook macaroni in 6 cups boiling salted water for 10 minutes. Add peas; cook 5 minutes longer. Drain and chill. Stir together contents of sauce mix envelope, milk, and mayonnaise until smooth. Combine macaroni and peas, celery, and sour cream dressing; toss lightly. 6 servings.

FOURTH FARE — Sizzling steak on the patio next week's July 4 celebration doesn't need to be filet mignon or T-bone. Try round steak prepared and marinated with a tenderizer. Then broil over live coals outdoors. In this picture, bottom round was used with all excess fat trimmed off. Steak was moistened and tenderizer liberally sprinkled over it. No salt was used on the 2-inch thick cut. Steak was grilled four inches above coals 25 minutes, then sliced diagonally across grain in ¼-inch strips. Try cheaper cuts such as chuck, blade and 7-bone, too. Top with homemade barbecue sauce. (See page 38.)

Italy absorbing U.S. medical school overflow

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the thousands of young American college graduates who seek a medical career but are unable to gain admission to U.S. medical schools, because of the severe shortage of facilities rather than lack of qualifications, are turning to Europe for their education.

At present there are almost 2,000 Americans studying medicine in Europe, perhaps 30 per cent of them in Italy, according to the Institute of International Medical Education here.

Most of those studying in the 28 medical schools in Italy were directed to that country through this organization and its affiliate, the Italo-American Medical Education Foundation.

"Each year approximately 45,000 young American men and women apply to schools here, but there are only about 14,000 vacancies in the United States for medical enrollees," says Albert B. Schrager, who heads the Foundation, established to further international medical exchange.

Another 200 Americans will start medical studies in Italy this summer through the Foundation. At the same time, 40 Italian senior medical students, three Italian doctors and 30 Italian senior researchers will work here as part of the exchange program.

The senior medical students will be funneled to hospitals all over America to learn the latest American medical developments; the three doctors will spend a year at Wagner College, New York City, taking a master's program in microbiology; and the research scientists will work as part of American research teams in major research facilities here.

"Bringing these young Italians over is our way of saying 'thank you' to the Italian government for keeping the door open to our sons and daughters in their quest for the medical careers they are unable to find in their own country," says Schrager.

While most medical schools in Europe have virtually closed their doors to American medical students, Italy maintains a different attitude, he says.

"While the Italian medical system is bursting at the seams, they believe that anyone who wants a medical education should get one," says Schrager. "That doesn't mean that they will accept Americans in unlimited quantities, but it does mean that if they have the necessary qualifications, they have a good chance.

"The pity of it all is that the shortage of vacancies in the United States is primarily one of economics," says Schrager. "A new medical school here would cost in the neighborhood of $150,000,000, and that would accommodate about 75 to 125 first-year students. The important thing that we're trying to do is not primarily to see that more medical facilities are built here, although that is a secondary goal, but to effect easier transfers back for students in their third and fourth years to take their clinical courses here. The facilities for those do now exist."

For the men and women starting their studies this summer, their first stop will be the University of Perugia where, for four months, they will take intensive language, culture and medical orientation courses. The language course will consist of 300 to 400 hours of comprehensive Italian, with emphasis on grammar, conversation and an introduction to medical vocabulary.

The cultural and medical orientation program, for which they are divided into small groups with senior American or Italian students as group leaders, will provide them with the practical introduction, information and guidance to enable them to adjust to the university life and culture of Italy. When they complete these courses, they will begin their actual medical careers.

They may elect to take the entire six-year medical course in Italy and then return to practice medicine in the United States after first passing the test for foreign medical graduates. Or they may take preclinical training in Italy for two or three years and then return to the U.S. for basic science curriculum courses at the Institute

Grape adds that extra thing to BBQ sauce

Nothing is more enjoyable in good weather than a meal served on the porch, patio or terrace. Outdoor dining is a pleasant way to relax and simmer down on a warm day.

Everyone likes the casual, informal style of a barbecue. Whether the kids are brandishing hot dogs on sticks or the resident gourmet — in chef's hat and apron — is broiling a steak over the coals, both family and friends will enjoy the festivities.

Suggested here are three great sauces for the barbecue chef which can be used all year 'round for basting steaks and chops on an outdoor grill or roasts in the oven.

Taste of Honey Sauce combines concordgrape drink and honey with a tomato/chili sauce mixture for an unsual blend of flavors.

SWEET 'N' SOUR SAUCE

1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 medium green pepper, seeded and chopped
2 tomatoes, chopped
1 cup dark brown sugar
1 cup wine vinegar
½ cup concordgrape preserves
½ cup water
1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons cornstarch

In saucepan, combine pineapple, pepper, tomatoes, sugar, vinegar, concordgrape preserves, ½ cup water, worcestershire sauce and mustard. Simmer, covered, for 15 minutes; stir now and then.

Blend cornstarch into remaining ¼ cup water. Stir into sauce and cook, stirring, until sauce is thickened and smooth. Makes about 3 cups sauce.

ZESTY BARBECUE SAUCE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concordgrape drink
1 cup ketchup
½ cup water
¼ cup worcestershire sauce
1 medium tomato, chopped
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 teaspoon dry mustard

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes to blend flavors. Use as basting sauce for flank steak, lamb cubes or pork. Makes about 2-½ cups sauce.

TASTE OF HONEY SAUCE

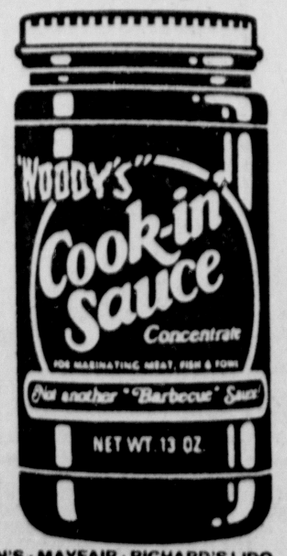

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concordgrape drink
1 cup ketchup
1½ cups water
¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup honey
¼ cup white vinegar
3 tablespoons minced green onion
3 tablespoons worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery seed

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Use as basting sauce for beef kabobs, spareribes or pork chops. Makes about 3 cups sauce.

The saltwater catfish has three spines which carry toxic poison. According to Walter Zeiller, curator of the Miami Seaquarium, the poison is not fatal but causes extreme pain and nausea in most humans.

HAMBURGERS NEVER...tasted so good!

"Woody's" Cook-in' Sauce is unique because we discovered a way to allow the full bouquet of flavor to remain in its natural state–until you do the cooking. The result–the most exquisite barbecue flavor your palate has ever tasted! So the next time you're shopping, pick up a jar of "Woody's" Cook-in' Sauce in the barbecue section.

Western Burgers

5 tbsp. Cook-in' Sauce
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper (fine)
1-1/2 cups chopped onions

Thoroughly mix together the ground beef, "Woody's" Cook-in' Sauce, salt and pepper. Shape into 12 thin patties. Place a filling of chopped onions on 6 patties and top with remaining patties. Press edges together to seal in onions. Grill in your electric skillet or over a hot bed of coals.

Enjoy Yourself!

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — A new heart throb is being pursued by Wimbledon's tennis teenyboppers this year. His name is Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

While Sweden's golden-haired Bjorn Borg, 19, still captures the hearts of many fans at the championships, it's Vilas who is taking the girls by storm.

In one year, he has emerged from the tennis netherworld, winning the Grand Prix and Masters titles against the world's best to arrive here seeded No.4.

On Tuesday he finished a rain-interrupted match against New Zealand's Jeff Simpson to win 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 and advanced to the second round.

But on court he is a muscular left-hander, his long brown hair pegged back by a broad blue headband. He believes in practice and more practice, which accounts for the accuracy of his ground strokes forehands and topspin backhands.

"I'm working at adapting my game to grass for Wimbledon," he said after practicing for the Simpson match.

Was he worried about the big names he could meet in the final stages — Connors, Ashe, Nastase?

"I fear everybody and nobody. I can only do my best— that's what I'm working for," he said quietly in near-perfect English.

His best appeals to hundreds of Wimbledon's young girl fans who encircled him when they had the chance, begging for autographs. Some brought him presents which he smilingly accepted.

Tuesday was not a happy day for the No.7 seed, former Wimbledon champion Stan Smith of Sea Pines, N.C., who suffered a shocking defeat at the hands of South African Byron Bertram 6-1 6-2 6-1.

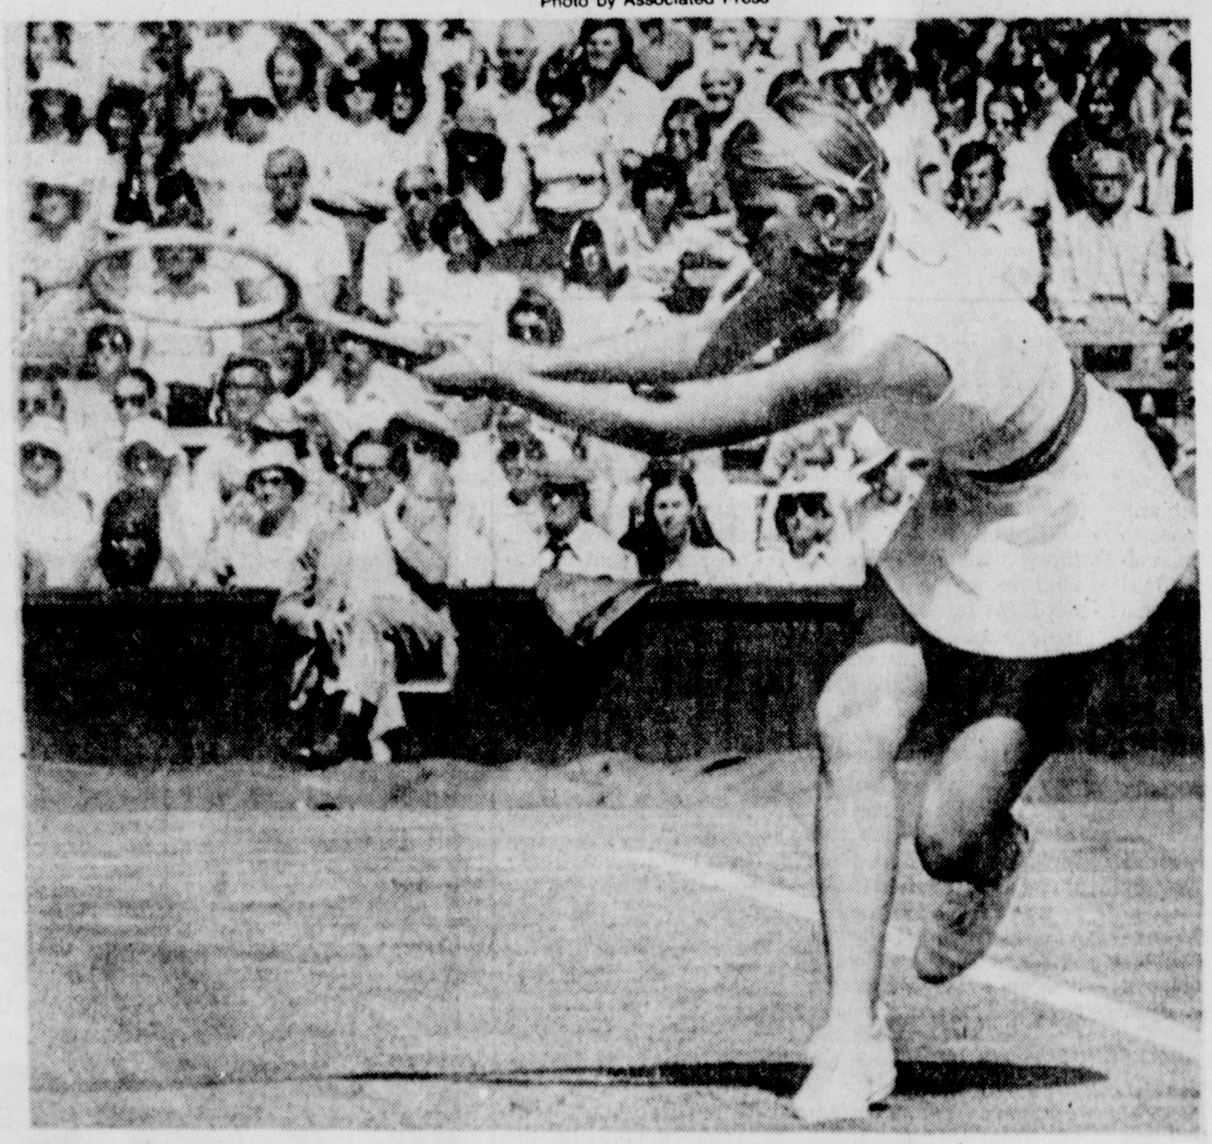

Bertram, who failed to qualify for Wimbledon a year ago and then underwent major surgery on his arm, called it the match of his life. He plays Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia in the second round today.

The first three seeds in the women's singles all advanced to the second round: Chris Evert, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, and Mrs. Billie Jean King of San Mateo, Calif.

Other second round matches in the men"s singles Wednesday: no.1 seed Jimmy Connors vs. Vijay Amritraj of India; Borg vs. Milan Holocek of Czechoslovakia, and Vilas vs. Ray Moore of South Africa.

WIMBLEDON ACTION

Americans Arthur Ashe (top) and Chris Evert (right) advanced in first round Wimbledon action Tuesday. Ashe speeds to a low forehand return during his resumed match against Bob Hewitt of South Africa. Ashe went on to win, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. Chris hits a double-fisted backhand against Chris O'Neill of Australia. She won 6-0, 6-2 in a one-sided match.

ABA player dies in crash

NEW YORK (AP) — Wendell Ladner, basketball's biggest little kid, a dynamo who attracted and loved attention, is presumed dead in an Eastern Airlines 727 crash that killed more than 100 persons.

Ladner, a forward for the New York Nets, was returning from a two-week visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ladner, who raise cotton in Necaise Crossing, Miss.

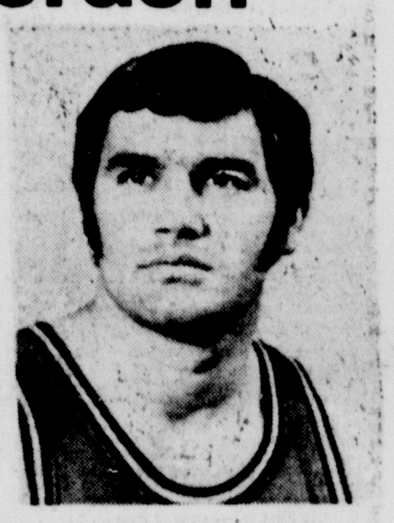

He was driven by a family member to New Orleans, where he boarded Flight 66 Tuesday afternoon. Two hours later the jetliner plummeted to earth in a thunderstorm, sparing the lives of just 14 passengers. Ladner was not among them.

In the inspection of the crash site, police found a body with Ladner's championship ring on it and Ladner's Nets traveling bag was discovered nearby. The bag bore the No. 4—Ladner's number in his 1½ years with the Nets.

He came to the Nets of the American Basketball Association in January, 1974 from the Kentucky Colonels in a trade for Nets' guard John Roche. Also coming to New York was guard Mike Gale.

WENDELL LADNER

"He was almost like a little boy in his excitement for life and love of being a professional basketball player," said Kentucky assistant general manager David Vance after learning of the crash.

"If he played for you, he was your favorite. If he played against you, he was the biggest villain.

"In a playoff game in Kentucky two years ago, the sixth game of the Eastern Division championships, he dove out of bounds after a loose ball, fell over the water cooler, and had to have 48 stitches in his body. He practiced the next day and played in the seventh game two nights later, which we won."

Bird too much for Angels

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — Doug Bird didn't have his good fastball. But his slider was working well and that was enough.

The former Pomonan checked the Angels on two hits, striking out three and walking two in the final four innings Tuesday night as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Halos, 5-3, in 11 innings.

Bird picked up his fifth win against two losses. He also has five saves.

"I didn't have my good fastball," Bird said when he guested on the Angels' post-game show. But I was able to come in with some pretty good breaking pitches to the lefthanded batters."

If the tall (6-4, 180 pounds) righthander developes confidence in his slider, it might just turn the corner and establish him as one of the game's premier relief p tchers according to his manager, Jack McKeon.

"If he had confidence in his breaking pitch, his slider, he could be better than (Rollie) Fingers," McKeon said. "We (the manager and coaches) have confidence in it. He doesn't. He's got a real good fastball and a great arm. Better than Fingers."

Bird entered the game in the eighth inning with the score knotted, 3-3. He held the Halos at bay until Jim Wohlford, George Brett and Hal McRae put together back-to-back singles in the Royals' 11th. John Mayberry added a sacrifice fly for an insurance run.

The loss went to Mickey Scott (1-1). Scott had replaced Don Kirkwood in the 10th when Kirkwood's shoulder stiffened up. Kirkwood retired the five batters he faced. But his shoulder, bruised in a fall in the 13th inning of Monday night's 1-0 loss to Texas, tightened up and he had to leave.

Prior to that, Dick Lange had staggered through 7 1/3 roller coaster innings. Lange gave up 10 hits, four walks and three runs before departing in favor of the baby faced Kirkwood.

But Lange's opponent, Dennis Leonard, was pitching the same way.

In fact if the Angels again suffer an early demise in the pennant race, the coroner's verdict is likely to be, "They ran themselves to death."

Dick Williams' Kiddie Korps had one runner (Lee Stanton) cut down at the plate and another (Mickey Rivers) at third base. Jerry Remy was nailed twice attempting to steal.

Since the Halos got 11 hits in all and six walks and still managed to leave nine runners stranded, you have to think that somewhere along the way they ran themselves out of a run and consequently, the game.

From the press box, it appeared neither Stanton nor Rivers had much of a chance of making it. Third base coach Whitey Herzog, an astute baseball man, obviously disagrees.

But Stanton, in particular, is not running well because of a pulled hamstring muscle. It slows him down in the outfield as well as on the basepaths.

When Rivers was thrown out at third in the 10th inning, it resulted in the leadoff hitter being retired instead of starting off the inning with a double and, hence, an excellent chance of scoring the winning run.

Williams was too upset to hold the uual post-game conference. So Herzog faced the press. He thought Rivers' hit was a triple all the way."

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali says he expects to make the first round of his title fight against British challenger Joe Bugner a carbon copy of their first fight in 1973—by cutting his face.

"That's why we don't think the first Ali fight goes down as the best fight or the most satisfying that Joe had, because he couldn't do his things. If Joe had gone back to Britain having been stopped in any of those 12 rounds, he'd have been crucified. The thing then was to keep the fight going." Smith said.

Despite a cut so deep, in the words of one ringwise observer, "you could look down into it like the grand canyon," Bugner was not bleeding when he answered the bell for the second round.

The wound was not reopened and Bugner finished strongly. Some speculated that if the match had gone 15 rounds, Ali might have been defeated.

"I remember thinking at the time that the cat that did that repair work would be a good guy to have around in a knife fight," said Drew "Bundini" Brown, one of Ali's cornermen.

"He's in a class by himself," agreed the champion's trainer, Angelo Dundee.

"He" is London-born Danny Holland, 64, rated by many to be the best cut man in the business.

"He is cool and calculating by the ringside. There is only one minute to work on between rounds and he always seems able to patch up the damage," said Smith.

Holland thinks Bugner has the edge on July 1. "Bugner is much more experienced than when he first fought Ali," he said.

Dodgers get 11 hits

Rau has picnic in Astrodome

HOUSTON (AP) — About 50 relatives watched Los Angeles pitcher Doug Rau scatter six hits and beat the Houston Astros 8-3 Tuesday night and they'll all get together for a family picnic today in Rau's hometown of Columbus, Tex.

It's unlikely, however, any of Doug's relatives will challenge him to one of the family's pasttimes—pitching washers.

"We're just going to get together and eat some good yellow catfish and maybe throw some washers," said Rau, who boosted his record 7-6 with the victory over weak-hitting Houston.

Rau may as well have been throwing washers at the Astros with the exceptions of Doug Rader and Bob Watson. Rader hit solo homers in the second and fifth innings and Watson had two hits and scored the Astros' other run on Enos Cabell's sacrifice fly.

Los Angeles decimated Houston starter and loser Tom Griffin with four runs in the first inning on back-to-back home runs by Steve Garvey and Ron Cey.

Griffin walked the game's first two hitters, Dave Lopes and Bill Buckner and Garvey drove them home with a towering shot over the centerfield fence. Cey then hit a solo shot over the leftfield fence.

Rau, who contributed three straight hits, drove in two runs with a single in the third inning and a single by Henry Cruz brought home Cey to complete LA's scoring.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston had to go to the eighth inning to find fault with Rau's effort.

"I thought he pitched a good game," Alston said. "The only thing I could second guess was his pitch to (Tommy) Helms in the eighth inning. But if he makes only one mistake a game, he'll win most of the time. You're really picking at straws to find fault with his pitching tonight."

Rau jumped off to a fast start this season, winning five of his first six starts. Then he went five and one-half weeks without another victory.

"It was just one of those things," Rau said. "I'd go into the eighth inning with a shutout and make one mistake and suddenly I'd be out of the game."

That all seems to be behind Rau now, however. He walked only one batter in a solid pitching performance Tuesday night and today he's ready to pitch washers with anyone in the family.

Dodgers sign Myron White

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Monday they have signed Myron White of Santa Ana Valley High School.

White, 17, was the Dodger's second-round choice in the June free agent draft. He will report to the club's Bellingham, Wash., club in the Northwest League Thursday, a spokesman for the Dodgers said. Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

Bugner gets into act

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Aileen Eaton has been in the boxing business 33 years so takes few chances.

On Monday she offered Muhammad Ali $1.5 million to defend his heavyweight boxing title against Californian Ken Norton.

On Tuesday she wondered if England's Joe Bugner might beat Ali in their title match at Kuala Lumpur on July 1.

So she immediately offered Bugner $1 million to defend the heavyweight title, if he wins it, against the same Norton in Los Angeles at the Coliseum in September.

"My matchmaker Don Chargin has been in contact with British promoter Mickey Duff in Malaysia and we have requested that he notify Bugner and his management of my offer," Mrs. Eaton said.

RICH HINDS

Pomona's Rich Hinds eyes title

Rich Hinds of Pomona will compete in the United States Amateur Roller Skating Championships at Lincoln, Nebraska, beginning July 28.

It will be his second quest for a national title in the tiny tots division. Last year he finished as a finalist at the championships.

Rich recently won first place in the speed championships of Southwest Pacific Coast Region in Sacramento, also for the second time.

Competing for Skate Ranch in Santa Ana, he finished atop the round robin standings in the Southern California Speed Skating Association this year, with 17 first and one second place over the nine-month season.

Rich will enter the third grade next fall at St. Joseph's Elementary School in Pomona.

Commission slaps fine on Chacon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Chacon's crash diet to make weight for last Friday's unsucessful title defense against Ruben Olivares has brought a $2,500 fine and indefinite suspension on the former featherweight champion.

The California State Athletic Commission imposed the sanctions Tuesday saying Chacon was not in condition for the bout.

"We're not implying he didn't put forth his best effort during the fight, but his best effort wasn't what it should have been if he'd been in the proper condition," said Bob Turley, Commission executive officer.

"Having to lose 16 pounds in about a week or whatever is absolutely ridiculous," he said.

Chacon, who was evidently weak after dieting for a week to make the 126-pound limit, was stopped by Olivares in the second round of the World Boxing Council title match. Maintaining he had made an honest attempt to make the weight and fought hard in the bout, Chacon said he would appeal the decision.

To have the suspension lifted, Turley said Chacon would have to convince the athletic commission "that he means business and will properly train."

Hunter hurls Yanks to first

By Assoc. Press

Catfish Hunter, who was supposed to pitch the New York Yankees into first place, finally did it Tuesday night.

The three-million-dollar man checked Baltimore on four hits—two in the first inning, two in the ninth—and the Yankees downed the Orioles 3-1 in a baseball-beanball duel.

Coupled with Boston's 8-6 loss to Cleveland—George Hendrick's three-run homer capped a four-run ninth for the Indians—the Yankees climbed into first place in the American League's East Division by one-half game, ending the Red Sox' month-long stay at the top.

In other action, the Milwaukee Brewers swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 5-0 and 4-2, the Oakland A's edged the Minnesota Twins 6-4, the Kansas City Royals defeated the California Angels 5-3 in 11 innings and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Texas Rangers 7-5.

The only Baltimore run off Hunter was Ken Singleton's leadoff homer in the first inning. The Yankees tied it in the second against Mike Torrez on a hit batsman and singles by Graig Nettles and Terry Whitfield. They scored two in the fourth on singles by Munson, Chris Chambliss and Nettles and Whitfield's sacrifice fly.

The beanball fuss began when Torrez clipped Munson with a pitch in the second inning. Hunter nicked Elrod Hendricks in the bottom of the second and zeroed in on Bobby Grich in the sixth after a Torrez pitch came close to Munson in the top of the inning.

The rival managers were warned by umpire Nick Bremiga after Hunter nicked Grich and both benches emptied briefly in the eighth when Munson charged Torrez after grounding out. No punches were landed, although Munson had to be restrained by four teammates.

"Weaver (Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver) came out and said he (Torrez) was having trouble with his control," Munson griped. "How can a guy be having trouble only on me? He wasn't close to anybody else."

"He just doesn't like to be pitched inside," replied Torrez. "From the reports I've seen he likes the ball away. You've got to try to pitch him inside. Apparently he doesn't like it so I guess the reports were right."

S.D. claims Don Hahn

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Padres claimed veteran outfielder Don Hahn from the St. Louis Cardinals on waivers Tuesday, optioning John Scott to Alexandria.

Hahn, 26, played for Montreal in 1969-70 and the New York Mets in 1971-74.

APC hosts Medicine Symposium

Athletic training is a profession which continues to grow as high school, college, and professional athletic progrems continue to expand. Unfortunately, many schools cannot afford a trainer. Therefore, Azusa Pacific College and the National Athletic Health Institute have joined together in developing a Sports Medicine Symposium that will provide coaches, trainers, physical therapists, and other physical edscators with up-to-date practical experience which will enable them to be better equipped when training needs arise.

The Symposium will be held on the Azusa Pacific campus from 12:30 p.m. to 8:30 a.m. Friday, and will run from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, it was announced today by John Crandall, Symposium Director.

"Most coaches are forced to deal with immediate athletic injuries because they don't have the services of a trainer or medical specialist available. Therefore, we believe our Sports Medicine Symposium can help them to better perform those responsibilities," commented Crandall. "This kind of symposium should hopefully cut down on injuries to athletics and prepare coaches to handle them when they do occur."

The cost of the two day Symposium runs $35.00. Participants may register for one unit of graduate credit for an additional $25.00 charge. For further information about the Sports Medicine Symposium, contact the Azusa Pacific College physical education department at (213) 969-3434 or the National Athletic Health Institute at (213) 674-1600.

Phillies kids stop Pirates

By Associated Press

The Philadelphia Phillies threw a pair of 21-year-old pitchers to the Lions but the Lions turned out to be pussycats.

Larry Christenson and Tom Underwood, the Phils top two draft choices three years ago, tamed the fearsome Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday night as the Phils swept a double header 6-3, 8-1 to pull to within two games of the first-place Bucs in the National League East.

Christenson, 2-1, allowed six hits and two runs through seven innings in the opener, while Underwood, 8-5, went the distance with a five-hitter in the nightcap.

Christenson got some advice from teammate Jim Lonborg before facing the potent Pittsburgh lineup.

"Lonnie told me 'Don't look at (Al) Oliver, don't look at (Willie) Stargell, don't look at (Richie) Zisk, don't look at (Dave) Parker, just look at Bob, Boone (Phillies' catcher)'," revealed the young right-hander.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 3-0, New York topped St. Louis 5-1, Los Angeles dumped Houston 8-3, San Diego swept a pair from San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings and 3-0 and Chicago routed Montreal 13-6.

The Pirates swept into Philadelphia Monday night with victories in 12 of their last 13 games and a five-game bulge over the Phils. But three straight losses have ended Pittsburgh hopes of a runaway, for the time being anyway.

Christenson said he expects to improve as the season goes on.

"I'm more mature now," said the 6-foot-4 right-hander. "I'm throwing strikes but good strikes. I'm getting the outside and the inside corners.

"And I can throw as hard as anyone."

"I am dead," he said. "I must have lost seven to 10 pounds out there. I was just trying to pace myself. I didn't work as fast as usual."

Ollie Brown's tie-breaking double in the seventh was the big blow for the Phils in the opener, while Greg Luzinski drove in three runs with a pair of singles in the finale.

Luzinski's first single, a two-run poke, came off Bruce Kison in the first inning. Kison also surrendered four walks and left without getting anyone out, the second straight start he has failed to retire a batter.

"I can't explain what has happened," said the slim righthander. "I've just lost location of the plate. It's not one thing. There are various factors."

Celts sign Morningstar

BOSTON (AP) — Roger Morningstar, the Boston Celtics' eighth draft choice has signed a 1975 contract, the National Basketball Association team said Tuesday.

The 6-foot-6 former University of Kansas star is the first college draft choice to sign with the Celtics.

Morningstar will join Assistant Coach John Killilea and other Celtics rookies on a trip to Italy before reporting to rookie camp on Aug. 24.

Fangio will be marshall

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Five-time world auto racing champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina will be the grand marshal of the Aug. 10 Talladega 500 stock car race, Alabama International Motor Speedway officials said today.

Watson, Mahaffey head field in Western Open

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Tom Watson, who used the Western Open Golf Tournament as the balm to ease his bitter disappointment a year ago, hopes to follow the same fomula this season.

He's joined by close friend John Mahaffey, the loser in Monday's playoff for the American National Championship, in this $200,000, 72 hole event that gets underway Thursday on the double-tough, 7,002-yard, par 71 Butler National Golf Club course.

Just the week before he'd held the 54 hole lead in the United States Open—then blew it with a last round 79. He responded with a victory, his career first, in this ancient event with a history stretching back to 1899.

He's in a similar situation this time. Last week, in the U.S. Open, he shared the lead the first round and set the 36 hole pace with a record-matching score of 135. But, just as a year ago, with the game's most coveted title in sight, he collapsed. His last two rounds were 78 and 77. He finished well back.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference, rocked by the withdrawal of three members, may be merged with the Southland Conference, the Wichita Eagle said Tuesday.

Tanana considers himself 'K' pitcher

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels have the top strikeout pitcher in the major leagues this season, and his name is not Nolan Ryan.

It's Frank Tanana. The 21-year-old lefthander whiffed 17 Texas Rangers Saturday to bring his season total to 98 in 85 2-3 innings.

Tanana, who is pitching tonight for the Halos, and teammate Ryan are the only major league pitchers averaging more than one strikeout per inning. And Ryan just barely qualifies. He has 121 strikeouts in 120 innings.

said after his 4-2 win over the Rangers. "I am confident enough to think that I can get a strikeout easier than most pitchers."

Tanana, 5-4, struck out more batters in a nine-inning game Saturday than any other lefthander in American League history. He had a shot at the major league record of 19, held by Tom Seaver, Steve Carlton and Ryan.

After striking out the side in the seventh and eighth innings, Tanana had 17 strikeouts going into the final frame. Ryan was in the dugout cheering him on.

"The way he was throwing in the seventh and eighth innings," Ryan said later, "I thought he was definitely going to break the record. He had the best curve I've ever seen him throw and he was moving the fastball real good."

"I was aware of the situation and I wanted the record," Tanana said. "I went out firing in the ninth and maybe I was rushing it. But then, I'll take a win and a 1-2-3 inning any time."

Tanana, last year's American League Rookie Pitcher of the Year, struck out each Ranger at least once and gave up no walks. But he did get tagged for nine hits.

He said he was sharper in his 2-0, four-hit win over Boston on May 10. He struck out 13 then.

"I still consider that the best game I've ever pitched," he said.

CURVING QUARTET — Pitching for the Angels' wives softball team Saturday will be (from left) Ruth Ryan, Connie Kirkwood, Linda Scott and Judy Lange. The wives meet KMPC personalities in softball preliminary to the Angels-Oakland game at 6:30 p.m.

Ice hockey events set

Five members of each of the four teams in the Ontario Hockey Association will compete in an East-West All-Star Game at Ontario Ice Bowl tonight starting at 8:30 p.m.

Players from the Kings and Canadians will comprise the West squad while players from the Flyers and the Bruins will comprise the East squad in the game.

The league will hold an awards banquet Sunday at the American Legion Hall at Laurel and Emporia in Ontario.

Admission to the banquet is $3 for singles and $5 for couples.

Singer returns to no-hit form

ANAHEIM (AP) — If these are the results Bill Singer gets with an aching back, he ought to induce the pain in the future.

Singer, who said his back hurt from the second inning on, pitched nine innings of no-hit ball. But since they came in third through 11th innings, the record shows he pitched a onehitter, a second inning bloop single.

And since Singer's California Angels wound up losing 1-0 in the 13th to Texas Monday night, the record does not reward him for his 11 innings of work.

But Singer, who has been plagued with injuries, had some solace even though his back hurt and his record was still 6-8.

"I don't think I've pitched better since my no-hitter with the Dodgers in 1969," he said.

And it was a swift reversal of form. On Friday night, Singer had been shelled and left the game against Texas in the first inning charged with six runs. After that debacle, he worked to build his confidence.

"I looked at pictures of my no-hitter, a one-hitter and a two-hitter," the 30-year-old, 6-foot-4 hurler said. "I had to regain my confidence."

Singer was 20-12 with the Dodgers in 1969 and 20-14 with the Angels in 1973, becoming the 12th player to win 20 in each major league.

Last year he missed most of the season after undergoing surgery for repair of a ruptured disc in his back. And he said his back hurt Monday night from the second inning on so wasn't unhappy when Manager Dick Williams took him out after 11.

"My back still hurt and the spasms on the right side were bad in the fourth and fifth innings," he said. "I think I hurt it on the second pitch of the second inning."

The loss went to reliever Don Kirkwood and the Ranger run in the 13th was unearned. Toby Harrah singled to lead off. Roy Smalley forced Harrah but reached second on an errant throw in the attempt for the double play. Smalley reached third on an outfield fly and scored on Cesar Tovar's single.

The Angels had nine hits to three for the Texans.

Singer, who surrendered 13 runs and 11 hits in his two outings prior to Monday night, said he was satisfied with his own showing this time, "at least in my mind. I've been doing some things wrong recently. This outing at least relieves some of the pressure."

Meanwhile, Nolan Ryan will continue to nurse the groin injury he suffered last week. Although he originally wanted to start Tuesday night's game, he changed his mind after working out Monday night.

His next start now will be either Thursday or Friday.

"I was praying the ball wouldn't go into the stands (for a ground rule double)," he said. "I thought he had three (bases) easy. And (George) Brett (Kansas City third baseman) didn't think he had a play."

However, Wohlford got off a strong throw to second baseman Cookie Rojas and the 36-year-old Rojas fired a shot to Brett and the play on Rivers wasn't that close.

"It's a cardinal rule of baseball that you don't get thrown out at third with no outs," admitted Herzog who hesitated and then said softly, "but I brought him over."

ANGEL ANGLES — Frank Tanana (5-4) faces Steve Busby (10-5) in the best matchup of the series tonight. Nelson Briles, who was supposed to pitch for the Royals Tuesday, was scratched when his elbow pained him during his warmup.

Nolan Ryan will hurl the Friday night opener against the World Champion Oakland Athletics.

Andy Etchebarren hit his first homer of the year for the Halos Tuesday. The other two runs came in the seventh when Rudy Meoli walked and Billy Smith and Rivers singled and Wohlford heaved the ball into the Angel dugout.

Rookie Dave Collins singled in the fifth to extend his hitting streak to 14 games, tying Dave Chalk's string last year.

First baseman Bruce Bochte has been placed on the disabled list after X-rays revealed a fractured left thumb, the result of being struck in a game with Milwaukee, June 6. Outfielder John Balaz has replaced Bochtee on the roster. Bochte is expected to be out six weeks.

Hill leads point race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Bruce Hill of Topeka, Kan., leads in the battle for in Grand National rookie-of-the-year of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing.

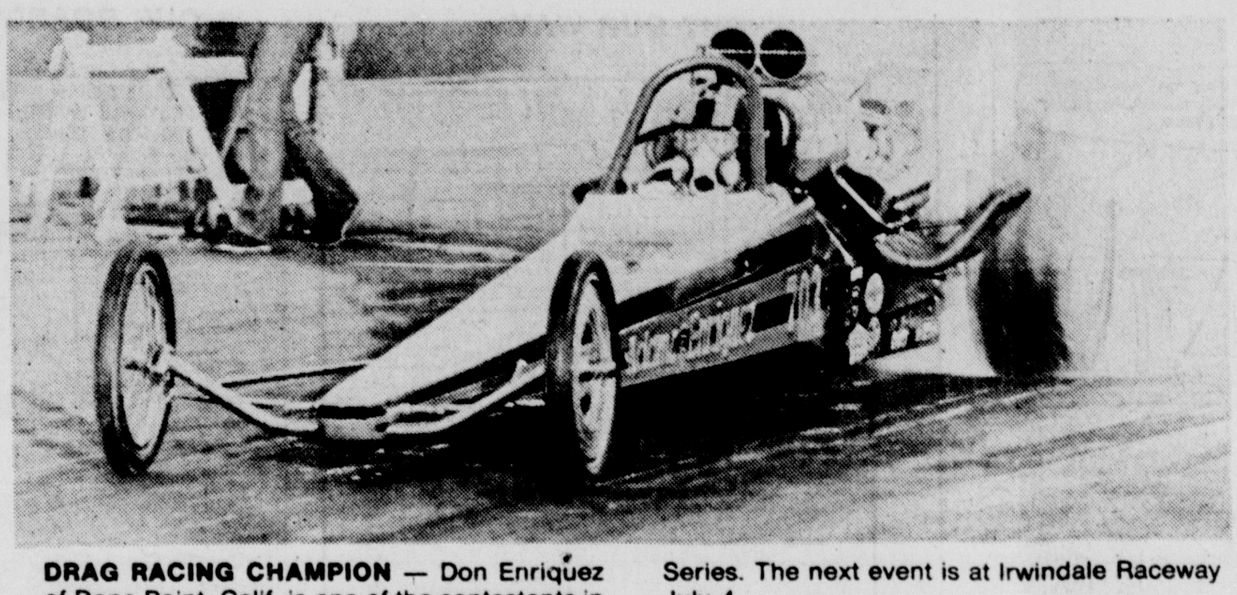

Hill, 25, with 220 points, has been the most effective in the first half of the season in late model competition.

Carl Adams, 32, of San Diego, is second with 170; Bruce Jacobi, 39, of Indianapolis third with 95, and Ferrell Harris, 34, of Pikeville, Ky., fourth with 85.

Hill has competed in 11 of the 15 races in the first half of the year, while Adams has started nine times, Jacobi and Harris five each.

At the end of the 30-race season, each driver gets points for his 15 best finishes, meaning Jacobi and Harris can move up rapidly by entering more events.

The second half of the season opens with the Firecracker 400 at Daytona International Speedway July 4.

Fans love drag racing

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Attendance at major drag racing events was up a whopping 18.1 per cent through the month of June in the latest figures released here by the National Hot Rod Association, world's largest sanctioning body for automobile racing.

Total attendance for four national events completed through the first six months of 1975 was 177,854 — 30,000 more than at the same time in 1974. With five races remaining — beginning with the 6th annual Summernationals, July 10-13, at Englishtown, N.J. — total national event attendance will approach the half million mark by season's end.

Still to be run, in addition to the Summernationals, are the 5th Grandnational-Molson, Aug. 1-3, at Montreal, Canada; the 21st U.S. Nationals, Aug. 27-Sept. 1, at Indianapolis, Ind.; the first Fallnationals, Sept. 18-21, at Seattle, Wash.; and the 11th annual Winston World Finals, Oct. 10-12, at Ontario, Calif.

The Nationals, largest contestant motorsports event in the world with more than 1,200 race car entries, annually attracts a Labor Day weekend crowd in excess of 100,000.

Individually, the NHRA Sportsnationals at Bowling Green, Ky., has reflected the greatest attendance increase for 1975. That event, unique in that it involves only sportsman, or semi-pro, racers, was up 36 per cent over 1974 to 32,184.

The Gatornationals at Gainesville, Fla., was up to 49,500 this year — an increase of 22 per cent — while the Springnationals at Columbus, Ohio, was up 13 per cent (to 48,141) and the Winternationals at Pomona, Calif., up nine per cent (to 48,029).

Although the figures are less substantial, most other NHRA sanctioned events at the regional level have also shown healthy increases through the first half of the '75 season with total attendance at all races expected to exceed five million this year. Attendance at 1974 races was 4,624,000.

In addition to the race track attendance, NHRA competition will reach another 125 million Americans this year through television coverage provided by ABC's "Wide World of Sports" and the Independent Television Network.

ABC televised the Winternationals early this year and owns the rights to the U.S. Nationals for the 12th consecutive year. ITN, which televised two NHRA events in 1974, has expanded its coverage to three races this year with an 80-station network covering 75 per cent of the U.S. market. ITN coverage began with the Gatornationals, will continue with the Summernationals and will conclude with the Winston World Finals, final event in the race for Winston World Championships in Top Fuel, Funny Car and Pro Stock.

Primitive Pocono bringing in the fans

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) — A lot of auto racetracks have tried to be another Indianpolis Motor Speedway.

Pocono International Raceway is starting to come closer than most.

Although still primitive by many standards, the spartan Pocono Mountains layout attracts a competitive field of Indianapolis-type cars for its 500-mile race, offers the biggest purse this side of Indianapolis, and—more importantly—is starting to bring in the fans.

A crowd of about 50,000 showed up for qualifying last Saturday for next Sunday's race. Another 15,000 to 20,000 were in the stands last Sunday for the anticlimactic final day of qualifying.

Dr. Joe Mattioli, a Philadelphia dentist who owns and runs the track with his family, was ecstatic after the weekend crowds which should help swell the $400,000 purse.

Indianapolis has drawn estimated crowds of 250,000 for qualifying, but the event is usually no draw at other race tracks. Ontario Motor Speedway, which has staged the third event of Indy-type racing's Triple Crown with Indianapolis and Pocono, managed only a handful for qualifying last March and not even 40,000 for what possibly was the last Indy car race there.

While the Ontario layout is in the Los Angeles metropolitan area, the nearest city of 100,000 or more to the Pocono track is about 80 miles.

"We draw a lot of people from the New York and Philadelphia area," Mattioli said. "There is a lot of interest in general in eastern Pennsylvania for auto racing."

POCONO, Pa. — Gordon Johncock, A.J. Foyt and Jerry Grant will be in the front row for Sunday's Pocono 500 Indy car race.

Grant, in the Spirit of Orange County, qualified at 181.865 mph. Johncock, making his first start in the pole position, qualified at 183.281 mph to Foyt's 182.778 mph. The first 10 rows were filled last Saturday and the final three starting sports were taken Sunday by Gary Bettenhausen, Bob Harkey and Tom Bigelow.

First baseman Bob Watson of the Houston Astros played with five minor league teams before he came up to the major leagues in 1969 as a full-time player.

Large crowds expected at Memorial Motocross

MOORPARK, CA. — The "Von Peterson Memorial Motocross," named in honor of a young racer from La Crescenta who died of injuries suffered in a high-speed motorcycle crash while leading this year's SCORE Baja International off-road contest, promises to produce one of the largest starting fields ever assembled in history of motocross competition on the West Coast this Sunday at Valley Cycle Park in Moorpark.

Ironically, the daylong program that gets under way at 8:30 a.m. will unfold on the same obstacle course — a 1½-mile European-style track — upon which the 17-year-old Peterson, who was ranked among top professional riders, had scored some of his most brilliant racing victories.

While having been previously slated as the final AME qualifying race for the Super Bowl of Motocross— an annual classic to be held July 18 and 19 at the L.A. Coliseum — Sunday's events at Valley Cycle Park will also (and now of more importance) serve to raise funds for the Peterson family . . .

With upwards of 500 riders expected to see action in the marathon, 50% of both the spectator net gate and riders entry fees will be contributed to young Peterson's family. And, in addition, a special merchandise raffle will kick a 100% payback into the fund.

Among valuable prizes already donated for the raffle — and many, many more are expected to arrive before Sunday — is a 1975 Suzuki RM-75 motorcycle from the Cole Bros. shop in North Hollywood; a $25 savings bond from Purr International of Encino; a $25 gift certificate from Horizons Unlimited of Woodland Hills, and five yearly subscriptions to So. California Motocross newspaper, which also will be paying for all ofthe trophies that will go to sportsmen riding divisions in the program.

With a $900 cash purse up for grabs among the three classes of pro riders, 125, 250 cc and open divisions, more than 100 of the go-fast boys are expected to join the large field of racers. And most of them will probably be assigning their overall winnings back to the Peterson family.

As a special added attraction to Valley Cycle Park's racing program on Sunday, members of the Old Timers' Motorcycle Assn. will be meeting a large turnout of riders from the Over-The-Hill-Gang crew — a group which was responsible for organizing and collecting awards for the raffle.

The most heart-rending fact about this whole show is that Von Peterson won't be sitting there behind the starting gate . . . He would have been sliding right up ther among the front runners . . .

And yet, would any of them have it otherwise? If they had the chance of competing one last time in THEIR sport? Well, that's something we can only attempt to guess . . .

Valley Cycle Park is reached by taking the Ventura Freeway to Highway 23 North (Fillmore Freeway), then turning off at Tierra Rejada Rd. offramp.

Football camp in Upland set

Bill Williams, defensive coordinator at the University of San Diego will be in charge of the five-day camp which will be held at Olivedale Park Monday through Friday, July 14 through 18.

Boys 9-14 are eligible for the non-resident camp. Cost will be $20.00 for the full five days.

For reservations, contact Jim Stidd (985-5273), Larry Jiminez (982-6606) or Darrel Schnell (982-4761).

Soccer clinic set

A semi private soccer clinic will be offered at Upland Junior High School in July. The clinic will be headed by Frits Rosenveldt, Chaffey College Soccer coach and ex-A.Y.S.O. Commissioner Region 32 and Bill Cheney, Upland High School Soccer Coach and their assistants.

Clinic dates are the weeks of July 7, July 14, July 21 and July 28 for one weeks duration, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Cost is $65 per clinic. Balls are supplied. Registration is currently being taken at the Upland Recreation office, 404 N. Second Ave., Upland. No more than 10 students per instructor is allowed. Children must be 7 years of age to participate. (Clinics are 5 days per week, Monday through Friday).

For further information contact the Upland Recreation Dept. at 982-1352 ext. 55/56.

Each of the 12 Sundays of racing at Delaware Park will feature a stake race in the meeting which runs until Aug. 10.

Southland racing

JOHNNY WONDER

"Listen to the mockingbird . . ." goes the song, and the mockingbird is, indeed, worth hearing.

The common mockingbird is an ashy-gray bird about the size of a robin.

While mockingbirds have a very delightful song of their own, most of their melodies are imitations of the songs of other birds they have heard.

Some mockingbirds have been known to mimic the songs of 30 or more birds. They may even improve on another other bird's song by adding notes of their own.

Sometimes the clever mockingbird will try to imitate other sounds — such as the barking of a dog or the whistle of a postman.

On warm nights, especially when the moon is full, he often sings all night.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Mexican rodeo

Tony Aguilar, Mexican rider and film star, will present his National Mexican Festival & Rodeo in the Los Angeles Sports Arena in five performances July 25-27.

Tickets are on sale at all agencies.

DANCING STARS — Tamara Kasnetsis and Arthur Widowski will dance leading roles in a recital by the Catherine Joyce Ballet of West Covina in the Padua Hills Theater, Claremont, at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. This is the first use of the former home of the Mexican Players since it closed last year because of financial difficulties. Others taking part will be Francine Stewart, Suzie Green, Jeannette Newman, Dede Soto and Andrea Riave.

Fodor to solo at Redlands

Harry Farbman, conductor of the Redlands Bowl Symphony, will welcome back a former pupil when violinist Eugene Fodor appears as soloist in a concert by the orchestra at the bowl at 8:15 p.m. July 8.

The young violinist is the only Western string player to win the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, taking those honors last year. In 1972 he won first prize in the Paganini Competition in Genoa, Italy.

At Redlands he will perform Paganini's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D Major, which he is scheduled to record in Europe this summer. Fodor records for RCA Records and appears as soloist with leading orchestras throughout the world.

Pomona chorus plans concert

The Pomona Community Chorus, directed by Ray Woods, will present a free concert at the Starlite Patio Theater, Montclair Civic Center, at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

This is one of the programs of the Starlite Patio Series offered free by the Montclair Recreation Department.

Also on the program will be the Montclair Recreation Folk Dancers, an adult group headed by Rose and Harve Edwards. They will present native dances of Mexico, Russia, Israel, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

The Pomona chorus was formed in 1972 under the sponsorhip of the Pomona schools' Adult Education Department. It has performed widely throughout the valley and appeared at nuermous chorale festivals. It was recently host to five visiting choruses in a concert in Ontario directed by guest conductor Roger Wagner.

'Hawaii' to sing at Citrus

The 31-voice Sounds of Young Hawaii will join the Citrus College Singers in the concert, "Salute to America," in the Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

The Hawaiian singing group is directed by Shigeru Hotoke, chairman of the Fine Arts Department at Kailua High School in Honolulu. The singers left Hawaii June 10, to begin a 60-day world tour, and will appear in Mexico and Canada before performing at Citrus.

In 1970, Citrus students performed in Hawaii, and were guests in the homes of the Hawaiian singers. The Hawaiian visitors will arrive here Thursday and will be guests in the homes of Citrus College students.

MAC DAVIS, pop and country music singer, will open the season at the Universal Amphitheater, Los Angeles, July 7-13. On the program will be Captain & Tennille. Davis has been named Entertainer of the Year by the Academy of Country Music.

A Sense of Urgency.

Seven months ago, we set out to discover what you, the public, think about the future of Public Transportation in this country. Now, 35,000 ideas later, you have made some points abundantly clear.

1. The automobile will always be an integral part of American life. But the auto can't do it by itself.

"The automobile is an integral part of the American culture and a change in the transportation system involves fundamental cultural change. But cultures do not change easily. The emotional attachment that Americans have to their automobile is basically irrational, and any rational and logical proposal for changes in the transportation system that opposes the private automobile as a cultural artifact, is likely to be met with disapproval."
– Dr. John H. Pfaum, College Park, Md.

"The automobile today is no longer a luxury for most people. The days of walking to the neighborhood factory are over as most people commute several miles to and from work. Also, under today's economy, a Sunday afternoon ride has become for many, the cheapest (even with today's gasoline prices) form of recreation. With that in mind, it would seem the only form of public transportation that will succeed is one that combines the use of the car with public transit as an attractive package."
– Ronald G. Guest, Marlboro, Mass.

2. If officials had to ride present public transit systems, change would come more quickly.

"I think they need executives who have had to travel public transportation to find out how the public are treated going back and forth to work."
– Helen Seltner, Philadelphia, Pa.

"I do feel that if the transport company had a little more feeling for the riding public, they would gain more riders."
– Mrs. Inga C. Mount, Cheltenham, Pa.

"Educate people who operate busses, trolleys, and trains to know the locale in which they run so they can be of more assistance to the people who use public transportation."
– Rose M. Wissinger, Philadelphia, Pa.

"I think people that ride public transportation should be on a planning board. They know the situation first hand."
– L. A. Wittke, Chicago, Ill.

"You have to experience the ride, wait, cost, along with the delays, snafus, and all related matters to really become interested and try to be a part of the solution."
– T. J. Galus, Park Ridge, Ill.

3. New technology is not the only solution. Finance, education, and salesmanship are all needed.

"The area most fertile for creative thought appears to be in the area of finance of transportation projects and legislation relating to system use."
– R. J. Trunek, Houston, Texas.

"People have to realize that they can and must share in the solution of this community problem by becoming informed and concerned in this highly important issue."
– Joe Duval, Los Angeles, Calif.

"Now is the time to begin the long-range plan of re-education. To change the habits of every American from a private passenger car to public transit will require extensive re-education. We must begin to realize the reasons behind the problems rather than attempt to blame someone after the fact."
– Margaret E. Klump, San Diego, Calif.

4. Most of all, action by the people in every city in the nation is needed – now.

"You cannot have an idea on public transportation, or several all-encompassing ones, that apply to all locations. Each and every city in the U.S. and perhaps the whole world has its own unique problem which requires its own unique solution."
– Dennis J. Torraco, Denver, Colorado.

"If the people want our country to remain for the people and by the people, they should do some serious thinking and express their feeling, by letter to the capitol of our country and our state."
– Eileen Gay Creech, Los Angeles, Calif.

"There is no shortage of ideas on public transit. But there is an enormous dearth of leadership to bring the ideas to test and implementation."
– Leroy J. Louchart, Fair Oaks, Calif.

"Too often government 'experts' refuse to listen to the average American where, as this country's history has proven, most of the good ideas come from."
– Ronald G. Guest, Marlboro, Mass.

"After having a car for over forty years, I am selling it and will depend on Public Transportation. I know of nothing else to do to conserve energy and fight inflation. I am sorry I have no original ideas except that I intend to make my vote count, starting now."
– Julius B. Mintz, New York, N.Y.

"We need the answers and solutions NOW."
– Douglas Deluchi, Oakland, Calif.

Right now, a number of Federal, State and City governments, including some of the largest and smallest, are studying some of the ideas you have suggested.

We have collected many of your ideas into a series of booklets, the first of which has just come off the presses. To get a copy for your group, or for yourself, please write to:

Business briefs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — BP Oil Inc. says an equipment breakdown at its refinery in suburban Marcus Hook has forced the company to cut gasoline deliveries to its 2,300 East Coast dealers by more than half.

Stations are receiving 60 per cent of their federally required allocation, compared to the 130 per cent that they had been getting, a spokesman said Tuesday.

The spokesman said the problem developed in a new catalytic reformer gasoline pricessing unit. He said the company has asked the Federal Energy Administration to authorize use of emergency inventories until the unit is back in operation in about two weeks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dealing the Justice Department's antitrust division another setback, the Supreme Court has okayed the acquisition of several suburban Atlanta banks by Citizens & Southern National Bank, the biggest in Atlanta.

The Justice Department had attacked the acquisition as a violation of the Clayton antitrust act.

The high court found that acquisition of three suburban banks, in which Citizens and Southern had a partial interest, was protected by the Bank Holding Company Act. Regarding the other banks, the court said Citizen's strategy was actually procompetitive because it sought to overcome Georgia's then-strict branch banking laws.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The federal government currently spends about $2.2 billion annually to oversee American business firms, says a former top-ranking federal official.

Frederick V. Malek, former deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, told a symposium here Monday that excessive government regulations have inflicted a heavy loss in business efficiency in the private sector.

"Certaintly we need some regulations and some protection, but we need to weigh the impact more carefully," said Malek, now a senior vice president at the Marriott Corp.

"We've got more government than we need, more government than we want, and more government than most peiple want to pay for," he added.

On the 17th day of July, 1975, at 11:00 A.M., at East Entrance to the Hall of Justice in the City of Los Angeles, California, THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, National Association, as Trustee under Deed of Trust dated August 29, 1969, executed by ARNOLD S. BENDET AND IRMA D. BENDET, Husband and Wife as Joint Tenants and recorded on October 22, 1969, in Book T6398, Page 258, of Official Records of Said County of Los Angeles, California, given to secure an indebtedness in favor of THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA, National Association (Trust No. 80015) by reason of the breach of certain obligations secured thereby, notice of which was recorded on March 14, 1975 in Book M4942, Page 847, of Official Records of said Los Angeles County, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, payable in lawful money of the United States, at time of sale, without covenant or warranty, express or implied, as to title, possession or encumbrances, the interest conveyed to and now held by the said Trustee under said Deed of Trust, in and to the following described property, situated in the Said County of Los Angeles, State of California, to-wit:

PARCEL 1: Lot 154, of Tract No. 30091, as per Map recorded in Book 788, Pages 51 to 75, inclusive, of Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said County.

PARCEL 2: A non-exclusive easement to be used in common with others for ingress, egress, and public utility purposes over all those areas shown upon the Map of said Tract No. 30091, as "Private Streets" and over all those areas shown upon the Map of Tract No. 30578, as per Map recorded in Book 785, Pages 1 to 25, inclusive, and Tract No. 30289, as per Map recorded in Book 743, Pages 42 to 50, inclusive, of Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said County, as "Private Streets". EXCEPTING THEREFROM any portion thereof which falls within the lines of Parcel 1 above described.

For the purpose of paying obligations secured by said Deed of Trust, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee, advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust and interest thereon, and $7,289.49 in unpaid principal of the note secured by said Deed of Trust, with interest to the date of sale.

Dated June 17, 1975.

New Ra-30.
Wards radially-tuned shocks.

$2 off. 10.88 EACH REG. 12.99

Radials aren't regular tires, and Ra-30 isn't an ordinary shock. Designed specifically for cars with radial tires, it's even great for cars without radials. Helps end wander and sway. Gives "road-hugging" control. For most cars.
